The Guilty Secret:

The Guilty Secret Margaret Pemberton,1996-02-01      The Common Things Daniel McInerny,1999 Concerned with the trendy technocratic and at times sophistical character of contemporary education at all levels both public and private the authors of this collection seek to reinvigorate a Thomistic approach to education appropriate to the problems of our day With its main inspiration taken from the work of Jacques Maritain especially his 1943 Education at the Crossroads the volume presents a trenchant critique of the privacies of contemporary education with its emphasis upon the conventional and useful At the same time the essays present the outlines of the proper alternative an education which helps students draw out from themselves the desire for truths which transcend the contingencies of culture and utility Such an education seeks to guide students to the common things available to all human beings The essays uphold an account of man s intellectual and affective capacities which understands these capacities as naturally ordered to truth The essays approach the task in different but complementary ways in critiques of contemporary theories of education in speculative accounts of knowledge and learning in applications of theory to specific institutional settings and in discussions of the political contexts governing modern education In this rich variety of ways the essays in The Common Things not only point the way back to the crossroads Maritain spoke of fifty years ago they go on to indicate something of the landscape along the road not taken by contemporary education and the Vienna Circle Jan Wolenski,Eckehart Köhler,2013-03-09 The larger part of Yearbook 6 of the Institute Vienna

Circle constitutes the proceedings of a symposium on Alfred Tarski and his influence on and interchanges with the Vienna

Circle especially those on and with Rudolf Carnap and Kurt Gödel. It is the first time that this topic has been treated on such a scale and in such depth. Attention is mainly paid to the origins development and subsequent role of Tarski's definition of truth. Some contributions are primarily historical others analyze logical aspects of the concept of truth. Contributors include Anita Feferman, Saul Feferman, Jan Wolenski, Jan Tarski and Hans Sluga. Several Polish logicians contributed: Gzegorczyk, Wójcicki, Murawski and Rojszczak. The volume presents entirely new biographical material on Tarski both from his Polish period and on his influential career in the United States at Harvard, Princeton, Hunter and at the University of California at Berkeley. The high point of the analysis involves Tarski's influence on Carnap's evolution from a narrow syntactical view of language to the ontologically more sophisticated but more controversial semantical view. Another highlight involves the interchange between Tarski and Gödel on the connection between truth and proof and on the nature of metalanguages. The concluding part of Yearbook 6 includes documentation, book reviews and a summary of current activities of the Institute Vienna Circle. Jan Tarski introduces letters written by his father to Gödel.

Paolo Parrini reports on the Vienna Circle's influence in Italy; several reviews cover recent books on logical empiricism, on Gödel on cosmology, on holistic approaches in Germany and on Mauthner.

The Trouble with Sauling Around Madeline Ruth Walker, 2011-08-16

Examining autobiographical texts by Malcolm X, The Autobiography of Malcolm X; Oscar Zeta Acosta, The Autobiography of a Brown Buffalo and Revolt of the Cockroach People; Amiri Baraka, The Autobiography of LeRoi Jones; and Richard Rodriguez, Hunger of Memory; Days of Obligation and Brown. Walker questions the often rosy views and simplistic binary conceptions of religious conversion. Her reading of these texts takes into account the conflict and serial changes the authors experience in a society that marginalizes them, the manner in which religious conversion offers ethnic Americans salvation through cultural assimilation or cultural nationalism and what conversion, anticonversion and deconversion narratives tell us about the problematic effects of religion that often go unremarked because of a code of special respect and political correctness. Walker asserts that critics have been too willing to praise religion in America as salutary or beyond the ken of criticism because religious belief is seen as belonging to an untouchable arena of cultural identity The Trouble with Sauling Around goes beyond traditional literary criticism to pay close attention to the social phenomena that underlie religious conversion narratives and considers the potentially negative effects of religious conversion something that has been likewise neglected by scholars
