Tim Page on Music Tim Page, 2002 Page is tremendously versatile a musical polymath in his interests and understanding This collection includes both short pieces and longer articles some about unique souls whom Page knew well and admired including Glenn Gould and Otto Luening and others about whom he feels strongly in other ways among them Vladimir Horowitz He takes readers along for closeup glimpses at Midori Nadja Salerno Sonnenberg Dawn Upshaw and Bobby

McFerrin as well as Frank Sinatra and Captain Beefheart to name just a few BOOK JACKET Harry Partch, Hobo Composer S. Andrew Granade, 2014 During the Great Depression Harry Partch rode the railways following the fruit harvest across the country From his experience among hoboes he found what he called a fountainhead of pure musical Americana Although he later wrote immense stage works for instruments of his own creation he is still regularly called a hobo composer for the compositions that grew out of this period of his life Yet few have questioned the label's impact on his musical output compositional life and reception Focusing on Partch the person alongside the cultural icon he represented this study examines Par Women in American Operas of the 1950s Monica A. Hershberger, 2023 The first feminist analysis of some of the most performed works in the American opera canon emphasizing the voices and perspectives of the sopranos who brought these operas to life In the 1950s composers and librettists in the United States were busy seeking to create an opera repertory that would be deeply responsive to American culture and American concerns They did not break free however of the age old paradigm so typically expressed in European opera that is of women as either saintly and pure or sexually corrupt with no middle ground As a result in American opera of the 1950s women risked becoming once again opera's inevitable victims Yet the sopranos who were tasked with portraying these paragons of virtue and their opposites did not always take them as their composers and librettists made them Sometimes they rewrote through their performances the roles they had been assigned Sometimes they used their lived experiences to invest greater authenticity in the roles With chapters on The Tender Land Susannah The Ballad of Baby Doe and Lizzie Borden this book analyzes some of the most performed yet understudied works in the American opera canon It acknowledges Catherine Clement's famous description of opera as the undoing of women while at the same time illuminating how singers like Beverly Sills and Phyllis Curtin worked to resist such undoing years before the official resurgence of the American feminist movement In short they ended up helping to dismantle powerful gendered stereotypes that had often reigned unquestioned in opera houses until then
