Setting Limits Fairly Norman Daniels, James Sabin, 2002-02-14 The central idea for this book is that we lack consensus on principles for allocating resources and in the absence of such a consensus we must rely on a fair decision making process for setting limits on health care The authors characterize key elements of this process in a variety of health care contexts where such decisions are made decisions about insurance coverage for new technologies pharmacy benefit management the design of physician incentives contracting for mental health care by public agencies etc and they connect the problem in the U S with the same problem in other countries They provide a cogent analysis of the current situation lucidly review the usual candidate solutions and describe their own approach which represents a clear advance in thinking Their intended audience is international since the problem of limits cuts across types of health care systems whether or not they have universal coverage     The Air Force Law Review ,1991
