Meeting the Need Craig Bethel, North Carolina State University, 2010      Designing for the Homeless Sam Davis, 2004-11-29 An eye opener The subject of homelessness has often been discussed but no one before has cut such a broad swath through the subject There is no other book that deals with the architecture of homelessness Robert Gutman

author of Architectural Practice A Critical View Davis lays out a compelling case for us all especially designers to get involved in solutions for the problem of homelessness He discusses the plight of the homeless in terms that make them real and his chapter on the costs of homelessness lays out the argument for involvement in very practical terms Michael Underhill Professor School of Architecture at Arizona State University Democratic Architecture Donald MacDonald, 1996 With the lack of affordable housing and burgeoning homeless population reaching critical heights this volume takes a look at the situation and offers practical solutions to the problem Housing as Intervention Karen Kubey, 2018-08-28 Across the world the housing crisis is escalating Mass migration to cities has led to rapid urbanisation on an unprecedented scale while the withdrawal of public funding from social housing provision in Western countries and widening income inequality have further compounded the situation In prosperous US and European cities middle and low income residents are being pushed out of housing markets increasingly dominated by luxury investors The average London tenant for example now pays an unaffordable 49 per cent of his or her pre tax income in rent Parts of the developing world and areas of forced migration are experiencing insufficient affordable housing stock coupled with rapidly shifting ways of life In response to this context forward thinking architects are taking the lead with a collaborative approach By partnering with allied fields working with residents developing new forms of housing and leveraging new funding systems and policies they are providing strategic leadership for what many consider to be our cities most pressing crisis Amidst growing economic and health disparities this issue of AD asks how housing projects and the design processes behind them might be interventions towards greater social equity and how collaborative work in housing might reposition the architectural profession at large Recommended by Fast Company as one of the best reads of 2018 and included in their list of 9 books designers should read in 2019 Contributors include Cynthia Barton Deborah Gans and Rosamund Palmer Neeraj Bhatia and Antje Steinmuller Dana Cuff Fatou Dieye Robert Fishman Na Fu Paul Karakusevic Kaja Khl and Julie Behrens Matthew Gordon Lasner Meir Lobaton Corona Marc Norman Julia Park Brian Phillips and Deb Katz Pollyanna Rhee Emily Schmidt and Rosalie Genevro Featured architects Architects for Social Housing Shigeru Ban Architects Tatiana Bilbao ESTUDIO cityLAB Fr d ric Druot Architecture ERA Architects GANS studio Garrison Architects HOWOGE Interface Studio Architects Karakusevic Carson Architects Lacaton Vassal Light Earth Designs NHDM PYATOK architecture urban design Urbanus and Urban Works Agency The Architect and Affordable Housing American Institute of Architects. Housing Committee. Conference, 1989 The Changing Image of Affordable Housing Ulduz Maschaykh, 2016-03-09 Illustrated by a range of case studies of affordable housing options in Canada this book examines the liveability and affordability of twenty first century residential architecture Focussing on the architects and communities commitment to these housing programmes as well as that of the private building sector it stresses the importance of the context of the neighbourhoods in which they are placed which are either in the process of urban transition or already gentrified In doing so the book shows how and to what extent twenty first century dwelling architecture developments can help to create an integrated sense of community diminish social and demographic exclusions in a neighbourhood and incorporate people's desires as to what their buildings should look like This book shows that there are significant architectural projects that help to meet the needs and desires of low to middle income households as well as homeowners and that gentrification does not necessarily lead to the displacement of low income families and singles if housing policies such as those highlighted in this book are put into place Moreover the migration of the middle class can result in a healthy mix of classes out of which everyone can enjoy a peaceful and habitable coexistence Housing the Nation Alexander Gorlin, Victoria Newhouse, 2024-03-26 Scholars advocates and architects assess America's affordable housing crisis and suggest various strategies to rectify it including numerous images of important recently built houses and complexes On any given night more than 650 000 people in the United States many with families and full time jobs experience homelessness The shortfall in affordable housing is estimated to be 5 million units or more Devastating effects of these conditions include an increase in multigenerational poverty a decrease in economic mobility and since the housing crisis has a disproportionate impact on communities of color a heightening of racial injustice Just as there was no single cause of the crisis there is no single cure Assembled here are essays by economists scholars architects planners and community organizers to address diverse aspects of the subject The book discusses the history and extent of the US housing crisis permanent affordable housing and affordable housing as a component of market rate residential buildings the development of community associations that can build and manage local units links between housing production and climate change and the pervasive and long term consequences of racial discrimination in the housing market Recent buildings by Studio Gang Koning Eizenberg Architecture and others illustrate affordable housing at its best offering a glimpse of possible solutions Included are essays by Dean Baker Richard Florida Robert Kuttner Michael Gecan Rosanne Haggerty J Phillip Thompson Margery Perlmutter David Dante Troutt Justin Steil Christopher Hawthorne David Burney Jon McMillan Viren Brahmbhatt Richard Plunz Kenneth Frampton Mark Ginsberg Fernando Pag's Ruiz Jessica Holmes Rusty Smith Andr's Duany Alan Organschi Andrew Ruff and Elizabeth Gray This book is Flexibound The HOME House Project Steven Badanes, 2004 This book published in conjunction with a travelling exhibition documents the 25 prize winning designs as well as 50 other selected submissions with 396 colour illustrations Cities and Affordable Housing Sasha Tsenkova, 2021-09-06 This book provides a comparative perspective on housing and planning policies affecting the future of cities focusing on people and place based outcomes using the nexus of planning design and policy A rich mosaic of case studies features good practices of city led strategies for affordable housing provision as well as individual projects capitalising on partnerships to build mixed income housing and revitalise neighbourhoods Twenty chapters provide unique perspectives on diversity of approaches in eight countries and 12 cities in Europe Canada and the USA Combining academic rigour with knowledge from critical practice the book uses robust empirical analysis and evidence based case study research to illustrate the potential of affordable housing partnerships for mixed income socially inclusive neighbourhoods as a model to rebuild cities Cities and Affordable Housing is an essential interdisciplinary collection on planning and design that will be of great interest to scholars urban professionals architects planners and policy makers interested in housing urban planning and city building

