The Novel in Motion Richard Pearce, 1983 Also includes material on Raymond Federman Walter Abish and Ronald Sukenick Federman's Fictions Jeffrey R. Di Leo, 2012-01-02 This collection of essays offers an authoritative examination and appraisal of the French American novelist Raymond Federman's many contributions to humanities scholarship including Holocaust studies Beckett studies translation studies experimental fiction postmodernism and autobiography Although known primarily as a novelist Federman 1928 2009 is also the author of numerous books of poetry essays translations and criticism After emigrating to the United States in 1942 and receiving a Ph D in comparative literature at UCLA in 1957 he held professorships in the University at Buffalo's departments of French and English from 1964 to 1999 Together with Steve Katz and Ronald Sukenick he was one of the original founders of the Fiction Collective a nonprofit publishing house dedicated to avant garde experimental prose Far too many accounts treat Federman as merely a member of a small group of writers who pioneered metafictional or postmodern American literature Federman's Fiction will introduce or for some reintroduce to the broader scholarly community a creative and daring thinker whose work is significant not just to considerations of the development of innovative fiction but to a number of other distinct disciplines and emerging critical discourses The Oracle of the "tiny finger snap of time" Pauline Winsome Beard, 2016-08-17 Many poets playwrights and novelists have grappled with the concept of time Even more scholars have analyzed how novelists have used time for structuring organizing plotting and philosophizing This collection of essays about the use of time in the novel is unique not only because the writers cover a wide range of concepts of time but also because they locate certain novels within a specific time culture The chapters analyze novels and one film with definite time cultures providing hints as to the future of the use of time in the novel Emily Bald's chapter begins the collection in the nineteenth century with Life in the Iron Mills showing both inner time the perceptual time which fluctuates with the vicissitudes of affective experience and external time which has become known as clock time This ties in well with Rachel Kaufmann's chapter exploring felt time in contemporary women's literature Marco Caracciolo's chapter adds cosmic time to Ricoeur's monumental and mortal time with the case studies of Virginia Woolf's The Waves and Terrence Malick's film The Tree of Life Two chapters explore the effects of World War Two AJ Burgin presents the disorienting technique of Martin Amis' Time's Arrow that shows time going backwards even in dialogue Raymond Burt presents two novels of Michael Khlmeier a contemporary Austrian writer spanning the decades since the end of World War Two with his chapter drawing the link between time and morality The final chapter on Calvino's If on a winter's night a traveler shows the multiplicity of time that the previous chapters have demonstrated so clearly Terms such as affect truth haunting memory reality identity morality and mortality all resonate within these chapters as characters within the novels and their specific culture areas grapple with time recall the past and attempt to live in the present Many of the writers in this collection point towards possible new methods of dealing with time reading methods engaging with the novel writers of the future in new and interesting relationships Here Time has not been wasted Middle Grounds Alan Wilde,1987-11-29 Alan Wilde identifies and defends what he calls midfiction which rejects both the extremes of realism and experimental self reflexive fiction He offers as examples the best works of Apple Berger Barthelme Pynchon and Paley

Joycean Frames Thomas Burkdall,2018-02-02 Employing concepts from film theory this much needed study explores in depth the cinematic quality of James Joyce s fiction from Dubliners to Finnegans Wake The Craft of Post-Narratology Zeineb Derbali,2023-07-19 The collection of articles compiled in this volume ponder narratological aspects elements and features and examine the extent to which the coinage post narratology is applicable in contemporary literature cultural studies translation etc The contributors rethinking of narratology in relation to ethnicity culture history and religion lead to significant implications as far as adherence to or departure from Western classical narratology is concerned The notions of plot storyline point of view voice characters narrators and others paradigmatically structured in the narratological classical model shaped by the Russian Formalists and polished by Tzvetan Todorov Roland Barthes and Gerard Genette are stretched and modified to fit the cultural contexts of written works in various fields Joyce Susan Stanford Friedman,2018-03-15 Did James Joyce that icon of modernity spearhead the dismantling of the Cartesian subject Or was he a supreme example of a modern man forever divided and never fully known to himself This volume reads the dialogue of contradictory cultural voices in Joyce s works revolutionary and reactionary critical and subject to critique marginal and central It includes ten essays that identify repressed elements in Joyce s writings and examine how psychic and cultural repressions persistently surface in his texts Contributors include Joseph A Boone Marilyn L Brownstein Jay Clayton Laura Doyle Susan Stanford Friedman Christine Froula Ellen Carol Jones Alberto Moreiras Richard Pearce and Robert Spoo The American Writer and the University Ben Siegel,1989 Textual Bodies Michael Kaufmann,1994 Many have commented on the unusual appearance of modernist novels but few have bothered to examine what part is played by the unusual typography paginal arrangement and binding in the works themselves Examining Faulkner s As I Lay Dying Stein s Tender Buttons Joyce s Finnegans Wake and William Gass s Willie Masters Lonesome Wife Michael Kaufmann shows how these writers exposed the printed surface of their works and eventually made the print a part of the fiction itself Earlier English novels always presented themselves as printed artifacts letters diaries logs but by the nineteenth century writers played down the physical form of the novel positing the book as a space for tale telling and not of reading Print was simply the transparent medium that delivered the tale In the twentieth century modernist writers were aware that print had been subtly shaping language and consciousness so they felt the necessity for exposing the printed page To make readers aware of the print itself modernists broke up the conventional arrangements of the page and the book Kaufmann shows the gradual opening of the iconic space of the novel from Faulkner and Stein to Joyce and Gass Stein breaks with the conventional arrangement in Tender Buttons to split the husk of meaning that words had acquired through use Her apparent nonsense turned out to be the only way she could find to make sense

Faulkner and Joyce employ a more conventional paginal arrangement but bring their narratives into the space of the page As I Lay Dying speaks itself physically enacting the narrative The enactment calls attention to the printed surface and shows the composed rows of interchangeable type comprising the narrative In Finnegans Wake Joyce overuses the conventions of print until they become visible as conventions Readers see fully the various textual spaces of the book alphabetic lexical paginal and compositional More spectacularly the paginal space becomes narrational space the printed characters on the page are the fictional characters The final novel studied Gass's Willie Masters Lonesome Wife meditates on its fictions especially the fictions of its physical form its body Gass uses the textual space of the novel with a thoroughness similar to Joyce's The book the wife sounds a simultaneous delight and despair at the form that gives her the visible body of language but which also encloses her bodiless voice in a skin of print Recognizing the printed body of the modernist text as one of its defining features argues Kaufmann helps define high modernism and identifies the modernist strain of some writers considered postmodernist

Joyce/Lowry Patrick A. McCarthy, Paul Tiessen, 2021-10-21 While James Joyce was a central figure of high modernism Malcom Lowry spoke for the next generation of modernist writers and despite his denials was almost certainly influenced by Joyce Wherever the truth lies there are correspondences and differences to be explored between Joyce and Lowry that are far more interesting than the question of direct influence Despite numerous differences their works have much in common verbal richness experimentation with narrative structure and perspective a fascination with cultural and historical forces as well as with the process of artistic creation and the inclusion of artist figures who are in varying degrees ironic self portrayals The contributors to Joyce Lowry examine the relationship of these two expatriate writers both to each other and to broader issues in the study of literary modernism and its aftermath This collection embraces a variety of approaches The volume begins with a consideration of Joyce and Lowry as practitioners of Expressionist art and concludes with an essay on John Huston's cinematic interpretation of works by both writers In between are explorations of nationalism anti-Semitism syphilis mental illness and authorial design
