Songs from the Edge of Japan: Music-making in Yaeyama and Okinawa Dr Matt Gillan, 2013-01-28 Since the early 1990s Okinawan music has experienced an extraordinary boom in popularity throughout Japan. Musicians from this island prefecture in the very south of Japan have found success as performers and recording artists and have been featured in a number of hit films and television dramas. In particular the Yaeyama region in the south of Okinawa has long been known as a region rich in performing arts and Yaeyaman musicians such as BEGIN Daiku Tetsuhiro and Natsukawa Rimi have been at the forefront of the recent Okinawan music boom. This popularity of Okinawan music represents only the surface of a diverse and thriving musical culture within modern day Yaeyama. Traditional music continues to be an important component of traditional ritual and social life in the islands while Yaeyama's unique geographical and cultural position at the very edge of Japan have produced varied discourses surrounding issues such as tradition versus modernity, preservation and cultural identity. Songs from the Edge of Japan explores some of the reasons for the high profile of Yaeyaman music in recent years both inside and outside Yaeyama. Drawing on extensive ethnographic fieldwork carried out since 2000, the book uses interviews, articles from the popular media, musical and lyrical analysis of field and commercial recordings as well as the author's experiences as a performer of Yaeyaman and Okinawan music to paint a picture of what it means to perform Yaeyaman music in the 21st century.

Sukuma Labor Songs from Western Tanzania Frank D. Gunderson, 2010 This volume is an interpretive analysis of a collection of 335 song texts treated as primary historical sources. The collection highlights the cultural practices that link music with labor in Sukuma communities in northwestern Tanzania. These linkages are evident in the music of the elephant snake and porcupine hunting associations that flourished in the precolonial epoch in the nineteenth century, regional and long distance porter associations and in the farmer associations that have proliferated since the beginning of the twentieth century. Acting primarily as an interpretive editor, the author collaborated with several Tanzanian scholars and translators towards fine tuning the translation of these texts into English and gathered testimonies in order to create succinct interpretive statements about the songs.

Songs from the Stations Myfany Turpin, Felicity Meakins, 2019 The Gurindji people of the Northern Territory are perhaps best known for their walk off of Wave Hill Station in 1966 protesting against mistreatment by the station managers. The strike would become the first major victory of the Indigenous land rights movement. Many discussions of station life are focused on the harsh treatment of Aboriginal workers. Songs from the Stations portrays another side of life on Wave Hill Station. Amongst the harsh conditions and decades of mistreatment, an eclectic ceremonial life flourished during the first half of the 20th century. Constant travel between cattle stations by Indigenous workers across north western and central Australia meant that Wave Hill Station became a cross road of desert and Top End musical styles. As a result the Gurindji people learnt songs from the Mudburra who came further east, the Bilinarra from the north, the Nyininy from the west and the Warlpiri from the south. This book is the first detailed documentation of wajarra public songs performed by the Gurindji people in response to contemporary events in their community Featuring five song sets known as Laka Mintiwarra Kamul Juntara and Freedom Day it is an exploration of the cultural exchange between Indigenous communities that was fostered by their involvement in the pastoral industry Publisher's website Songs from Heaven (The Worship Series) Tommy Walker, Phil Kassel, 2005-08-06 Every worshipper's heart holds a song for which God eagerly listens Are you uncertain how to turn your heart of worship into a melody In Songs from Heaven worship leader and renowned songwriter Tommy Walker reveals the inspirational and instructional process of creating worship songs that bring honor and glory to God For seasoned songwriters and worshippers who simply have a song in their hearts the creative process behind writing and singing will be unveiled Discover devotional thoughts that will help you find intimacy with God and the practical techniques for putting that intimacy into words melody and eventually a song
