The engineer's powers and the duties of his resident engineer on the site of construction are considered in detail. Records filing systems, programme and progress charts used by the resident engineer are illustrated and advice is given on the handling of safety problems and difficult situations on site. Problems of measurement and billing of quantities according to the civil engineering standard method are described. Correct procedures for setting rates for varied work, payment for method-related items and handling claims for unforeseen conditions under ICE Clause 12 are given. Difficulties with delay claims and situations where the contractor submits quotations before undertaking varied work are discussed. The approach is essentially practical throughout and covers many actual problems met on site, including measures that are advisable in relation to site surveys and investigations, construction of earthworks and pipelines and the production and placing of concrete. Aid to Survey Practice for Reference in Surveying, Levelling, and Setting Out Lewis D'Aguilar Jackson, 1880 A catalogue of works in all departments of English literature Longmans, Green and Co, 1848 Field Archaeology Peter Drewett, 2011-02-09 Peter Drewett's comprehensive survey explores every stage of the dig process from the core work of discovery and excavation to
