Copyright@ Bedtimeshortstories.com

A long time ago, there was lived a boy named Rodney in a village. He was very happy with his family. But his happiness could not last for long. Rodney and his fellow villagers faced a severe drought. They desperately waited for rains but with no luck. All the crops, land and even trees dried up. The cattle started dying. As there was no rain, the stream was drying up slowly.

One night, during a meet with the villagers, Rodney said, “Friends, we all have heard tales from our grandparents about an underground river flowing through our village. Why don’t we dig and see?” The villagers agreed and started digging. They dug for some days but gave up soon. However, Rodney kept on digging. When people told him to give up, he said, “God is helping and guiding my way.”

One day, when he had dug deep enough, Rodney saw water. His attitude of not giving up saved the whole village. “Never give up so easily,” Rodney advised all the villagers. Now, they are never short of water. And whenever any problem arises, all the villagers came up together and find a solution.

The Hand of Compassion Kristen Renwick Monroe, 2013-10-31

A fascinating treatise on moral psychology in depth interviews with five people who risked their lives to rescue Jews during World War II

Publishers Weekly Through moving interviews with five ordinary people who rescued Jews during the Holocaust Kristen Monroe casts new light on a question at the heart of ethics Why do people risk their lives for strangers and what drives such moral choice

Monroe s analysis points not to traditional explanations such as religion or reason but to identity

The rescuers perceptions of themselves in relation to others made their extraordinary acts spontaneous and left the rescuers no choice but to act

To turn away Jews was for them literally unimaginable

In the words of one German Czech rescuer The hand of compassion was faster than the calculus of reason

At the heart of this unusual book are interviews with the rescuers
