The Nuer Conquest The Structure And Development Of An Expansionist System:

The Nuer Conquest Raymond Case Kelly,1985 A study of Nuer expansionism with implications for research into the relationship between social and material causes of change The Nuer Conquest Raymond Case Kelly,1988

Perspectives on Africa Roy Richard Grinker,Stephen C. Lubkemann,Christopher B. Steiner,2010-05-17 The second edition of Perspectives on Africa A Reader in Culture History and Representation is both an introduction to the cultures of Africa and a history of the interpretations of those cultures Key essays explore the major issues and debates through a combination of classic articles and the newest research in the field Explores the dynamic processes by and through which scholars have described and understood African history and culture Includes selections from anthropologists historians philosophers and critics who collectively reveal the interpenetration of ideas and concepts within and across disciplines regions and historical periods Offers a combined focus on ethnography and theory giving students the means to link theory with data and perspective with practice Newly revised and updated edition of this popular text with 14 brand new chapters and two new sections Conflict and Violent Transformations and Development Governance and Globalization The Nuer Conquest Raymond Case Kelly,1985 The Wintu & Their Neighbors Christopher K. Chase-Dunn,Kelly Marie Mann,1998-10 On the cutting edge of world systems theory comes The Wintu and Their Neighbors the first case study to compare and contrast systematically an indigenous Native American society with the modern world at large Using an interdisciplinary approach that combines sociology anthropology political science geography and history Christopher Chase Dunn and Kelly M Mann have scoured the archaeological record of the Wintu an aboriginal people without agriculture metallurgy or class structure who lived in the wooded valleys and hills of northern California By studying the household composition kinship and trade relations of the Wintu they call into question some of the basic assumptions of prior sociological theory and analysis Chase Dunn and Mann argue that Immanuel Wallerstein s world systems perspective originally applied only to the study of modern capitalistic societies can also be applied to the study of the social economic and political relationships in small stateless societies They contend that despite the fact that the Wintu appear on the surface to have been a household based society this indigenous group was in fact involved in a myriad of networks of interaction which resulted in intermarriage and which extended for many miles around the region These networks which were not based on the economic dominance of one society over another a concept fundamental to Wallerstein s world systems theory led to the eventual expansion of the Wintu as a cultural group Thus despite the fact that the Wintu did not behave like a modern society lacking wealth accumulation class distinctions and cultural dominance Chase Dunn and Mann insist that the Wintu were involved in a world system and argue therefore that the concept of the minisystem should be discarded They urge other scholars to employ this comparative world systems perspective in their research on stateless societies Contested Sudan Ibrahim Elnur,2009-01-13 Since gaining independence in 1956 Sudan has endured a troubled history including the longest civil war in African history in Southern Sudan and more recent conflicts including the crisis in Darfur This book explores this history of ensuing conflict and analyses the different attempts to achieve political and economic reconstruction The Ending of Tribal Wars Jürg Helbling, Tobias Schwoerer, 2021-03-24 All over the world and throughout millennia states have attempted to subjugate control and dominate non state populations and to end their wars This book compares such processes of pacification leading to the end of tribal warfare in seven societies from all over the world between the 19th and 21st centuries It shows that pacification cannot be understood solely as a unilateral imposition of state control but needs to be approached as the result of specific interactions between state actors and non state local groups Indigenous groups usually had options in deciding between accepting and resisting state control State actors often had to make concessions or form alliances with indigenous groups in order to pursue their goals Incentives given to local groups sometimes played a more important role in ending warfare than repression In this way indigenous groups in interaction with state actors strongly shaped the character of the process of pacification This volume s comparison finds that pacification is more successful and more durable where state actors mainly focus on selective incentives for local groups to renounce warfare offer protection and only as a last resort use moderate repression combined with the quick establishment of effective institutions for peaceful conflict settlement

Anthropological Perspectives On Kinship Ladislav Holy, 1996-10-20 This authoritative introductory text takes into account the changes in the conceptualisation of kinship brought about by new reproductive technologies and the growing interest in culturally specific notions of personhood and gender Holy considers the extent to which Western assumptions have guided anthropological study of kinship in the past In the process he reveals a growing sensitivity on the part of anthropologists to individual ideas of personhood and gender and encourages further critical reflection on cultural bias in approaches to the subject

South Coast New Guinea Cultures Bruce M. Knaft, 1993-03-25 The communities of south coast New Guinea were the subject of classic ethnographies and fresh studies in recent decades have put these rich and complex cultures at the centre of anthropological debates Flamboyant sexual practices such as ritual homosexuality have attracted particular interest In the first general book on the region Dr Knaft reaches striking new comparative conclusions through a careful ethnographic analysis of sexuality the status of women ritual and cosmology political economy and violence among the region s seven major language culture areas The findings suggest new Melanesian regional contrasts and provide for a general critique of the way regional comparisons are constructed in anthropology Theories of practice and political economy as well as post modern insights are drawn upon to provide a generative theory of indigenous social and symbolic development

Cultural Anthropology Alexander Moore, 1998-05 TofC cont Anthropology of modern life Market and the modern metropolis a new system of exchange and the rise of commercial industrial cities Corporate bureaucracy and the culture of modern work Modernity and culture Epilogue applied anthropology and the policy process The framework on which this book hangs is an updated version of the community study method as network discerned at the expanding gas phase of our species random walk over the earth through our settling down into trading and warring tribal societies through the mesolithic and neolithic transitions into our densification into urban states and civilizations and finally at our emergence as a metropolitan species of unparalleled population aggregations Pref
