The Archaeology of Downtown Cahokia Timothy R. Pauketat, Preston T. Miracle, Sandra L. Dunavan, 1998 The information interpretations and conclusions presented in this volume represent only one small portion of the outpouring of new ideas that have been produced by Dr Timothy Pauketat s analysis of the Tract 15A and Dunham Tract archaeological remains His research which began in 1988 quickly produced a dissertation entitled The Dynamics of Pre state Political Centralization in the North American Midcontinent followed by a theoretically oriented monograph The Ascent of Chiefs Cahokia and Mississippian Politics in Native North America and numerous articles on the Cahokian sphere Up until now however the structural and artifactual basis for Pauketat s innovative interpretations and new understanding of Cahokia have not been available to a wide audience As Pauketat himself notes in his introduction significant advances in understanding past large scale human organizations require large archaeological samples and additional advances demand that this information be made available to as wide an audience of fellow scholars as possible This volume represents such a contribution to the present and future study of the great Cahokian center From the publisher Cahokia Timothy R. Pauketat, Thomas E. Emerson, 2000-01-01 About one thousand years ago Native Americans built hundreds of earthen platform mounds plazas residential areas and other types of monuments in the vicinity of present day St Louis This sprawling complex known to archaeologists as Cahokia was the dominant cultural ceremonial and trade center north of Mexico for centuries This stimulating collection of essays casts new light on the remarkable accomplishments of Cahokia Archaeologies of Cosmospaces in the Americas J. Grant Stauffer, Bretton T. Giles, Shawn P. Lambert, 2022-09-08 This volume examines how pre Columbian societies in the Americas envisioned their cosmos and iteratively modeled it through the creation of particular objects and places It emphasizes that American societies did this to materialize overarching models and templates for the shape and scope of the cosmos the working definition of cosmospace Noting a tendency to gloss over the ways in which ancestral Americans envisioned the cosmos as intertwined and animated the authors examine how cosmospaces are manifested archaeologically in the forms of objects and physically altered landscapes This book s chapters therefore offer case studies of cosmospaces that present themselves as forms of architecture portable artifacts and transformed aspects of the natural world In doing so it emphasizes that the creation of cosmospaces offered a means of reconciling peoples experiences of the world with their understandings of them Ancient Cahokia and the Mississippians Timothy R. Pauketat, 2004-06-17 Using a wealth of archaeological evidence this book outlines the development of Mississippian civilization Cahokia Mounds William Iseminger, 2010-03-03 About one thousand years ago a phenomenon occurred in a fertile tract of Mississippi River flood plain known today as the American Bottom This phenomenon came to be called Cahokia Mounds America s first city Interpreting the rich heritage of a site like Cahokia Mounds is a balancing act the interpreter must speak as a scholar to the general public on behalf of an entirely different civilization Since even those three groups are splintered into myriad dialects of perspective sometimes it is hard to know what language to use But William Iseminger s work at the site has given him nearly four decades of practice in Cahokia Conversation 101 and he tells the story of the place and its ancient culture as well as its place in contemporary culture with the clarity and confidence of a native speaker

Relational Identities and Other-than-Human Agency in Archaeology Eleanor Harrison-Buck,Julia A.

Hendon,2018-08-20 Relational Identities and Other than Human Agency in Archaeology explores the benefits and consequences of archaeological theorizing on and interpretation of the social agency of nonhumans as relational beings capable of producing change in the world The volume cross examines traditional understanding of agency and personhood presenting a globally diverse set of case studies that cover a range of cultural geographical and historical contexts Agency the ability to act and personhood the reciprocal qualities of relational beings have traditionally been strictly assigned to humans In case studies from Ghana to Australia to the British Isles and Mesoamerica contributors to this volume demonstrate that objects animals locations and other nonhuman actors also potentially share this ontological status and are capable of instigating events and enacting change This kind of other than human agency is not a one way transaction of cause to effect but requires an appropriate form of reciprocal engagement indicative of relational personhood which in these cases left material traces detectable in the archaeological record Modern dualist ontologies separating objects from subjects and the animate from the inanimate obscure our understanding of the roles that other than human agents played in past societies Relational Identities and Other than Human Agency in Archaeology challenges this essentialist binary perspective Contributors in this volume show that intersubjective inherently social ways of being are a fundamental and indispensable condition of all personhood and move the debate in posthumanist scholarship beyond the polarizing dichotomies of relational versus bounded types of persons In this way the book makes a significant contribution to theory and interpretation of personhood and other than human agency in archaeology Contributors Susan M Alt Joanna Br ck Kaitlyn Chandler Erica Hill Meghan C L Howey Andrew Meirion Jones Matthew Looper Ian J McNiven Wendi Field Murray Timothy R Pauketat Ann B Stahl Maria Nieves Zede o Archaeology and Ancient Religion in the American Midcontinent Brad H.

