The Collected Poetry of Robinson Jeffers Tim Hunt, 1988 Robinson Jeffers 1887-1962 is not only the greatest poet that California and indeed the American West has produced but a major poet of the twentieth century who occupies a prominent place in the tradition of American prophetic poetry Jeffers consciously set himself apart from the poetry of his generation by physical isolation at his home in Carmel by his unusual poetic form and by his stance as an anti-modernist Yet his work represents a profound and profoundly original artistic response to problems that shaped modernist poetry and that still perplex poets today how to reconcile scientific and artistic discourses and modes of vision how to connect present-day experience to myths perceived as lying at the origins of human culture how to renew the poetic language and how or whether to present art's claim to moral spiritual or epistemological seriousness within representations of modern phenomena For Jeffers as for no other important modern American poet there has never been a collected poems not even a truly representative selected poems the current Selected Poetry first published in 1938 contains no work from the last three volumes published during Jeffers' lifetime or from his posthumous volume Now for the first time all of Jeffers' completed poems both published and unpublished are presented in a single comprehensive and textually authoritative edition The first three volumes of this four-volume work will present chronologically all of Jeffers' published work from 1920 to 1963 The present volume consists of poems published between 1920 and 1928 and includes some of his greatest and best-known poems Tamar Roan Stallion The Women at Point Sur and Cawdor as well as a recently discovered long poem Home There is also an Editorial Note and a General Introduction

The Rhetoric of Vision Charles Adolph Huttar, Peter J. Schakel, 1996 About half the essays consider Williams's fiction They explore the theological roots of his theory of imagery the rhetorical implications of his belief that language is inherently meaningful his methods of creating subjective correlatives for heightened states of consciousness and in individual works of fiction his revisionary use of time travel and ghost-story conventions his rhetorical application of Blakean contraries aspects of his diction and syntax and his call to pursue integrity of speech as an ideal
