America's Deadliest Twister Geoff Partlow, 2014-07-25 Winner ISHS Certificate of Excellence 2015 Disaster relief as we know it did not exist when the deadliest tornado in U S history gouged a path from southeast Missouri through southern Illinois and into southwestern Indiana The tri state tornado of 1925 hugged the ground for 219 miles generated wind speeds in excess of 300 miles per hour and killed 695 people Drawing on survivor interviews public records and newspaper archives America's Deadliest Twister offers a detailed account of the storm but more important it describes life in the region at that time as well as the tornado s lasting cultural impact especially on southern Illinois Author Geoff Partlow follows the storm from town to town introducing us to the people most affected by the tornado including the African American population of southern Illinois Their narratives along with the stories of the heroes who led recovery efforts in the years following add a hometown perspective to the account of the storm itself In the discussion of the aftermath of the tornado Partlow examines the lasting social and economic scars in the area but he also looks at some of the technological firsts associated with this devastating tragedy Partlow shows how relief efforts in the region began to change the way people throughout the nation thought about disaster relief which led to the unified responses we are familiar with today The Civilian Conservation Corps in Southern Illinois, 1933-1942 Kay

Rippelmeyer,2015-03-03 Drawing on more than thirty years of meticulous research Kay Rippelmeyer details the Depression era history of the simultaneous creation of the Civilian Conservation Corps CCC and the Shawnee National Forest in southern Illinois Through the stories of the men who worked in CCC camps devoted to soil and forest conservation projects she offers a fascinating look into an era of utmost significance to the identity citizens wildlife and natural landscape of the region Rippelmeyer outlines the geologic and geographic history of southern Illinois from Native American uses of the land to the timber industry s decimation of the forest by the 1920s Detailing both the economic hardships and agricultural land abuse plaguing the region during the Depression she reveals how the creation of the CCC under Franklin Delano Roosevelt coincided with the regional campaign for a national forest and how locals first became aware of and involved with the program Rippelmeyer mined CCC camp records from the National Archives newspaper accounts and other correspondence and conducted dozens of oral interviews with workers and their families to re create life in the camps An extensive camp compendium augments the volume featuring numerous photographs camp locations and dates of operation work history and company rosters Satisfying public curiosity and the need for factual information about the camps in southern Illinois this is an essential contribution to regional history and a window to the national impact of the CCC Kaskaskia David

MacDonald,Raine Waters,2019-06-06 This first comprehensive account of the Illinois village of Kaskaskia covers more than two hundred years in the vast and compelling history of the state David MacDonald and Raine Waters explore Illinois s first capital in great detail from its foundation in 1703 to its destruction by the Mississippi River in the latter part of the nineteenth century as well as everything in between successes setbacks and the lives of the people who inhabited the space At the outset the Kaskaskia tribe along with Jesuit missionaries and French traders settled near the confluence of the Kaskaskia and Mississippi rivers about sixty miles south of modern day St Louis The town quickly became the largest French town and most prosperous settlement in the Illinois Country After French control ended Kaskaskia suffered under corrupt British and then inept American rule In the 1790s the town revived and became the territorial capital and in 1818 it became the first state capital Along the way Kaskaskia was beset by disasters crop failures earthquakes tornadoes floods epidemics and the loss of the capital city title to Vandalia Likewise human activity and industry eroded the river s banks causing the river to change course and eventually wash away the settlement All that remains of the state s first capital today is a village several miles from the original site MacDonald and Waters focus on the town s growth struggles prosperity decline and obliteration providing an overview of its domestic architecture to reveal how its residents lived Debunking the notion of a folklore tradition about a curse on the town the authors instead trace those stories to late nineteenth century journalistic inventions The result is a vibrant heavily illustrated and highly readable history of Kaskaskia that sheds light on the entire early history of Illinois Colonial Ste. Genevieve Carl J. Ekberg, 2014-09-24 Dr Ekberg's masterwork on the old French town south of St Louis brings into sharp focus life in colonial America Ekberg has rendered a rich portrait of community life on the most fascinating of American frontiers the composite world of French Creoles and American Indians in the Mississippi Valley This is an important book and a good read to boot That's how Yale University's John Mack Faragher praised this book

