The Nowhere City Alison Lurie, 2012-11-13 In this excellent novel of rare understanding from a Pulitzer Prize winning author culture shock consumes a young Harvard couple in Los Angeles The New York Times When his mentor at Harvard University suddenly leaves for Washington Paul Cattleman finds himself adrift in the wilds of academia After losing his fellowship he is out of work and one thesis short of a PhD Rather than doom his career by taking what he considers to be an unsuitable job he finds a temporary position at the Nutting Research and Development Corporation in Los Angeles a city whose superficial charms signal an adventure He is ready to make the best of his year out west among the beatniks and Hollywood hippies The only thing holding him back is his wife Katherine is a New Englander through and through and as soon as she steps into the LA smog she knows this transition will be a struggle What Paul sees as fun she considers vulgar Boggled down by her allergies and crumbling marriage she seeks out a shrink who surprises and transforms her While Los Angeles may be a cultural wasteland this East Coast girl will find that West Coast pleasures can be quite a lot of fun The National Book Award shortlisted author of Foreign Affairs writes coolly and wickedly of freedom and self discovery in this witty novel The New Yorker This ebook features an illustrated biography of Alison Lurie including rare images from the author's collection

Drawing on personal interviews manuscript collections and the author's unpublished writings Judie Newman offers a comprehensive study of the work of Alison Lurie from her early involvement in the Poets Theatre to the AIDS comedy of her most recent novel The Last Resort 1988 In her profound social and intellectual engagement with American Utopianism from its historical origins through such contemporary manifestations as Walter Benjamin's Hollywood the American University feminist theorisations the religious cult and the gay heterotopia and in her intertextual reworkings of folk and fairy tale biography diary novel the International Theme and the classic ghost story Lurie maintains an uncanny ability to serve critical aesthetic purposes within a popular fictional form Semiotic comedies comedies of the sign rather than novels of manners Lurie's fictions place her squarely within a radical American tradition Through the Lens of the City, During the 1970s the National Endowment for the Arts Photography Surveys granted money to photograph American cities at the bicentennial and years that followed In Through the Lens of the City NEA Photography Surveys of the 1970s Mark Rice brings to light this long neglected photographic endeavor From 1976 to 1981 the NEA supported more than seventy projects that examined a wide range of people and places in America Artists involved included such well known photographers as Bruce Davidson Lee Friedlander and Joel Meyerowitz and many photographers who became widely known after their work with the surveys such as Robert Adams Joe Deal Terry Evans and Wendy Ewald Rice argues that the NEA Photographic Surveys drew from two wells a widespread sense of nostalgia and an intense public interest in photography Looking at the works from eight key cities Atlanta Buffalo Durham East Baltimore Galveston Long Beach Los Angeles and Venice the book uncovers marked differences as well as startling similarities in the concerns manifested by different photographers in far flung places Although the surveys are interesting both for their artistic merits and for their place in the history of American photography they are equally important as a documentation of bicentennial era America and a close examination of American cities A major shift in the ideals of civil engineering and urban planning was underway in the 1970s At the same time ideas and theories about photography were changing along with our notions of what the city could and should be These surveys capturing American cities in a fascinating period of flux show us American photographers matching artistry to subject matter in new and exciting ways Mark Rice is chair of the American studies department at St John Fisher College His work has been published in such periodicals as Exposure Explore and Reviews in American History The Transfigurator M.K.
