Film and Fairy Tales Kristian Moen, 2013-05-07 Far from a realm of pure fantasy helping people to escape harsh realities fairy tales and the films that rooted themselves in their tropes and traditions played an integral role in formulating and expressing the anxieties of modernity as well as its potential for radical magical transformation In Film and Fairy Tales Kristian Moen examines the role played by fairy tales in shaping cinema its culture and its discourse during its most formative years Well established by the feerie of the nineteenth century as popular entertainment and visual spectacle the wonders of mutability offered by fairy tale fantasies in the early films of Melies situated cinema itself as a realm of enchantment rife with enthralling and disturbing possibilities Through an analysis of early film theorists and a detailed case study of Tourneur s 1918 film The Blue Bird Moen shows how the spectacles and tropes of the fairy tale continued to shape ideas of cinema s place in modern life Stars like Mary Pickford and Marguerite Clark who not only played fantasy roles but presented their off screen personae in deliberately fantastic terms and the transformative claims of modernity expressed through visions such as Orientalist fairylands are analysed to show the extent to which fairy tales were used to negotiate different experiences of modernity the giddy adventures of social mobility consumer culture and identity transformation the threats and anxieties of cultural change impermanence and mutability Moen traces the evolution of the fairy tale in film to its self aestheticising peak in Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs alongside ironic allusions in films like Hitchcock's Rebecca and Howard Hawks' Ball of Fire concluding with an examination of how fairy tale visions of fantastic transformation have seen a resurgence in contemporary cinema from Tim Burton to Harry Potter In the process he shows how cinema made fairy tales modern and fairy tales helped make cinema what it is today Cinderella Across Cultures Martine Hennard Dutheil de la Rochère, Gillian Lathey, Monika Wozniak, 2016-06-01 Readers interested in the visual arts in translation studies or in popular culture as well as a wider audience wishing to discover the tale anew will delight in this collection Writing the Short Film Patricia Cooper, Ken Dancyger, 2012-09-10 The short film is a unique narrative art form that while lending itself to experimentation requires tremendous discipline in following traditional filmic considerations This book takes the student and novice screenwriter through the storytelling process from conception to visualization to dramatization to characterization and dialogue and teaches them how to create a dramatic narrative that is at once short approximately half an hour in length and complete Exercises new examples of short screenplays and an examination of various genres round out the discussion NEW TO THE THIRD EDITION new screenplays a chapter on rewriting your script and a chapter on the future of short films