Koldehoff,Timothy R. Pauketat,2018-11-06 Analyses of big datasets signal important directions for the archaeology of religion in the Archaic to Mississippian Native North America Across North America huge data accumulations derived from decades of cultural resource management studies combined with old museum collections provide archaeologists with unparalleled opportunities to explore new questions about the lives of ancient native peoples For many years the topics of technology economy and political organization have received the most research attention while ritual religion and symbolic expression have largely been ignored This was often the case because researchers considered such topics beyond reach of their methods and data In Archaeology and Ancient Religion in the American Midcontinent editors Brad H Koldehoff and Timothy R Pauketat and their contributors demonstrate that this notion is outdated through their analyses of a series of large datasets from the midcontinent ranging from tiny charred seeds to the cosmic alignments of mounds they consider new questions about the religious practices and lives of native peoples At the core of this volume are case studies that explore religious practices from the Cahokia area and surrounding Illinois uplands Additional chapters explore these topics using data collected from sites and landscapes scattered along the Mississippi and Ohio River valleys This innovative work facilitates a greater appreciation for and understanding of ancient native religious practices especially their seamless connections to everyday life and livelihood The contributors do not advocate for a reduced emphasis on technology economy and political organization rather they recommend expanding the scope of such studies to include considerations of how religious practices shaped the locations of sites the character of artifacts and the content and arrangement of sites and features They also highlight analytical approaches that are applicable to archaeological datasets from across the Americas and beyond

Relational Engagements of the Indigenous Americas Melissa R. Baltus, Sarah E. Baires, 2017-10-16 In Relational Engagements of the Indigenous Americas Melissa R. Baltus and Sarah E. Baires critically examine the current understanding of relationality in the Americas covering a diverse range of topics from Indigenous cosmologies to the life world of the Inuit dog The contributors to this wide ranging edited collection interrogate and discuss the multiple natures of relational ontologies touching on the ever changing fluid and varied ways that people both alive and dead relate and related to their surrounding world While the case studies presented in this collection all stem from the New World the Indigenous histories and archaeological interpretations vary widely and the boundaries of relational theory challenge current preconceptions about earlier ways of life in the Indigenous Americas

Mississippian Beginnings Gregory D. Wilson, 2019-09-16 Using fresh evidence and nontraditional ideas the contributing authors of Mississippian Beginnings reconsider the origins of the Mississippian culture of the North American Midwest and Southeast A D 1000 1600 Challenging the decades old opinion that this culture evolved similarly across isolated Woodland populations they discuss signs of migrations missionization pilgrimages violent conflicts long distance exchange and other far flung entanglements that now appear to have shaped the early Mississippian past Presenting recent fieldwork from a wide array of sites including Cahokia and the American Bottom archival studies and new investigations of legacy collections the contributors interpret results through contemporary perspectives that emphasize agency and historical contingency They track the various ways disparate cultures across a sizeable swath of the continent experienced Mississippianization and came to share similar architecture pottery subsistence strategies sociopolitical organization iconography and religion Together these essays provide the most comprehensive examination of early Mississippian culture in over thirty years A volume in the Florida Museum of Natural History Ripley P Bullen Series

