Detective Inspector Stephanie Saxon is getting closer to finding him and even the press can see that she'll be the one to break down his door. Creating Your Own Space

María Davis, 2021-03-04 The relationship between women and houses has always been complex. Many influential writers have used the space of the house to portray women's conflicts with the society of their time. On the one hand, houses can represent a place of physical, psychological, and moral restrictions, and on the other, they often serve as a metaphor for economic freedom and social acceptance. This usage is particularly pronounced in works written in the nineteenth and twentieth century when restrictions on women's roles were changing, anxieties about space sometimes seem to dominate the literature of both nineteenth-century women and their twentieth-century descendants. The Metaphor of the House in Feminist Literature uses a feminist literary criticism approach in order to examine the use of the house as metaphor in nineteenth and twentieth-century literature.

Confessions of a Murder Suspect James Patterson, Maxine Paetro, 2012-09-24 James Patterson returns to the genre that made him famous with a 1 New York Times bestselling teen detective novel about the mysterious Angel family and the dark secrets they're keeping from one another. On the night Malcolm and Maud Angel are murdered, Tandy Angel knows just three things: 1. She was the last person to see her parents alive. 2. The police have no suspects besides Tandy and her three siblings. 3. She can't trust anyone, maybe not even herself. As Tandy sets out to clear the family name, she begins to recall flashes of experiences long buried in her vulnerable psyche. These memories shed light on her family's dark secrets, and digging deeper into her powerful parents' affairs proves to be a disturbing and dangerous game. Who knows what any of the Angels are truly capable of.

Women's Lives/Women's Times

Trev Lynn Broughton, Linda R. Anderson, 1997-01-01 Women's Lives/Women's Times reflects the growing interest in life writing as a basis for both feminist theorizing and women-centered education. It discusses the many ways in which the study of autobiography can contribute to the theory, practice, and politics of women's studies as curriculum and to feminist theory more generally. This volume is concerned with the application of theory to text, particularly with the assumptions and discourses of postmodernism but also in exploring how general theories of the subject do not always fit comfortably with the specifics of autobiographical writing. It also recognizes the challenge women's autobiography offers to theory, taking us in its complex weave of the personal, the political, and the theoretical beyond the usual generic and disciplinary boundaries.

Right from the Start Jeanie London, 2013-04-01 He put her theories to the test. Emotional Control. That's divorce counselor Kenzie James's motto and one of the rules she's built her professional reputation on. But her own