Housing for All Paul Andreas, Karen Jung, 2019-05 Affordable housing is an enduring political challenge Cities have endeavored to set international standards for this important field of architecture since the 1920s Planners must work within a socially motivated tradition to find exemplary solutions both at the political and architectural level This building catalogue documents over 130 residential buildings dedicated to affordable housing It presents floor plans large photos key data and clear diagrams providing a comprehensive overview of the solutions being tested today The publication is rounded off with ten affordable housing concepts that were designed as part of the Housing for All competition organized by the Frankfurt Department of Planning and Housing the Deutsches Architekturmuseum and ABG Frankfurt Holding Renowned architecture practices based in Germany Austria Switzerland the Netherlands and France were invited to submit design concepts for building sites in the Hilgenfeld area of Frankfurt These concepts will reignite the contemporary discourse on affordable housing in Frankfurt and beyond

Housing Solutions Through Design Kirsten Day, Christakis Chatzichristou, 2017 Housing Solutions through Design explores housing design with a special focus on affordability It gives the perspectives of academics who research and teaching on housing professionals who design and build and students who are learning The book foregrounds innovative approaches of the designers of today and tomorrow This book is the second in the Housing the Future Series one of the aims of which is to collate a broad sample of the work being done from a design perspective in universities across the world on the issue of affordable housing This very real engagement with the issues of housing affordability is a key component of this series and is why the series invites practitioners to discuss their work In Housing Solutions through Design those practitioners include an award winning commercial practice from the UK Shed KM and two of the most important reference points in the area of housing affordability and community development internationally the world renowned Herman Hertzberger from the Netherlands and the US based but internationally active Habitat for Humanity The inclusion of the work of such practices is not simply important because of their undoubted international status it is important because of the work they do and the role models they represent for a generation of architects and designers who in the coming years will be faced with the need and the opportunity to develop new approaches to housing design

