Making Humanities and Social Sciences Come Alive Deborah Green, Deborah Price, 2019-02-14 Prepares readers to become high quality humanities and social sciences educators for early childhood and primary contexts Weaving Narrative Nets to Capture Classrooms D. Geelan, 2007-09-29 If you're the kind of reader who usually skips the Preface I am, you can certainly do that. It's probably valuable though for me to spend a little time describing the structure of this book to orient you to the way the argument unfolds. My intention was to try to find the best possible blend of theory and practice. I believe there are plenty of excellent books describing the theoretical underpinnings of qualitative research in education: Denzin (1998), Guba & Lincoln (2000), Wolcott (1973). There are fewer books that focus on describing in detail how to conduct these studies: Anderson & Kerr (1990), Van Manen (1990), Wolcott (1990) for an audience that is not already familiar with both the methods and the philosophical commitments that underpin qualitative research. This book is intended to do all of these things to some extent or to refer you to other authors who I think do them well, but its original contribution is in using as a concrete example a particular research study that I completed. This allows me to reflect on the processes and practices and particularly the choices involved in qualitative classroom research and to illustrate those reflections in a very practical way. SOSE Alive Denis Young, Maggy Saldais, 2002. YEARS 7-8 The SOSE Worksheets for Multiple Intelligences are targeted at middle years students studying Society and Environment. These 55 photocopiable worksheets have a particular focus on the key learning area for SOSE Level 5 Curriculum and Standards Framework II. Water Katie Meehan, Naho Mirumachi, Alex Loftus, Majed Akhter, 2023-02-13 Discover the hydrosocial cycle and the impact of power, knowledge and scarcity on water rights and use through this engaging and student-friendly textbook. In Water: A Critical Introduction, a team of distinguished researchers delivers an expert examination of our most pressing water-related challenges, arguing that flows of water are shaped by social practices and geometries of power. Combining first-hand research and headline case studies, the authors reveal the hydrosocial relations often hidden in mainstream accounts of water, delving into current issues like water scarcity, floods, global water governance, legal conflicts, human rights, potable water provision, health, the water-food-energy nexus and much more. Spanning five centuries, this comprehensive volume reflects on how imperial expansion has shaped hydrosocial relations in and between Europe, Asia, Africa and the Americas; how water demand has changed over time and how this change impacted lifestyle. As the first major text to synthesize critical water research in both local and global perspectives, this book is anchored by clear and compelling arguments, the four planks and supported by the authors original research and up to date synthesis of the latest critical research on major water problems It also includes maps illustrations and additional learning materials to be used by educators Readers will find A lively and thorough introduction that explains why a critical approach is necessary to fully understand our current water challenges with a focus on the skeptical superhero A global approach to key debates in water issues including large dams privatization transboundary conflicts agriculture and irrigation water and sanitation provision human rights governance dilemmas and the Sustainable Development Goals Comprehensive explorations of the roles played by expert knowledge global capital climate change and justice struggles in the hydrosocial cycle Critical theoretical perspectives that integrate environmental social sciences feminist critique and a broadly defined political economy with the specificities of water resources Fulsome treatments of water governance science and management including the origins and implications of neoliberal approaches to the privatization commodification and financialization of water An accessible text that invites the reader on a critical journey Water A Critical Introduction is a key text for advanced high school undergraduate and graduate students who want a keener understanding of trends in environmental management political ecology and water governance science and engineering Written with an interdisciplinary audience in mind this book will benefit students taking courses in environmental studies environmental law geopolitics international studies human geography hydrology engineering environmental economics and related disciplines
