twentieth centuries This analysis explores female empowerment through professional unofficial or official detection especially as this surveillance illuminates legal moral gendered institutional criminal punitive judicial political and familial practices This book considers a range of literary texts by both female and male writers which concentrate on detection by women particularly those which followed the creation of Sherlock Holmes by Arthur Conan Doyle in 1887 Cultural movements such as the emergence of the New Woman property law or suffragism are stressed in the exploits of these resourceful investigators These daring women deal with a range of crimes including murder blackmail terrorism forgery theft sexual harassment embezzlement fraud impersonation and domestic violence Privileging the exercise of reason rather than intuition these women detectives are proto feminist in their demonstration of women's independence Instead of being under the law these women transform it Their investigations are given particular edge because many of the perpetrators of these crimes are women Sherlock's Sisters probes many texts which because of their rarity have been under researched Writers such as Beatrice Heron Maxwell Emmuska Orczy L T Meade Catherine Pirkis Fergus Hume Grant Allen Leonard Merrick Marie Belloc Lowndes George Sims McDonnell Bodkin and Richard Marsh are here incorporated into the canon of Victorian and Edwardian literature many for the first time A writer such as Mary Elizabeth Braddon is reassessed through a neglected novel The book includes works by Irish and Australian writers to present an inclusive array of British texts Sherlock's Sisters enlarges the perception of emerging female empowerment during the nineteenth century filling an important gap in the fields of Gender Studies Law Literature and Popular Culture The Invisible Element of Place Thomas Fisher, 2011

The Case to End All Cases! Mark Edward Thomas Piotrowski, 2010 Publicly shunned and ostracized by the Firm and the London Times for unethical legal reasons beyond their control Sherlock Holmes and Dr John Watson are forced into the private sector to which may very well be their last case together On a cold and rainy October Sunday afternoon at the end of the 19th Century our two fine private detectives are formally solicited by a leading British scientist Dr Charles Landers on investigating and recovering stolen top secret government plans which could bring an end to the British Empire Throughout their investigation and without any formal assistance from Scotland Yard and the Home Office Holmes and Watson will make great leads in the case and meet up with a key witness of such feminine appeal and finally discover the true sole sinister mastermind and chief architect from their past who's behind this world shattering heist The Magic Bullet Larry Millett, 2011-03-24 St Paul Minnesota October 1 1917 High above the city a renowned local financier named Artemis Dodge lies facedown on the floor of his armored penthouse sanctuary a single bullet hole in his head Thirty stories up in the city's tallest building and not a shred of evidence or sign pointing to anyone having broken into the wealthy man's fortress It is to all appearances an impossible crime Enter Shadwell Rafferty Irishman St Paul saloonkeeper sometime detective and old friend of the celebrated sleuth Sherlock Holmes Summoned by Louis B Hill son of railroad magnate James J Hill to investigate Rafferty descends into a world dominated by greedy tycoons and awash in political intrigue and wartime fearmongering

Suspects lurk in every corner of the city including Dodge's beautiful young widow his slippery assistant and a shadowy anarchist and Rafferty pursues them from the streets of Ramsey Hill and the rooms of the Ryan Hotel to the labyrinthine caves under the Schmidt brewery Matching wits with his foes at the police department and his unsavory rival the St Paul detective Mordecai Jones Rafferty knows that in order to bring a killer to justice he must first unravel the riddle of a single bullet fired in a locked room three hundred feet above the streets of St Paul Set during a bitter streetcar strike and amid the clandestine activities of a ruthless commission charged with enforcing wartime patriotism Larry Millett has created a classic and perfectly executed locked room mystery in the great tradition of John Dickson Carr From locked rooms and civil unrest to murder and wartime paranoia The Magic Bullet presents Rafferty's most challenging case and its gripping conclusion with a timely assist from Sherlock Holmes finds both Rafferty and Millett at the top of their games
