The Heart Of The Pearl Shell The Mythological Dimension Of Foi Sociality:

The Heart of the Pearl Shell James F. Weiner, 2023-11-15 For the Foi people who live on the edge of the central highlands of Papua New Guinea the flow of pearl shells is the heart of their social life The pearl shell is the exchange item that mediates the creation of their most important sexual and social roles The Heart of the Pearl Shell analyzes a number of myths of the Foi people elegantly bringing together significant ethnographic materials in a way that has important implications for the development of social theory in anthropology and in Melanesian studies Scholars of semiotic symbolic anthropology and of comparative religion will also share the author's interest in the meaning and role of mythology in Foi culture Instead of relying on orthodox methods of Freudian or structuralist interpretation James Weiner assumes there is a dialectical relationship between the images of Foi myth and the images of the Foi's social world He demonstrates how each set of these images is dependent upon the other for its creation This innovative study locates Foi social meaning in the re-creation and attempted solution of the moral dilemmas that are crystallized in mythology and other poetic usages This title is part of UC Press's Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press's mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1988 The Heart of the Pearl Shell, 1988 Dealing with Inequality Marilyn Strathern, 1987-12-10 This 1987 volume comprises ten essays by anthropologists who interrogate the nature of social inequality between the sexes in societies mostly in Melanesia Emplaced Myth Alan Rumsey, James F. Weiner, 2001-01-01 Australia and Papua New Guinea share a number of important social cultural and historical features making a sustained comparison between the two especially productive This situates the ethnography of the two areas within a comparative framework and examines the relationship between indigenous systems of knowledge and place an issue of growing concern to anthropologists The essays demonstrate the manner in which regimes of restricted knowledge serve to protect and augment cultural property and the proprietorship over sites and territory how myths evolve to explain and culturally appropriate important events pertaining to contact between indigenous and Western societies how graphic designs and other culturally important iconic and iconographic processes provide conduits of cross cultural appropriation between indigenous and non indigenous societies in today's multicultural nation states The Lost Drum James F. Weiner, 1995 A fascinating sophisticated anthropological psychoanalytic consideration of certain Papuan myths that deal with lost or detached objects which although destined to complete the missing parts of persons instead elude their control or incorporate the whole person rather than being reincorporated themselves Like sexual organs they have their own embarrassing powers of extensibility intrude themselves into people's desire swallow other objects organs persons and discourses Introduction Paper edition unseen 19 95 Annotation copyright by Book News Inc Portland OR Ku Waru Francesca Merlan, Alan Rumsey, 1991-03-29

The highlanders of New Guinea are renowned for their elaborate systems of ceremonial exchange. Although much has been written about them, previous accounts have concentrated far less on the conduct of exchange events than on the structure of exchange systems. This 1991 book deals centrally with the conduct of particular exchange events and shows through examination of them how larger social structures are reproduced and transformed. As part of the emphasis on exchange as social action, the book closely examines the oratory that plays a crucial part in the events. Basing their study on original fieldwork carried out in the Nebilyer Valley, Francesca Merlan and Alan Rumsey focus on an interrelated set of large-scale compensation payments which arose out of an episode of warfare. This book furthers our understanding of the interaction between social structures and historical events and particularly of the crucial role of talk. It will be of special interest to anthropologists and linguists. Masculinity, Motherhood, and Mockery Eric Kline Silverman, 2001. An important ethnographic analysis of motherhood in one Melanesian society. The Archaeology of People Alisdair Whittle, 2003-09-02. Alisdair Whittle's new work argues powerfully for the complexity and fluidity of life in the Neolithic through a combination of archaeological and anthropological case studies and current theoretical debate. The book ranges from the sixth to the fourth millennium BC and from the Great Hungarian Plain, central and western Europe, and the Alpine foreland to parts of southern Britain. Familiar terms such as individuals, agency, identity, and structure are dealt with, but Professor Whittle emphasises that they are too abstract to be truly useful. Instead, he highlights the multiple dimensions which constituted Neolithic existence: the web of daily routines, group and individual identities, relations with animals, and active but varied attitudes to the past. The result is a vivid, original, and perceptive understanding of the early Neolithic which will offer insights to readers at every level.