Ten Thousand Years of Inequality Timothy A. Kohler, Michael E. Smith, 2019-02-19 Is wealth inequality a universal feature of human societies or did early peoples live an egalitarian existence How did inequality develop before the modern era Did inequalities in wealth increase as people settled into a way of life dominated by farming and herding Why in general do such disparities increase and how recent are the high levels of wealth inequality now experienced in many developed nations How can archaeologists tell Ten Thousand Years of Inequality addresses these and other questions by presenting the first set of consistent quantitative measurements of ancient wealth inequality The authors are archaeologists who have adapted the Gini index a statistical measure of wealth distribution often used by economists to measure contemporary inequality and applied it to house size distributions over time and around the world Clear descriptions of methods and assumptions serve as a model for other archaeologists and historians who want to document past patterns of wealth disparity The chapters cover a variety of ancient cases including early hunter gatherers farmer villages and agrarian states and empires The final chapter synthesizes and compares the results Among the new and notable outcomes the authors report a systematic difference between higher levels of inequality in ancient Old World societies and lower levels in their New World counterparts For the first time archaeology allows humanity's deep past to provide an account of the early manifestations of wealth inequality around the world Contributors Nicholas Ames Alleen Betzenhauser Amy Bogaard Samuel Bowles Meredith S Chesson Abhijit Dandekar Timothy J Dennehy Robert D Drennan Laura J Ellyson Deniz Enverova Ronald K Faulseit Gary M Feinman Mattia Fochesato Thomas A Foor Vishwas D Gogte Timothy A Kohler Ian Kuijt Chapurukha M Kusimba Mary Margaret Murphy Linda M Nicholas Rahul C Oka Matthew Pales Christian E Peterson Anna Marie Prentiss Michael E Smith Elizabeth C Stone Amy Styring Jade Whitlam

Temples for Cahokia Lords Timothy R. Pauketat, 1993-01-01 Preston Holder a brilliant iconoclast excavated these mounds in 1955 Decades later the excavation still stands as one of the best documented major excavations of the Cahokia area This volume meticulously researched and written is the book Holder never completed Pauketat also includes the massive research and theoretical developments that have emerged since 1957

Making Ancient Cities Andrew Creekmore, Kevin D. Fisher, 2014-04-28 Investigates how the structure and use of space developed and changed in cities and examines the role of different societal groups in shaping urbanism The Cahokia Atlas Melvin Leo Fowler, 1997 Late Woodland Societies Thomas E. Emerson, Dale L. McElrath, Andrew C. Fortier, 2000-01-01 Archaeologists across the Midwest have pooled their data and perspectives to produce this indispensable volume on the Native cultures of the Late Woodland period approximately A D 300 1000 Sandwiched between the well known Hopewellian and Mississippian eras of monumental mound construction the Late Woodland period has received insufficient attention from archaeologists who have frequently characterized it as consisting of relatively drab artifact assemblages The close connections between this period and subsequent Mississippian and Fort Ancient societies however make it especially valuable for cross cultural researchers Understanding the cultural processes at work during the Late Woodland period will yield important clues about the long term forces that stimulate and enhance social inequality Late Woodland Societies is notable for its comprehensive geographic coverage exhaustive presentation and discussion of sites artifacts and prehistoric cultural practices and critical summaries of interpretive perspectives and trends in scholarship The vast amount of information and theory brought together examined and synthesized by the contributors produces a detailed coherent and systematic picture of Late Woodland lifestyles across the Midwest The Late Woodland can now be seen as a dynamic time in its own right and instrumental to the emergence of complex late prehistoric cultures across the Midwest and Southeast Landscapes under Pressure Ludomir R. Lozny, 2006-12-30 This book investigates the newly emerging interest to investigate and preserve cultural landscapes It presents the historic archaeological ethnographic and environmental traditions of cultural landscape study and the attempts to reconstruct and analyze the complex processes of cultural changes It points to the benefits of interdisciplinary cooperation which should involve an ecological approach with historical ecology applied archaeology and environmental planning Land of Water, City of the Dead Sarah E. Baires, 2017-06-27 Explores the embodiment of religion in the Cahokia land and how places create make meaningful and transform practices and beliefs Cahokia the largest city of the Mississippian mound cultures lies outside present day East St Louis Land of Water City of the Dead reconceptualizes Cahokia s emergence and expansion ca 1050 1200 focusing on understanding a newly imagined religion and complexity through a non Western lens Sarah E Baires argues that this system of beliefs was a dynamic lived component based on a broader ontology with roots in other mound societies This religion was realized through novel mortuary practices and burial mounds as well as through the careful planning and development of this early city s urban landscape Baires analyzes the organization and alignment of the precinct of downtown Cahokia with a specific focus on the newly discovered and excavated Rattlesnake Causeway and the ridge top mortuary mounds located along the site axes Land of Water City of the Dead also presents new data from the 1954 excavations of the ridge top mortuary Wilson Mound and a complete analysis of the associated human remains Through this skeletal analysis Baires discusses the ways that Cahokians processed and buried their ancestors identifying unique mortuary practices that include the intentional dismemberment of human bodies and burial with marine shell beads and other materials      Cahokia's Complexities Susan M. Alt, 2018-04-24

