American Science Fiction Television and Space Joel Hawkes,Alexander Christie,Tom Nienhuis,2023-03-05 This collection reads the science fiction genre and television medium as examples of heterotopia and television as science fiction technology in which forms processes and productions of space and time collide a multiplicity of spaces produced and re configured The book looks to be a heterotopic production with different chapters and spaces of genre production mediums technologies homes bodies etc

reflecting refracting and colliding to offer insight into spatial relationships and the implications of these spaces for a society that increasingly inhabits the world through the space of the screen A focus on American science fiction offers further spatial focus for this study a question of geographical and cultural borders and influence not only in terms of American science fiction but American television and streaming services The contested hegemonic nature of American science fiction television will be discussed alongside a nation that has significantly been understood even produced through the television screen Essays will examine the various re configurations or productions of space as they collapse into the science fiction heterotopia of television since 1987 the year Star Trek Next Generation began airing Television and the Self Kathleen M. Ryan, Deborah A. Macey, 2013-04-05 Sitting prominently at the hearth of our homes television serves as a voice of our modern time Given our media saturated society and television s prominent voice and place in the home it is likely we learn about our society and selves through these stories These narratives are not simply entertainment but powerful socializing agents that shape and reflect the world and our role in it Television and the Self Knowledge Identity and Media Representation brings together a diverse group of scholars to investigate the role television plays in shaping our understanding of self and family This edited collection s rich and diverse research demonstrates how television plays an important role in negotiating self and goes far beyond the treacly very special episodes found in family sit coms in the 1980s Instead the authors show how television reflects our reality and helps us to sort out what it means to be a twenty first century man or woman