From Primitive to Postcolonial in Melanesia and Anthropology Bruce Knauft, 2025-10-01. What have anthropologists taught us about Melanesia, one of anthropology's most important and intensively studied world regions? In this book, Professor Bruce Knauft draws together and critically reanalyzes what we know about major features of Melanesian cultural history: warfare and politics, gender, bodily practices, and spirituality, as discerned from more than a century of academic study. From Primitive to Postcolonial in Melanesia and Anthropology is arguably the most comprehensive single reassessment of Melanesia as an ethnographic world area to have been published in several decades. Written for students as well as professional scholars, this work further broadens our understanding by analyzing the history of Melanesian ethnography and relating this history to the larger relationship between Melanesia as a contemporary world area and anthropology as a field of contemporary human study. Bruce M. Knauft is Professor of Anthropology, Emory University, and the author of three previous books, as well as some thirty journal articles and chapters. Knauft's interests span a wide range of issues in the anthropology of Melanesia, and he is articulate with general issues of cultural theory and anthropological history. Civil Sociality Sally Anderson, 2008-04-01. Sally Anderson's book on sport, cultural policy, and civil sociality in Denmark has been a long time in coming, but it's well worth the wait. Based on many years of familiarity with Danish society and countless hours of intensive fieldwork Dr Anderson provides us with a unique anthropological perspective on the process by which state cultural policy actively engages civil society in a quest to shape social relations in the public sphere The particular domain of policy and social activity is nonschool voluntary sport in its various forms By definition of course such activity takes place outside the regular Danish school curriculum but it is not for this reason any less educational Indeed although it is very broadly attended and institutionalized perhaps because Danish after school sport is not compulsory it is all the more compelling for children and youth and therefore more powerful in certain ways Indeed Dr Anderson has a signal talent for showing us how afterschool sport in Denmark both transmits and produces social knowledge and powerfully shapes social relations

Saltwater Sociality Katharina Schneider, 2012 The inhabitants of Pororan Island a small group of saltwater people in Papua New Guinea are intensely interested in the movements of persons across the island and across the sea both in their everyday lives as fishing people and on ritual occasions From their observations of human movements they take their cues about the current state of social relations Based on detailed ethnography this study engages current Melanesian anthropological theory and argues that movements are the Pororans predominant mode of objectifying relations Movements on Pororan Island are to its inhabitants what roads are to mainlanders on the nearby larger island and what material objects and images are to others elsewhere in Melanesia Companion Encyclopedia of Anthropology Tim Ingold, 2002 New in paperback this Companion provides a unique survey of contemporary thinking in biological social and cultural anthropology A prestigious editor leads an international team of acknowledged experts in each field Companion Encyclopaedia of Anthropology Tim Ingold, 2021-12-24 This comprehensive survey of contemporary thought in biological social and cultural anthropology sets the foundation for their future development and integration The principal rationale behind the Encyclopedia is to overcome the division and fragmentation within the approaches of the humanities and natural sciences to anthropology It emphasizes interconnections between perspectives and sub disciplines producing a complete perspective on what it means to be human The work consists of three parts Humanity Culture and Social Life and 40 major contributions Part One emphasizes human beings as members of a species how that species differs from others how it has evolved and how human populations have adapted to and in turn transformed their environments Part Two deals with the origin and structure of human culture and on the role of culture in action perception and cognition Part Three examines the various aspects of the relationships and processes that are carried on by persons and groups in the course of social life Useful features such as cross references within the text full biographical references suggestions for further reading and carefully illustrated line drawings make this an indispensable resource for all students of anthropology or sociology The SAGE Handbook of Social Anthropology Richard Fardon, Oliva Harris, Trevor H J Marchand, Cris Shore, Veronica Strang, Richard Wilson, Mark Nuttall, 2012-07-25 In two volumes the SAGE Handbook of Social Anthropology provides the definitive overview of contemporary research in the discipline It explains the what where and how of current and anticipated work in Social

Anthropology With 80 authors contributing more than 60 chapters this is the most comprehensive and up to date statement of research in Social Anthropology available and the essential point of departure for future projects The Handbook is divided into four sections Part I Interfaces examines Social Anthropology's disciplinary connections from Art and Literature to Politics and Economics from Linguistics to Biomedicine from History to Media Studies Part II Places examines place region culture and history from regional area studies to a globalized world Part III Methods examines issues of method from archives to war zones from development projects to art objects and from ethics to comparison Part IV Futures anticipates anthropologies to come in the Brain Sciences in post Development in the Body and Health and in new Technologies and Materialities Edited by the leading figures in social anthropology the Handbook includes a substantive introduction by Richard Fardon a think piece by Jean and John Comaroff and a concluding last word on futures by Marilyn Strathern The authors each at the leading edge of the discipline contribute in depth chapters on both the foundational ideas and the latest research Comprehensive and detailed this magisterial Handbook overviews the last 25 years of the social anthropological imagination It will speak to scholars in Social Anthropology and its many related disciplines

