Women at War 1939-1945 Carol Harris, 2000-10-20

Long before the outbreak of the Second World War official calculations showed Britain would be short of the manpower needed to fight the enemy and keep up production of weapons food and other essentials It was hoped that women volunteers would fill the gaps and so they volunteered as workers in Civil Defence the Women's Land Army munitions factories and non combatant roles in the Forces But by 1941 the Government had to face facts any effective response would have to involve conscription of British women All females between the ages of fourteen and sixty four were registered and soon the vast majority had work to do They collected tons of salvage knitted and sewed and raised money for warships and weapons Women ran fire stations and drove makeshift ambulances while cities burned and enemy bombs exploded around them They kept their families going often as single parents while their husbands were away for years in the armed forces By the end of the war some of the most experienced rat catchers in the country were female others were accomplished engineers carters rail workers and bargees When it was over these wartime roles were not commemorated in films and books There has been little official acknowledgement of the enormous and crucial contribution those British women made to the lives we live now Many are getting on in years and their precious first hand memories will go with them Their stories are worth telling now for that alone But they are also tales of love death sacrifice and romance of humour and horror and of an extraordinary time when ordinary women did extraordinary things

RAF Bomber Command at War, 1939-1945 Craig Armstrong, 2021-04-28

The Royal Air Force had placed a great deal of faith in its force of bombers Bomber Command in the event of a future war The belief in the ability of formations of bombers flying in daylight and unescorted protecting themselves from enemy fighter attack informed early tactics but led to bloody losses Hampered by government restrictions on targets by late 1941 Bomber Command was in crisis As a result and coupled the growing dire war situation a new and forceful commander Sir Arthur Harris was appointed and new strategies allowed Bomber Command to broaden its attacks despite some opposition The result was the area bombing strategy which focussed attacks upon enemy held towns and cities This Main Offensive period lasted throughout 1943 1944 and saw both victories and defeats It was also the period that saw a limited number of precision attacks on Augsburg Peenemunde and most famously the Ruhr dams Bomber Command also aided in tactical and strategic support for the invasion of Europe and the subsequent fight to push inland New technological developments allowed Bomber Command to hit V Weapons sites and to focus more on precision bombing but Harris remained determined to hit German towns and cities whenever possible while the Command's growing power allowed it to rain devastation upon its targets culminating at Dresden Much has been written about Bomber Command but this book focusses largely on those who took part in the raids

Naval Eyewitnesses James Goulty,2022-11-04 Goulty tells the story from the perspective of the ordinary sailor or officer who was there The Northern Mariner Although many books have been written about naval actions during the Second World War histories and memoirs in particular few books have attempted to encompass the extraordinary variety of the experience of the war at sea That is why James Goulty s vivid survey is of such value Sailors in the Royal Navy and the Merchant Navy experienced a war fought on a massive scale on every ocean of the world in a diverse range of vessels from battleships aircraft carriers and submarines to merchant ships and fishing boats Their recollections are as varied as the ships they served in and they take the reader through the entire maritime war as it was perceived at the time by those who had direct personal knowledge of it Throughout the book the emphasis is on the experience of individuals their recruitment and training their expectations and the reality they encountered on active service in many different offensive and defensive roles including convoy duty and coastal defence amphibious operations hunting U boats and surface raiders mine sweeping and manning landing and rescue craft A particularly graphic section describes in the words of the sailors themselves what action against the enemy felt like and the impact of casualties seamen who were wounded or killed on board or were lost when their ships sank A fascinating inside view of the maritime warfare emerges which may be less heroic than the image created by some post war accounts but it gives readers today a much more realistic impression of the whole gamut of wartime life at sea