in the Middle East are increasingly associated with soaring skyscrapers and modern architecture attention is being diverted away from the pervasive struggles of social housing in those same urban settings Social Housing in the Middle East traces the history of social housing both gleaming postmodern projects and bare bones urban housing structures in an effort to provide a wider understanding of marginalized spaces and their impact on identities communities and class While architects may have envisioned utopian or futuristic experiments these buildings were often constructed with the knowledge and skill sets of local workers and the housing was in turn adapted to suit the modern needs of residents This tension between local needs and national aspirations are linked to issues of global importance including security migration and refugee resettlement The essays collected here consider how culture faith and politics influenced the solutions offered by social housing they provide an insightful look at how social housing has evolved since the 19th century and how it will need to adapt to suit the 21st

A Decent Home Alan Mallach, 2020-06-29 What is a decent home Does it simply provide shelter from the elements Is it affordable enough that you can buy the other necessities of life Does it connect you to a community with adequate social and economic resources Noted housing expert Alan Mallach turns his decades of experience to these questions in A Decent Home Mallach's nuanced analysis of housing issues critical to communities across the country will help planners evaluate the housing situation in their own communities and formulate specific plans to address a variety of housing problems The book is both a practical step by step guide to developing affordable housing and a sophisticated introduction to housing policy Chapters address design site selection project approval financing and the history of housing policy in the United States Planners will find useful information about inclusionary and exclusionary zoning affordable housing preservation and the risks and rewards of affordable home ownership programs Mallach also connects the dots among regional economic competitiveness quality of life community revitalization and affordable housing

Affordable Housing and Landscape Architecture Megan E. Gardner, 1998 Architecture of Dignity Kelly Renee Steele, University of North Carolina at Charlotte. College of Architecture, 2005 This project addresses the issue of affordable housing in Charlotte and aims to provide a living environment that provides not only shelter but also a sense of ownership and gives each resident a sense of dignity and delight in their home It fights against the stigma of traditional affordable housing projects where people tend to be segregated by not only race but also socio economic status and the dispiriting hopeless aesthetic that generally distinguishes affordable housing I chose to work in Charlotte North Carolina on a site near the South Corridor light rail line so that the residents would have easy access to the transit system and to direct the growth of that area to include housing of this type Typically in Charlotte in areas of growth such as along the light rail corridors revitalization occurs and pushes lower income families or individuals farther from the center city because of the increased interest in and value of the land I have claimed a site bordered by busy streets Tryon and West Boulevard on the edge of the Wilmore neighborhood for the people of that neighborhood so they can afford to continue to live here when all this growth has occurred

Patrick Tighe

Architecture Patrick Tighe, 2016-08-20 This beautifully designed and illustrated monograph sets out Patrick Tighe's innovative, diverse and wide-ranging collection of contemporary work towards the post-digital, showing the reader a hyper-detailed analytical investigation of digital forms and their practices. It sets out how his architecture has brought a return to the real in an attempt to rethink the language and practice of architecture. The book's many inspiring and intricate drawings render clear the ideas that show the palpable energy and momentum that exists in this practice. In every instance, this firm embraces dichotomy, mining its potential to produce a more vital and consequential architecture. The book's stunning imagery and nuanced narratives tell the story of Tighe's architecture across 35 projects spanning across the globe to help establish how his work draws from and builds upon existing polarities to find resolution and how tensions yield a more dynamic architecture. The work is multiple and varied, from the small-scale residential to the urban scale, from the United States to Europe to China to North Africa, from high-end villas for royalty to art installations to social housing projects. This compelling collection of work follows the following five key themes: CRAFT from the manufactured to the technological, MATERIAL from the natural to the synthetic, EXPERIENCE from the actual to the perceptual, GEOMETRY from the simple to the complex, and METHOD from the analog to the digital. This distinguished monograph also includes an incisive introduction by Patrick Tighe and is augmented by two essays by Thom Mayne and Stephen Phillips, who also provide clarity and insightful discourse on how Tighe's work is continuously in transition and evolving and how he's rethinking and engaging in a discourse to defamiliarize the familiar.
