Something Is About To Happen:

Making Something Happen Michael Thurston, 2003-01-14 Poetry makes nothing happen wrote W H Auden in 1939 expressing a belief that came to dominate American literary institutions in the late 1940s the idea that good poetry cannot and should not be politically engaged By contrast Michael Thurston here looks back to the 1920s and 1930s to a generation of poets who wrote with the precise hope and the deep conviction that they would move their audiences to action He offers an engaging new look at the political poetry of Edwin Rolfe Langston Hughes Ezra Pound and Muriel Rukeyser Thurston combines close textual reading of the poems with research into their historical context to reveal how these four poets deployed the resources of tradition and experimentation to contest and redefine political common sense In the process he demonstrates that the aesthetic censure under which much partisan writing has labored needs dramatic revision Although each of these poets worked with different forms and toward different ends Thurston shows that their strategies succeed as poetry He argues that partisan poetry demands reflection not only on how we evaluate poems but also on what we value in poems and therefore which poems we elevate

What If Something Happens (USA Edition) Bob Mandala, 2019-06-17 Bob Mandala created booklet What If Something Happens out of love for his wife and concern over how she would manage if something were to happen to him Having always taken care of the bills and family paperwork he realized that if he were to suddenly die or become incapacitated she would have the untenable problem of trying to pull the family financial and other affairs together from scratch To spare her such a burden in an already stressful time he began writing down exactly what she'd need to know if an emergency were to occur One thing led to another and over time Bob realized he had created a comprehensive booklet that would not only be of great use to his own family but that could help other families in similar situations

Philosophical Papers Peter Unger, 2006-03-02 While well known for his book length work philosopher Peter Unger's articles have been less widely accessible These two volumes of Unger's Philosophical Papers include articles spanning more than 35 years of Unger's long and fruitful career Dividing the articles thematically this first volume collects work in epistemology and ethics among other topics while the second volume focuses on metaphysics Unger's work has advanced the full spectrum of topics at the heart of philosophy including epistemology metaphysics philosophy of language and philosophy of mind and ethics Unger advances radical positions going against the so called commonsense philosophy that has dominated the analytic tradition since its beginnings early in the twentieth century In epistemology his articles advance the view that nobody ever knows anything and beyond that argue that nobody has any reason to believe anything and even beyond that they argue that nobody has any reason to do anything or even want anything In metaphysics his work argues that people do not really exist and neither do puddles plants poodles and planets But as Unger has often changed his favored positions from one decade to the next his work also advances the opposite commonsense positions that there are in fact plenty of people puddles plants and planets and quite beyond that we know it all to be true On most major philosophical questions both of these sides of Unger's significant work are well represented in this major two volume collection Unger's vivid writing style intellectual vitality and fearlessness in the face of our largest philosophical questions make these volumes of great interest not only to the philosophical community but to others who might otherwise find contemporary philosophy dry and technical Cambridge Academic Content

Communicating Anthroposophy Rudolf Steiner, Rory Bradley, 2015-10-15 12 lectures and a question and answer session Stuttgart Jan 1 2 and Feb 12 17 1921 CW 338 From time to time reading Rudolf Steiner's Collected Works one encounters a previously unknown set of lectures that seems to promise no more than a rather specialized content of interest primarily to those concerned with its apparent theme here a preparatory course for those about to embark on a speaking tour to promote the threefolding of society Then one discovers various subthemes that unexpectedly spark new insights not only into Anthroposophy but also into Steiner himself who suddenly appears in a new light In such cases we may encounter a passage or lecture that illuminates challenges and ultimately transforms what we think we know and our perspective changes Our habitual understanding falls away and we grasp that what we are reading is not information or description it is a call to act in a new way Thereby we are no longer simply readers but also participants in the adventure of Anthroposophy Here are two lectures given in Stuttgart January 1921 at the request of and to anthroposophists from Breslau in Upper Silesia who had written for guidance in a last ditch attempt to interject threefold ideas into the political discussions surrounding the upcoming referendum to determine whether Upper Silesia would remain part of Germany or revert to Poland Ten lectures were given about a month later aimed to prepare speakers to travel around Germany to promote the idea of threefolding Knowing that their task would not be easy that it would be risky and even dangerous Steiner paints the big picture the deep ground from which they were called to make their case Reading these lectures we come to realize that everything Steiner enjoins and the way he does so applies to a much greater field than what he is explicitly addressing The participants who would be going out to speak were doing so as representatives of Anthroposophy When they speak of threefolding it would be as only one manifestation of what living Anthroposophy can be As such they must themselves become living manifestations of Anthroposophy From this point of view this course could also be called How to Be an Anthroposophist This volume is a translation from German of Wie wirkt man für den Impuls der Dreigliederung des sozialen Organismus GA 338 Cover image and frontispiece Rudolf Steiner lecturing in the carpentry workshop c 1915 in Dornach Switzerland Photo by Max Benzinger Verlag am Goetheanum
