Son Of The Gambler Man The Youth Of An A:

Son of the Gambler' Man Mari Sandoz, 1976-01-01 Based on the lives of John J Cozad and Robert Henri Dictionary of Midwestern Literature, Volume 1 Philip A. Greasley, 2001-05-30 The Dictionary of Midwestern Literature Volume One surveys the lives and writings of nearly 400 Midwestern authors and identifies some of the most important criticism of their writings The Dictionary is based on the belief that the literature of any region simultaneously captures the experience and influences the worldview of its people reflecting as well as shaping the evolving sense of individual and collective identity meaning and values Volume One presents individual lives and literary orientations and offers a broad survey of the Midwestern experience as expressed by its many diverse peoples over time Philip A Greasley's introduction fills in background information and describes the philosophy focus methodology content and layout of entries as well as criteria for their inclusion An extended lead essay The Origins and Development of the Literature of the Midwest by David D Anderson provides a historical cultural and literary context in which the lives and writings of individual authors can be considered This volume is the first of an ambitious three volume series sponsored by the Society for the Study of Midwestern Literature and created by its members Volume Two will provide similar coverage of non author entries such as sites centers movements influences themes and genres Volume Three will be a literary history of the Midwest One goal of the series is to build understanding of the nature importance and influence of Midwestern writers and literature Another is to provide information on writers from the early years of the Midwestern experience as well as those now emerging who are typically absent from existing reference works Mari Sandoz, Story Catcher of the Plains Helen Winter Stauffer, 1982-01-01 As a historian and as a novelist Mari Sandoz 1896 1966 stands in the front rank of western writers in the words of John K Hutchens no one in our time wrote better than the late Mari Sandoz did or with more authority and grace about as many aspects of the old West This first full length biography is particularly concerned to show the relationship between Sandoz's life and experiences and her writing Drawing heavily on materials in the Mari Sandoz Collection at the University of Nebraska Lincoln correspondence to and from Sandoz her research notes and manuscripts and on interviews with dozens of Sandoz's friends and acquaintances the author not only establishes the facts of Sandoz's life but confirms her standing as a writer and historian Nebraska Moments Donald R. Hickey, Susan A. Wunder, John R. Wunder, 2007-01-01 An account of defining Nebraska moments including surviving the Oregon and Mormon trails completing the Union Pacific Railroad and winning national football championships Nobel and Pulitzer prizes and presidential nominations Cold Warriors Suzanne Clark, 2000 Cold Warriors Manliness on Trial in the Rhetoric of the West returns to familiar cultural forces the West anticommunism and manliness to show how they combined to suppress dissent and dominate the unruliness of literature in the name of a national identity after World War II Few realize how much the domination of a white male American literary canon was a product not of long history but of the Cold War Suzanne Clark describes here how the Cold War excluded women writers on several levels together with others African American Native American poor men as well as women who were ignored in the struggle over white male identity Clark first shows how defining national individual American identity in the Cold War involved a brand new configuration of cultural history At the same time it called upon the nostalgia for the old discourses of the West the national manliness asserted by Theodore Roosevelt to claim that there was and always had been only one real American identity By subverting the claims of a national identity Clark finds many male writers risked falling outside the boundaries not only of public rhetoric but also of the literary world men as different from one another as the determinedly masculine Ernest Hemingway and the antiheroic storyteller of the everyday Bernard Malamud Equally vocal and contentious Cold War women writers were unwilling to be silenced as Clark demonstrates in her discussion of the work of Mari Sandoz and Ursula Le Guin The book concludes with a discussion of how the silencing of gender race and class in Cold War writing maintained its discipline until the eruptions of the sixties By questioning the identity politics of manliness in the Cold War context of persecution and trial Clark finds that the involvement of men in identity politics set the stage for our subsequent cultural history
