Small Change Women Learning Patriotism 1750 1810:

Small Change Harriet Guest, 2000-12 During the second half of the eighteenth century the social role of educated women and the nature of domesticity were the focus of widespread debate in Britain The emergence of an identifiably feminist voice in that debate is the subject of Harriet Guest's new study which explores how small changes in the meaning of patriotism and the relations between public and private categories permitted educated British women to imagine themselves as political subjects Small Change considers the celebration of learned women as tokens of national progress in the context of a commercial culture that complicates notions of gender difference Guest offers a fascinating account of the women of the bluestocking circle focusing in particular on Elizabeth Carter hailed as the paradigmatic learned and domestic woman She discusses the importance of the American war to the changing relation between patriotism and gender in the 1770s and 1780s and she casts new light on Mary Wollstonecraft's writing of the 1790s considering it in relation to the anti-feminine discourse of Hannah More and the utopian feminism of Mary Hays Women's Life Writing, 1700-1850 D. Cook, A. research includes personal letters exchanged among family and friends formal correspondence and letters that were incorporated into published forewords and appendices journals and memoirs Part I explores the letter as a substitute for the absent body the imagined physical encounters and performances envisaged by letter writers and the means through which these imagined sensations were conveyed Part II examines the letter as a material object that served as a conduit for descriptions of the material body and as an instrument for embodied encounters Part III focuses on how correspondents purposefully used their bodies in letters as a means to create intimacy to generate social networks and build a body politic This interdisciplinary volume centred around letters will be of interest to scholars and students in a variety of fields including eighteenth century studies cultural history and literature

A Genealogy of the Gentleman Mary Beth Harris, 2024-03-15 A Genealogy of the Gentleman argues that eighteenth century women writers made key interventions in modern ideals of masculinity and authorship through their narrative constructions of the gentleman It challenges two latent critical assumptions first that the gentleman s masculinity is normative private and therefore oppositional to concepts of performance and second that women writers from their disadvantaged position within a patriarchal society had no real means of influencing dominant structures of masculinity By placing writers such as Mary Davys Eliza Haywood Charlotte Lennox Elizabeth Inchbald and Mary Robinson in dialogue with canonical representatives of the gentleman author Joseph Addison and Richard Steele David Hume Samuel Johnson and Samuel Richardson Mary Beth Harris shows how these women carved out a space for their literary authority not by overtly opposing their male critics and society s patriarchal structure but by rewriting the persona of the gentleman as a figure whose very desirability and appeal were dependent on women s influence Ultimately this project considers the import of these women writers legacy both progressive and conservative on hegemonic standards of masculinity that persist to this day

Women, Gender, and Print Culture in Eighteenth-Century Britain Temma Berg, Sonia Kane, 2013-10-03 This edited collection a tribute to the late noted eighteenth century scholar Betty Rizzo testifies to her influence as a researcher writer teacher and mentor The essays written by a range of established and younger eighteenth century specialists expand on the themes important to Rizzo the importance of the archive the contributions of women writers to the canon of eighteenth century literature and to an emerging print culture the sometimes fraught relations within the eighteenth century family the relationship between life and literature and finally the role of female companionship in women s lives Divided into three sections Living in the Eighteenth Century Novel Living in the Eighteenth Century World and Afterlives the fourteen essays that form the body of the collection treat such topics as epistolarity fraternal relations in novels and in families women and travel in Jane Austen s novels the pleasures and challenges of searching through archives to understand the complex entanglements of eighteenth century families the changing reception of Alexander Pope s poetry and intersections among race class gender and sexuality in a famous early nineteenth century Scottish libel case The final essay of the fourteen connects the archetypal eighteenth century figure of the seduced and abandoned woman to Sophie Calle s 2007 Venice Biennale exhibition entitled Take Care of Yourself which the author reads as a direct descendant of the eighteenth century letter novel The book is framed by an introduction that situates the book as part of the ongoing redefinition of the archive of eighteenth century literature and an afterword that gives a personal account of Rizzo s career and her indelible legacy as friend mentor and professional model The contributors use a variety of methods in their scholarship but a common strand is archival research and close reading inflected by feminist analysis The book will appeal to students and scholars of eighteenth century British literature and culture and to those interested in women s writing and women s relationships in the eighteenth century and today and in feminist literary history The contributors to the volume practice the kind of scholarship Rizzo was known for painstaking archival research and attention to the nuances of relationships among eighteenth century women and men and in so doing shed new light on a number of familiar and not so familiar eighteenth century texts British Women Writers and the French Revolution A.