Critical new discoveries and archaeological patterns increase understanding of early Mississippian culture and society The reasons for the rise and fall of early cities and ceremonial centers around the world have been sought for centuries In the United States Cahokia has been the focus of intense archaeological work to explain its mysteries Cahokia was the first and exponentially the largest of the Mississippian centers that appeared across the Midwest and Southeast after AD 1000 Located near present day East St Louis Illinois the central complex of Cahokia spanned more than 12 square kilometers and encompassed more than 120 earthen mounds As one of the foremost experts on Cahokia Susan M Alt addresses long standing considerations of eastern Woodlands archaeology the beginnings character and ending of Mississippian culture AD 1050 1600 from a novel theoretical and empirical vantage point Through this case study on farmers immigration and resettling Alt s narrative reanalyzes the relationship between administration and diversity incorporating critical new discoveries and archaeological patterns from outside of Cahokia Alt examines the cultural landscape of the Cahokia flood plain and the layout of one extraordinary upland site Grossman as an administrative settlement where local farmers might have seen or participated in Cahokian rituals and ceremonies involving a web of ancestors powers and places Alt argues that a farming district outside the center provides definitive evidences of the attempted centralized administration of a rural hinterland      The Archaeology of Houses and Households in the Native Southeast Benjamin A. Steere, 2017-04-11

This book explores changes in houses and households in the southeastern United States from the Woodland to the Historic Indian Period ca 200 B C to A D 1800 Most studies of domestic architecture in the Southeast have been conducted at the single site scale As a result broader spatial and temporal patterns of variation in houses and households are not well understood To address this problem Steere constructed a database that catalogues the architectural features of 1 258 structures from 65 sites in the Southern Appalachian region and surrounding areas Significant trends identified by this comparative study include changes in the size and spacing of houses changes in architectural investment and a secular trend toward the increasing segmentation of houses Using a theoretical framework developed from household archaeology and anthropology Steere argues that certain aspects of this architectural variation can be explained by changes in household economics and household composition symbolic behavior status differentiation and settlement patterning More generally he proposes that large scale patterns of diachronic and synchronic variation in domestic architecture are best explained by changes in social organization Provided by publisher      Life in a Mississippian Warscape Meghan E. Buchanan, 2022-10-04 Chapter 1 introduces the concept of warscape highlighting ethnographic and historic accounts of cultural creativity and social experiences during wartime around the world especially in Native American societies Buchanan links the materiality of daily life technological production creativity and hybridity during periods of war and shows where the impacts of warfare on daily practices may be visible archaeologically Chapter 2 explores the theoretical orientations and archaeological approaches to warfare in the southeastern United States and the evidence for violence and warfare in the precontact past Chapter 3 introduces the Common Field site and outlines some of the research that has been conducted at the site and other Mississippian Period sites in the region Buchanan proposes a culture history for region highlighting important sites material practices and historical trends
