Sumptuous Memories:

The Monument's End Marisa Anne Bass, 2024-10-15 An examination of monument making in the Dutch Republic during the early modern period during which this form first manifested and flourished Sumptuous Memories Frits Scholten, 2003 Although the conditions for a flourishing art of sculpture in the Netherlands received a serious setback after the Iconoclasm and the Reformation around 100 sculpted sepulchral monuments were nevertheless erected in the 17th century ranging from simple memorials to completely free standing tombs Behind these remarkable works of art lies a world of prominent patrons and first class sculptors of major financial investments and costly materials of status and personal sorrow The patronage of this funerary sculpture is the thread running through this book the first detailed study of 17th century Dutch sculpture for more than 50 years Who ordered these monuments and why Who were the artists involved and how did they organise their work What were the functions and meanings of this sepulchral sculpture What were the costs involved in erecting the tombs and how were they viewed by the 17th century public These and other questions are examined from various different angles BOOK JACKET The Wake of Iconoclasm Angela Vanhaelen, 2012 Explores the relationship between art and religion after the iconoclasm of the Dutch Reformation Reassesses Dutch realism and its pictorial strategies in relation to the religious and political diversity of the Dutch cities Provided by publisher Vow Wendy Plump, 2014-01-02 Disarmingly honest beautifully insightful Crack open Vow and prepare to be quickly carried away by Plump's vivid prose so close you can hear its voice and suspenseful storytelling skills Redbook magazine Amsterdam's Atlantic Michiel van Groesen, 2017 In 1624 the Dutch West India Company established the colony of Brazil Only thirty years later the Dutch Republic handed over the colony to Portugal never to return to the South Atlantic Because Dutch Brazil was the first sustained Protestant colony in Iberian America the events there became major news in early modern Europe and shaped a lively print culture In Amsterdam's Atlantic historian Michiel van Groesen shows how the rise and tumultuous fall of Dutch Brazil marked the emergence of a public Atlantic centered around Holland's capital city Amsterdam served as Europe's main hub for news from the Atlantic world and breaking reports out of Brazil generated great excitement in the city which reverberated throughout the continent Initially the flow of information was successfully managed by the directors of the West India Company However when Portuguese sugar planters revolted against the Dutch regime and tales of corruption among leading administrators in Brazil emerged they lost their hold on the media landscape and reports traveled more freely Fueled by the powerful local print media popular discussions about Brazil became so bitter that the Amsterdam authorities ultimately withdrew their support for the colony The self-inflicted demise of Dutch Brazil has been regarded as an anomaly during an otherwise remarkably liberal period in Dutch history and consequently generations of historians have neglected its significance Amsterdam's Atlantic puts Dutch Brazil back on the front pages and argues that the way the Amsterdam media constructed Atlantic events was a key element in the transformation of public opinion in Europe Justifying Transgression Gijs Kruijtz, 2023-11-20

How do people justify what others see as transgression Taking that question to the Persian Muslim and Latin Christian worlds over the period 1200 to 1700 this book shows that people in both these worlds invested considerable energy in worrying debating and writing about proscribed practices It compares how people in the two worlds came to terms with the proscriptions of sodomy idolatry and usury When historians speak of the gap between premodern practice and the legal theory of the time they tend to ignore the myriad of justifications that filled this gap Moreover a focus on justification evens out many of the contrasts that have been alleged to exist between the two worlds or the Muslim and Christian worlds more generally The similarities outweigh the differences in the ways people came to terms with the various rules of divine law The level of flexibility of the theologians and jurists in charge of divine law varied more over time and by topic than between the two worlds Both worlds also saw the development of ever more sophisticated justifications Amid the increasing complexity of justifications a particular kind of reasoning emerged that good outcomes are more important than upholding rules for their own sake

Tomb - Memory - Space Francine Giese, Anna Pawlak, Markus Thome, 2018-06-25 From an intercultural perspective this book focuses on aesthetic strategies and forms of representation in premodern Christian and Islamic sepulchral art Seeing the tomb as an interface for eschatological political and artistic debate the contributions analyze the diversity of memorial space configurations The subjects range from the complex interaction between architecture and tomb topography through to questions relating to the funereal expression of power and identity and to practices of ritual realization in the context of individual and collective memory

Memory Wars in the Low Countries, 1566-1700 Jasper van der Steen, 2015-07-28 The Revolt in the Netherlands erupted in 1566 and tore apart the Low Countries In Memory Wars in the Low Countries 1566 1700 Jasper van der Steen explains how public memories of the Revolt in the Habsburg Netherlands in the South and the Dutch Republic in the North diverged and became the objects of fierce contestation in domestic political struggles on both sides of the border and throughout the seventeenth century Against widespread assumptions about the supposed modernity of cultural memory Memory Wars argues that early modern public memory did not require the presence of state actors nationalism and modern mass media in order to play a role of political importance in both North and South