Mountain Papuans James F. Weiner, 1988 Studies the Daribi Foi and Etoro societies of the southern New Guinea Fringe Highlands

Ancestral Presence Eric Hirsch, 2020-12-28 Ancestral Presence tells a history that has more than one history in it while also telling the story of the relation between worlds For the Fuyuge people of the Papuan highlands the past is not history in a conventional sense For them the world and its history derive from a creator force called Tidibe which is central to Fuyuge cosmology the Fuyuge are at the centre of the world But Fuyuge people are part of another history too they have experienced decades of mission and government influence from centres of power located elsewhere to which their mountain home is marginal and remote Through a detailed exploration of Fuyuge myth changes to ritual life and cosmology Eric Hirsch weaves an account of the relationship between these two histories He documents the real changes wrought by colonialism government and Christianity from the late nineteenth century to the turn of the millennium Yet this is not a story of continuity and change Hirsch demonstrates how transformation was always central to Fuyuge life changes brought by missionaries and government were processes they themselves initiated in the ancestral past through Tidibe the cosmological creator force Engaging in debates that have been pivotal to Melanesian anthropology the book presents an ethnographically rich account of a distinctive world cosmology and ideas of historical change It also raises questions regarding assumptions central to Western History its worldview and ideas of historical time

Creative Land James Leach, 2004-08-01 What is creative in kinship How are people connected to places James Leach answers these questions through formulating creativity as an integral part of kinship on the north coast of Papua New Guinea The book contains a new critique of the genealogical model of kinship suggesting that this model prevents us from grasping the way generative relations including those to land and place constitute persons on the Rai Coast Analytic attention is focused upon the life cycle marriage exchange and artistic production as the activities in which substantial connection is generated The argument made in relation to detailed ethnography yields a fresh perspective on the connections people trace to each other Sociality Nicholas J.

Long, Henrietta L. Moore, 2013 The notion of sociality is now widely used within the social sciences and humanities However what is meant by the term varies radically and the contributors here through compelling and wide ranging essays identify the strengths and weaknesses of current definitions and their deployment in the social sciences By developing their own rigorous and innovative theory of human sociality they re set the framework of the debate and open up new possibilities for conceptualizing other forms of sociality such as that of animals or materials Cases from Asia Africa the Americas and Europe explore the new directions of human sociality illuminating how and why it is transformed when human beings engage with such major issues as economic downturn climate change new regimes of occupational and psychological therapy technological innovations in robotics and the creation of new online virtual environments This book is an invaluable resource not only for research and teaching but for anyone interested in the question of what makes us social Places of Special

Virtue Alasdair Whittle, 2017-02-20 This volume explores the landscape settings of megalithic chambered monuments in Wales Set against a broader theoretical discussion on the significance of the landscape the authors consider the role of visual landscapes in prehistory meanings attached to the landscape and the values and beliefs invested in it Wales is rich in Neolithic monuments but the general absence of certain classic monumental forms found in the rest of Britain and Ireland such as causewayed enclosures henges and cursus monuments seems to have marginalized the Welsh record from many wider discussions on the Neolithic Instead of seeing Wales as an area which lacks many of these classic components Cummings and Whittle argue that Wales has its own unique and individual Neolithic which is simply different from the Neolithic found further to the east It is suggested that this difference may relate to an essentially mobile existence with strong links back to the Mesolithic period The authors present three detailed case studies examining the settings of sites in southwest northwest and southeast Wales They outline the history of research for each region including the previous classification of the monuments and any excavations and describe the specific landscape settings of the monuments They assess the significance of a variety of landscape features which would have been visible from the monuments in particular emphasizing the mythological and symbolic significance of the sea rivers and mountains An illustrated inventory of sites completes the volume Cutting and Connecting Knut Christian Myhre, 2016-03-01 Questions regarding the origins mobility and effects of analytical concepts continue to emerge as anthropology endeavors to describe similarities and differences in social life around the world Cutting and Connecting rethinks this comparative enterprise by calling in a conceptual debt that theoretical innovations from Melanesian anthropology owe to network analysis originally developed in African contexts On this basis the contributors adopt and employ concepts from recent studies of Melanesia to analyze contemporary life on the African continent and to explore how this exchange influences the borrowed anthropological perspectives By focusing on ways in which networks are cut and connections are made these empirical investigations show how particular relationships are created in today s Africa In addition the volume aims for an approach that recasts relationships between theory and place and concepts and ethnography in a manner that destabilizes the distinction between fieldwork and writing
