Georg Picht: A Pioneer in Philosophy, Politics and the Arts Enno Rudolph, Johannes Picht, 2023-01-21 Aimed at an international readership this book offers a representative collection of essays by the German philosopher Georg Picht 1913-1982 who was a specialist in Greek philosophy practical philosophy and philosophy of religion Picht's themes address different disciplines such as ancient philosophy systematic philosophy and political analysis and often contain critical statements on significant developments from the European Enlightenment to the Cold War era. Other essays offer a distinctive interdisciplinary approach characteristic of the author. These contributions are relevant to both philosophy and science as they discuss for instance philosophical definitions of space and time or the relationship between history and evolution. Another part of the book includes texts on art that present Picht's authentic definition of art and his theory of the interdependence of art and politics. For the first time, key texts of the German philosopher and political thinker Georg Picht are presented to a global readership in English. Like Nietzsche's philosophy, Picht's work is grounded in his outstanding professionalism in the different fields of classics embracing not only texts and theories of the great thinkers from the pre-Socratic to the post-Aristotelian and Stoic philosophies but also the main currents of ancient literature. Picht's importance as a political author and public adviser is exceptional and may explain why his lifelong friend Carl Friedrich von Weizsäcker, another pioneer presented in this series, called him his teacher. Philosophy in Ancient Rome Charles Vergeer, 2018-12-17 This book describes the philosophy of ancient Rome in an original convincing and at the same time captivating manner. Roman philosophy is both a continuation of Greek philosophy and a substantially different way of thinking. The predominant examples dealt with in this book are language and time. Emphasis is laid upon the interweaving of philosophy and religion. The principal figures here are Cicero and the Greek philosopher Plotinus; the rise of Christianity is shown against the background of the philosophy of those days.

The Epistemology of Desire and the Problem of Nihilism Allan Hazlett, 2024-07-12 Most people have wondered whether anything really matters; some have temporarily thought that nothing really matters, and some philosophers have defended the view that nothing really matters. However, if someone thinks that nothing matters if they are a nihilist about value, then it seems that it is irrational for them to care about anything. It seems that nihilism about value mandates total indifference. This is the problem of nihilism. Allan Hazlett addresses in The Epistemology of Desire and the Problem of Nihilism. Hazlett argues that the problem of nihilism arises because desire, and thus caring, is a species of evaluation that admits of irrationality. This contradicts the influential Humean view that desire does not admit of irrationality, which has a ready solution to the problem of nihilism: since desire does not admit of irrationality, it cannot be irrational to care about something that you believe does not matter. However, following G. E. Anscombe, Hazlett argues that desire has the same relationship to goodness as belief has to truth: just as truth is the accuracy condition for belief, goodness is the accuracy condition for desire. This reveals desire as an appropriate target of epistemological inquiry in the same way that belief is an appropriate target of epistemological inquiry. Desires can amount to knowledge in the same way that beliefs can amount to knowledge, and crucially for the problem of nihilism, desire admits of irrationality in the same way that belief admits of irrationality. Nevertheless, although it is obviously irrational to believe something that you believe is not true, Hazlett argues that it is not irrational to desire something you believe is not good despite the fact that goodness is the accuracy condition for desire. This provides a solution to the problem of nihilism and shows that nihilism about value can coherently be combined with the anti Humean view that desire is a species of evaluation
