The Last Inheritor:

The Inheritor Théâtre de l'Aquarium, 2024-11-15 The first English language translation of the 1968 activist play about inequality and access to education In The Inheritor surrealist imagery and experimental forms convey the radically different experience of two students the Inheritor and the Non Inheritor as they prepare for a high stakes exam Revealing a world of privilege where there is no such thing as luck the play features a beheaded knight a talking record player and a boisterous chorus of professors depicted as a flock of squawking birds Based on sociologists Pierre Bourdieu and Jean Claude Passeron's The Inheritors French Students and Their Relations to Culture the play was collectively created by Théâtre de l'Aquarium a company then composed entirely of students It proved a powerful success when it premiered in May 1968 amid student and worker protests in Paris and it continues to speak forcefully to education inequity on campuses across anglophone countries today

The Principles of the Hindu Law of Inheritance ... Rajkumar Sarvadhikari, 1882 The New Inheritors Madeleine Mattarozzi Laming, 2012-12-20 This groundbreaking book examines why the majority of Australian school leavers want to go to university and have resisted government attempts to promote alternative forms of tertiary education The New Inheritors explores differences in young people's understanding of the purpose of university and their reasons for wanting to enrol The book reveals that although there has been a general shift in values towards the utilitarian perspective there is still significant support for the traditional liberal idea of university education as a cultural experience This support is concentrated in well educated families regardless of their financial resources but there is a substantial number of young people from less well educated families who have absorbed the liberal perspective The book begins with an extensive and unique overview of changes in Australian federal government tertiary education policy and changes in the public discourse on education This overview provides a framework against which differences among today's students are examined in detail Drawing on a study of over 200 secondary school students from diverse backgrounds The New Inheritors records their attitudes to university including access fees and the role of government and explores how these are formed by their family backgrounds and influenced by public policy on education The New Inheritors uncovers the complexity of young people's attitudes and what processes occur in the forming and reforming of those attitudes to university and what young people really want from university education Dr Madeleine Mattarozzi Laming is a Lecturer in Education at Australian Catholic University She has given numerous conference papers on transition from school to university and teaching students from diverse backgrounds

In 2011 she received an Australian Learning and Teaching Council Citation for an outstanding contribution to student learning particularly at the first year
