The New Urban Leaders:

The New Urban Leaders Joyce A. Ladner, 2004-06-23 Some of today's best urban leaders don't work for the government; they can be found in nonprofit organizations that serve the working class and poor populations. Based on interviews conducted in major cities including Atlanta, Chicago, Houston, San Francisco, Washington D.C., and New York, this study focuses on exceptional leaders who have developed effective solutions to the complex problems of our inner cities, including education, economic development, and community safety. The book includes profiles of innovators such as Robert Woodson, founder of the Washington D.C.-based National Center for Neighborhood Enterprise, whose work on affordable housing, gang violence, and black entrepreneurship earned a MacArthur Foundation Fellowship, the genius award, MacArthur Fellowship, and Heinz Prize; winner Bob Moses, founder of the Algebra Project that prepares low-income students for joining today's technology-dominated workforce; Rheedlen Center head Geoff Canada, who received the Heinz Prize for his anti-violence work among youth; and Reverend Eugene Rivers, one of the founders of the Ten Point Coalition that helped to reduce gang violence in Boston. The New Urban Leadership investigates how and why expert problem solvers chose their career paths, what qualities make them especially successful in their work, and the methods they use to train the next generation of urban leaders.

Mayors and the Challenge of Urban Leadership Richard Michael Flanagan, 2004 Big city mayors rank among the most powerful and colorful politicians in America. Yet few books focus on the leadership challenges the occupants of the office face. Mayors and the Challenge of Urban Leadership examines twelve case studies of mayoral leadership in seven cities from the New Deal era to the beginning of the 21st century. The prospects for mayoral success or failure are driven by how mayors manage the fit between political commitments and the broader patterns of political competition. City Hall powerhouses like Richard J Daley of Chicago 1954 76 David Lawrence of Pittsburgh 1946 58 Tom Bradley of Los Angeles 1973 83 and Robert F Wagner of New York 1954 65 came to power in times of political crisis They realigned politics in their cities to reinvigorate municipal government and bolster their power In contrast mayors with less redoubtable reputations like Mayors Sam Yorty of Los Angeles 1961 73 Dennis Kucinich of Cleveland 1977 79 Jane Byrne of Chicago 1979 83 and Frank Rizzo of Philadelphia 1972 1980 were outsiders who lost their battles to challenge powerful political coalitions in their cities The new breed mayors of the 1990s among them Rudy Giuliani of New York Dennis Archer of Detroit and Ed Rendell of Philadelphia used modern campaign and governing techniques and scored surprising policy and political victories as a result Mayors and the Challenge of Urban Leadership concludes with a discussion of Mayor Michael Bloomberg of New York elected in the aftermath of the 9 11 attacks as an exemplar of the modern style of governing big cities in the 21st century

Handbook of Urban Educational Leadership Muhammad Khalifa, Noelle Witherspoon Arnold, Azadeh F. Osanloo, Cosette M. Grant, 2015-06-01 This authoritative handbook examines the community district and teacher leadership roles that affect urban schools It will serve as a foundation for pedagogical and educational leadership practices that foster social justice equity and advocacy for those who have been traditionally and historically underserved in education The handbook's ten sections cover topics as diverse as curriculum instruction and educational outcomes gender race and class higher education and leadership preparation and support Its twenty nine chapters offer both American and international perspectives The New Urban Reality Paul E. Peterson, 2001-06-07 America's inner cities particularly those in older industrial metropolitan areas have declined sharply in both population and employment over the past two decades How much of this change is due to technological advances in transportation communication and manufacturing How much of it is due to the changing racial composition of the central cities Can any set of public policies retard or reverse the decline of the industrial cities This book presents an interdisciplinary collection of papers addressing these questions In the introduction editor Paul E Peterson discusses the ways in which adverse economic and racial changes interact and urges more realistic federal policies to counteract these changes In Part I The Processes of Urban Growth and Decline sociologist John D Kasarda analyzes the growing mismatch between inner city jobs and residents and geographer Brian J L Berry discusses the economics of inner city gentrification Racial change is the subject of Part II sociologist Elijah Anderson depicts race relations in a gentrifying inner city neighborhood sociologist William J Wilson delineates the social and economic problems of inner city blacks and political scientist Gary Orfield calls for bold efforts to reverse the continuing urban pattern of racial segregation Part III looks at the way cities have responded to economic and racial change Economist Kenneth A Small discusses the impact of transportation policy political scientist Herbert Jacob finds that increasing efforts to control urban crime have not been effective and sociologist Terry Nichols Clark emphasizes the effect of political factors on the fiscal condition of cities Economist Anthony Downs reviewing the issues raised by the other authors sees little hope for racial integration as the central social strategy for solving urban problems but does see hope in the internal resources of America's minority communities

Urban Governance and Democracy Michael Haus, Hubert Heinelt, Murray Stewart, 2004-09-09 This book explores the relationship between leadership and community involvement and discovers how making these two elements more complementary one to the other can lead to more effective as well as legitimate policy outcomes

Legitimacy and Urban Governance Hubert Heinelt, David Sweeting, Panagiotis Getimis, 2006-05-17 A fresh examination of the relationship between two key issues in the on going debate on urban governance leadership and community involvement It explores the nature of the interaction between community involvement and political leadership in modern local governance by drawing on empirical data gathered from case studies concerning cities in England Germany Greece Italy the Netherlands New Zealand Norway Poland and Sweden It presents both a country specific and cross cutting analysis of the contributions that communities and leaders can make to more effective local governance These country specific chapters are complemented by thematic comparative chapters addressing alternative forms of community involvement types and styles of leadership multi level governance institutional restrictions and opportunities for leadership and involvement institutional conditions underpinning leadership and involvement and political culture in cities This up to date survey of trends and developments in local governance moves the debate forward by analysing modern governance with reference to theories related to institutional theory legitimization and the way urban leadership and community involvement complement one another This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of politics and urban governance and to all those concerned with questions of local governance and democracy

Renewing Local Democracy? Lawrence Pratchett, 2000 In so doing it provides a valuable exploration of Labour's modernisation plans which will be of use to anyone who is concerned with local government or local democracy

BOOK JACKET The Oxford Handbook of Political Leadership R. A. W. Rhodes, Paul 't Hart, 2014 Political leadership has returned to the forefront of research in political science in recent years after several years of neglect This Handbook provides a broad ranging and cohesive examination of the study of political leadership

Urban Education Karen Symms Gallagher, Rodney Goodyear, Dominic Brewer, Robert Rueda, 2013-03-19 Many factors complicate the education of urban students Among them have been issues related to population density racial ethnic cultural and linguistic diversity poverty racism individual and institutional and funding levels Although urban educators have been addressing these issues for decades placing them under the umbrella of urban education and treating them as a specific area of practice and inquiry is relatively recent Despite the wide adoption of the term a consensus about its meaning exists at only the broadest of levels In short urban education remains an ill defined concept This comprehensive volume addresses this definitional challenge and provides a 3 part conceptual model in which the achievement of equity for all regardless of race gender or ethnicity is an ideal that is central to urban education The model also posits that effective urban education requires attention to the three central issues that confronts all education systems a accountability of individuals and the institutions in which they work b leadership which occurs in multiple ways and at multiple levels and c learning which is the raison d tre of education Just as a three legged stool would fall if any one leg were weak or missing each of these areas is essential to effective urban education and affects the others
