The New World Dutch Barn:

The New World Dutch Barn John Fitchen, 2001-06-01 Gregory D Huber updates John Fitchen's The New World Dutch Barn with extensive new material. Added to Fitchen's descriptions of barn types, framing style and exterior appearance is research information that relates to the form, fabric and essence of each Dutch barn. Huber notes the secondary expressions seen in barns in various locations in both New York and New Jersey, the evolution of the barn building tradition and why only one of the four major tie beam types found in the Netherlands proliferates in America. The New World Dutch Barn John Fitchen, 1968 The New World Dutch barn, 1968 New World Dutch Studies Roderic H. Blackburn, Nancy A. Kelley, 1987-01-01 The art, archaeology, history and lifeways of New Netherland come vividly to life in these essays by world experts on both sides of the Atlantic. The wide range of objects used and manufactured by Dutch settlers in the New World reveals much about their social life and times. Of particular interest in this volume are Fort Orange pipe bowls, ceramics, wooden cellars and other perishable structures, cupboards, the town house, farming techniques and equipment, plates, seals, rural architecture, canals and the evidence of New Netherland life gleaned from paintings and the Knickerbocker works of Washington Irving. A companion to the widely praised Remembrance of Patria: Dutch Arts and Culture in Colonial America 1609-1776, this volume offers in depth descriptions and analyses of Dutch colonial life and material culture as assessed by the leading scholars in the Netherlands and the United States. Roderic H. Blackburn is an ethnologist and architectural historian who has held positions as Director of Research at Historic Cherry Hill, Assistant Director of the Albany Institute of History and Art, and Senior Research Fellow at the New York State Museum. He is the author of Dutch Colonial Homes in America: Great Houses of New England and with Ruth Piwonka Remembrance of Patria: Dutch Arts and Culture in Colonial America 1609-1776. Nancy A. Kelly is an Associate Museum Exhibit Planner at the New York State Museum. Barns of New York Cynthia Falk, 2012-05-01 Barns of New York explores and celebrates the agricultural and architectural diversity of the Empire State from Long Island to Lake Erie, the Southern Tier to the North Country, providing a unique compendium of the vernacular architecture of rural New York. Through descriptions of the appearance and working of representative historic farm buildings, Barns of New York also serves as an authoritative reference for historic preservation efforts across the state. Cynthia G. Falk connects agricultural buildings both extant examples and those long gone with the products and processes they made and make possible. Great attention is paid not only to main barns but also to agricultural outbuildings such as chicken coops, smokehouses and windmills. Falk further emphasizes the types of buildings used to support the cultivation of products specifically associated with the Empire State, including hops, apples, cheese and maple syrup. Enhanced by more than two hundred contemporary and historic photographs and other images, this book provides historical, cultural and economic context for understanding the rural landscape. In an appendix are lists of historic farm buildings open to the public at living history museums and historic sites. Through a greater awareness of the buildings found on farms throughout New York.

Winner of the 2017 Hendricks Award presented by the New Netherland Institute In 1678 seven French speaking Protestant families established the village of New Paltz in the Hudson River Valley of New York Life on the edge of European settlement presented many challenges but a particular challenge for these ethnic Walloon families originally from the southern Spanish Netherlands was that they lived in a Dutch cultural region in an English colony In Set in Stone Kenneth Shefsiek explores how the founders and their descendants reacted to and perpetuated this multiethnic cultural environment for generations As the founding families controlled their town economically and politically they creatively and selectively blended the cultures available to them They allowed their Walloon culture to slip away early in the village s history but they continued to combine Dutch and English cultures for more than 150 years When they finally abandoned the last vestiges of Dutch culture in the early nineteenth century they did so just as descendants of English colonists began to claim that the national commitment to liberty and freedom was grounded in the nation s English heritage Not willing to be marginalized descendants of the New Paltz Walloons constructed an alternative national narrative placing their ancestors at the very center of the American story