Fluorspar Mining Herbert K. Russell, 2019-01-03 Winner ISHS Best of Illinois History Award 2019 This first ever pictorial record of the people and methods of the Illinois Kentucky Fluorspar District from the 1900s to the 1990s covers early and modern means of extracting hoisting processing and transporting the mineral from mine mouth to end user Nearly one hundred images carefully selected by author Herbert K Russell show early pick and shovel extraction and open flame lighting as well as primitive drilling methods and transportation by barrels buckets barges mule teams and trams in addition to the use of modern equipment and sophisticated refinement procedures such as froth flotation Russell also provides an overview of the many industrial uses of fluorspar from metal work by ancient Romans to the processing of uranium by scientists seeking to perfect the atomic bomb Preserving what is known about the industry by miners managers and museums this detailed and fascinating pictorial history looks both above and below ground at fluorspar mining Foothold on a Hillside Charless Caraway, 1986 In a style reminiscent of the master storytellers of yore Charless Caraway recounts the story of his life as a man and a boy on small farms in Saline and Jackson counties particularly around Eldorado Makanda and Etherton Switch He makes no bones about the hardships of those old days first helping his father eke out a living from the land then scrambling for a living as a sharecropper and fruit picker as he scrimped and saved for the day when he and his young wife Bessie Mae Rowan Caraway could buy a piece of land of their own The one room school the general store the trips by wagon over roads that choked you in summer and swallowed you in winter the home that burned all are described in a matter of fact yet moving way Many of the locations buildings and people are represented in equally unromanticized photographs from the family's collection Some of the stories and photos recall the common disasters of the frontier drought flood and the tornado of 1925 It is clear from these stories that each aspect of life exacted a price but the Caraways paid that price without regret and rallied to go on their way Charless and his family and friends fill this book with courage strength and an unshakable faith in the value of human endeavor All Anybody Ever Wanted of Me was to Work Edith Bradley Rendleman, 1996 An introduction to geographical information systems GIS for planning and automated map production written by academic and industrial professionals participating in the European Science Foundation's GIDATA Scientific Programme The book overviews the key problems in generalization and automation presenting alternatives and speculative solutions in object oriented methods Discussions distinguish between modeling and graphical representation describe artificial intelligence techniques for implementing automated generalization routines and address the issues of data quality Since no GIS is currently equipped with full generalization capabilities these studies provide valuable information in uncharted territory Annotation copyright by Book News Inc Portland OR Always of Home Edgar A. Imhoff, 1993 Edgar Allen Imhoff renders a series of touching colorful vignettes about growing up in southern Illinois during the Great Depression He writes poignantly of his family and their struggles including his father s exhausting but successful effort at self education as he revisits his early childhood years in the country and his eventual move to the town of Murphysboro where he encountered school bullies outstanding teachers first love World War II and adolescence Imhoff contrasts these memories of his youth with events incidents and thoughts from his more recent past While writing a government check with six figures to the left of the decimal he remembers how his mother once scrounged together thirty cents so Imhoff and his brother and sister could go to the circus with their classmates Listening to President Carter give a speech in the Rose Garden reminds him of the contrasting elocutionary style of the Reverend William Boatman the pastor at his country church which was built by Imhoff s great great grandfather and others Through such contrasts Imhoff not only paints a loving picture of his past he also comments on the alienation and emptiness that mark many lives in the United States especially those of modern nomads Imhoff has himself become a nomad living far from the land of his birth enjoying a successful and rewarding career Yet he is drawn repeatedly to his past his family his childhood home and the intricate combination of events attitudes values and loyalties that influenced and molded him
