Objects, Commodities and Material Cultures in the Dutch Republic Judith Noorman, Feike Dietz, 2025-10-01 How did objects move between places and people and how did they reshape the Republic's arts cultures and sciences Objects were vitally significant for the early modern Dutch Republic which is known as an early consumer society a place famous for its exhaustive production of books visual arts and scientific instruments What happens when we push these objects and their materiality to the centre of our research How do they invite us to develop new perspectives on the early modern Dutch Republic And how do they contest the boundaries of the academic disciplines that have traditionally organized our scholarship In Objects Commodities and Material Cultures the interdisciplinary community of specialists around the Amsterdam Centre for the Study of Early Modernity innovatively explores the diverse early modern world of objects Its contributors take a single object or commodity as a point of departure to study and discuss various aspects of early modern art culture and history from natural objects to consumer goods from knowledge instruments to artistic materials The volume aims to unravel how objects have moved through regions cultures and ages and how objects impacted people who lived and worked in the Dutch Republic

Indigo in the Arab World Jenny Balfour-Paul, 1997 The role indigo has played elsewhere has been fairly well documented but in the case of the Arab world little or no thorough investigation has been previously undertaken Sets out to provide comprehensive coverage of the subject from its earliest history to the present day

India and the Silk Roads Jagjeet Lally, 2022-05-01 This book brings to life the world of caravan trade constituting not only merchants but also pilgrims pastoralists and mercenaries flows not only of goods credit and money but also of ideas secret intelligence and fighting power Contrary to the view that the ages of sail and steam rendered obsolete these more archaic forms of overland connectivity Jagjeet Lally demonstrates how the annual transhumance between North India and the Central Asian steppe was critical to the production and exercise of political power into the nineteenth century Central to this narrative is the waning of the Mughal Empire and the emergence in the mid eighteenth century of a new Afghan kingdom whose leaders drew their power from the financial flows and force of arms moving through the networks of caravan trade and who thus patronised the continued traffic between India and inland Eurasia India and the Silk Roads is a global history of a continental interior the first to comprehensively examine the textual and material traces of caravan trade in the age of empires Lally tells a story resonating with our own times as China's Belt and Road Initiative once again transforms life across Eurasia

Madder Red Robert

Chenciner,2003-09-02 Madder red is an ancient dyestuff extracted from the root of the madder plant growing in many countries around the world The secret and devilishly complex Oriental dyeing process to obtain the lustrous colour known as Turkey Red was avidly sought by Europeans from the time before the fall of Ancient Rome It was finally cracked by the French about 1760 who were able to dye wool silk and cotton bright red After the lowlands of the Caspian Caucasus had been subdued by the Russians in the early 1800s madder was cultivated there and rapidly became the main crop The quest for Turkey Red went hand in hand with an avalanche of scientific research which not only improved the yield of dyestuff from the roots but led to its chemical synthesis and in 1870 the collapse of the world wide madder industry Many of the nascent dye companies grew into chemical giants of our time Further regional and cultural background may be found in Chenciner s Daghestan Tradition and Survival also published in the Caucasus World series
