Success and failure in the UK car manufacturing industry Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Trade and Industry Committee, 2007-03-29 Although initially sparked by the collapse of MG Rover this inquiry into the UK automotive industry was broadened to examine the following subjects the principal reasons for the different records of success by different companies how companies arrive at investment and closure decisions the role played by trade unions the appropriate Government response to closure announcements and what the Government could do to help the supply chain and workforce if plants are closed Overall it foresees mixed prospects for car manufacturing in this country and thinks it is important that the industry and Government put extra effort into improving skills increasing R D adopting lean manufacturing techniques and strengthening the local supply chain

Business in Britain in the Twentieth Century

Richard Coopey, Peter Lyth, 2009-08-13 This collection of fresh incisive scholarship by some of the leading business historians critically examines the nature of economic recovery in Britain in recent years. Covering the key issues for business history in this period, the book confronts the traditional literature on conclusions of relative decline and monocausal simplistic explanations. It provides an impressive range of studies forming a platform for a new debate on the nature of British business in the 20th century. Themes include productivity, management, research and development, marketing, regional clusters and networks, industrial policy, the use of technology and gender. Sector studies include newer post-war hopefuls and successes including aerospace, IT, retail, banking, overseas investment, the creative industries. The book demonstrates that our understanding of the historic strengths and weaknesses of business in Britain and the shifting balance between sectors of the economy has until now been poorly understood and that British business history needs a fundamental reappraisal.
