Shane, 2014-10-03 Chich n Itz mouth of the well of the Itza was one of the great centers of civilization in prehistoric America serving between the eighth and twelfth centuries A D as a religious economic social and political capital on the Yucat n Peninsula Within the ancient city there were many natural wells or cenotes One within the ceremonial heart of the city is an impressive natural feature with vertical limestone walls enclosing a deep pool of jade green water some eighty feet below ground level This cenote which gave the city its name became a sacred shrine of Maya pilgrimage described by one post Conquest observer as similar to Jerusalem and Rome Here during the city s ascendancy and for centuries after its decline the peoples of Yucat n consulted their gods and made ritual offerings of precious objects and living victims who were thought to receive prophecies Although the well was described by Bishop Diego de Landa in the late sixteenth century its contents were not known until the early 1900s when revealed by the work of Edward H Thompson Conducting excavations for the Peabody Museum of Harvard University Thompson recovered almost thirty thousand artifacts most ceremonially broken and many beautifully preserved by burial in the deep silt at the bottom of the well The materials were sent to the Peabody Museum where they remained unexhibited for over seventy years In 1984 for the first time nearly three hundred objects of gold jade copper pottery wood copal textile and other materials from the collection were gathered into a traveling interpretive exhibition No other archaeological exhibition had previously given this glimpse into Maya ritual life because no other collection had objects such as those found in the Sacred Cenote Moreover the objects from the Cenote come from throughout

Mesoamerica and lower Central America representing many artistic traditions The exhibit and this its accompanying catalog marked the first time all of the different kinds of offerings have ever been displayed together and the first time many have been published Essays by Gordon R Willey and Linnea H Wren place the Cenote of Sacrifice and the great Maya city of Chich n Itz within the larger context of Maya archaeology and history The catalog entries written by Clemency Chase Coggins describe the objects displayed in the traveling exhibition Some entries are brief descriptive statements others develop short scholarly themes bearing on the function and interpretation of specific objects Coggins introductory essay describes how the objects were collected by Thompson and how the exhibition collection has been studied to reveal the periods of Cenote ritual and the changing practices of offering to the Sacred Cenote

The Mapping of New Spain Barbara E. Mundy, 2000-12 To learn about its territories in the New World Spain commissioned a survey of Spanish officials in Mexico between 1578 and 1584 asking for local maps as well as descriptions of local resources history and geography In The Mapping of New Spain Barbara Mundy illuminates both the Amerindian Aztec Mixtec and Zapotec and the Spanish traditions represented in these maps and traces the reshaping of indigene world views in the wake of colonization Its contribution to its specific field is both significant and original It is a pure pleasure to read Sabine MacCormack Isis Mundy has done a fine job of balancing the artistic interpretation of the maps with the larger historical context within which they were drawn This is an important work John F Schwaller Sixteenth Century Journal This beautiful book opens a Pandora s box in the most positive sense for it provokes the reconsideration of several long held opinions about Spanish colonialism and its effects on Native American culture Susan Schroeder American Historical Review

Landscapes of the Itza Linnea Wren, Cynthia Kristan-Graham, Travis Nygard, Kaylee Spencer, 2017-12-12 It has been fifteen years since a book was devoted to the new theories paradigms and investigations of archaeology and art history at Chichen Itza The volume features five thematic foci civic space mythology through art burials trade and landscapes Due to the widespread awareness of this site these themes appeal across the regional silos to reach all scholars of ancient America

The Geography of Lograire Thomas Merton, 1969 Thomas Merton s final testament as a poet is his most ambitious long work and a remarkable poetic achievement

Pre-Columbian Landscapes of Creation and Origin John Staller, 2008-03-12 Pre Columbian Andean and Mesoamerican cultures have inspired a special fascination among historians anthropologists archaeologists as well as the general public As two of the earliest known and studied civilizations their origin and creation mythologies hold a special interest The existing and Pre Columbian cultures from these regions are particularly known for having a strong connection with the natural landscape and weaving it into their mythologies A landscape approach to archaeology in these areas is uniquely useful shedding insight into their cultural beliefs practices and values The ways in which these cultures imbued their landscape with symbolic significance influenced the settlement of the population the construction of monuments as well as their rituals and practices This edited volume combines research on Pre Columbian cultures throughout Mesoamerica and South America examining their constructed monuments and ritual practices It explores the foundations of these cultures through both the creation mythologies of ancient societies as well as the tangible results of those beliefs It offers insight on specific case studies combining evidence from the archaeological record with sacred texts and ethnohistoric accounts The patterns developed throughout this work shed insight on the effect that perceived sacredness can have on the development of culture and society This comprehensive and much needed work will be of interest to archaeologists and anthropologists focused on Pre Columbian studies as well as those in the fields of cultural or religious studies with a broader geographic focus
