The Distinctive Black College Talladega Tuskegee And Morehouse:

The Distinctive Black College Addie Louise Joyner Butler, 1977 New Life for Historically Black Colleges and Universities Vann R. Newkirk, 2014-01-10 In December 2008 Georgia state senator Seth Harp ignited controversy when he proposed merging two historically Black colleges with nearby predominantly white colleges to save money Less than a year later Mississippi governor Haley Barbour sought to unite Mississippi's three predominantly Black colleges These efforts kindled renewed interest in historically Black colleges and universities HBCUs across the nation and the globe In this study HBCU officials and faculty attempt to identify the challenges that HBCUs face explore the historic origin of HBCU management systems and identify models of success that will improve the long term viability of the HBCU By analyzing HBCUs within a larger framework of American higher education and the cultural context in which HBCUs operate these essays introduce a new paradigm in the quest to ensure that HBCUs continue to play an important role in the education of Americans of all races The African American Experience Arvarh E. Strickland, Robert E. Weems Jr., 2000-11-30 Compared to the early decades of the 20th century when scholarly writing on African Americans was limited to a few titles on slavery Reconstruction and African American migration the last thirty years have witnessed an explosion of works on the African American experience With the Civil Rights and Black Power movements of the 1960s came an increasing demand for the study and teaching of African American history followed by the publication of increasing numbers of titles on African American life and history This volume provides a comprehensive bibliographical and analytical guide to this growing body of literature as well as an analysis of how the study of African Americans has changed Resources in Education, 1978

The Continuous Wave Hugh G.J. Aitken, 2014-07-14 Hugh Aitken describes a critical period in the history of radio when continuous wave technology first made reliable long distance wireless communication possible and opened up opportunities for broadcasting voice and music Originally published in 1985 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905 Courage to Dissent Tomiko Brown-Nagin, 2012 According to conventional wisdom the split between integrationism and black power in the civil rights movement occurred in the mid 1960s ushering in a much more radical and contentious era In this tale before 1965 the movement favored integrationism However as Tomiko Brown Nagin shows in her novel history of the movement in Atlanta from the 1940s to 1980 conflict and friction plagued the civil rights movement long before Stokely Carmichael achieved fame in 1966 for advocating black power 'Saving' Education Anthony B. Pinn, 2025-10-14 Many assume a connection between historical black colleges and universities HBCUs and religion Saving Education seeks to address this by exploring the impact of theological concerns and the changes resulting from the Reconstruction and Jim Crow on the ethos of these institutions and their students worldview Lee de Forest and the Fatherhood of Radio James A. Hijiya, 1992 This book is not so much an analysis of de Forest's contribution to technology as it is a chronicle of his spiritual quest Lee de Forest was an important inventor and this biography attempts to explain what moved him to become one It tries to show how in a universe from which deity had seemingly disappeared de Forest's devotion to invention was part of his search for a new light The book is not a study in the history of technology but in the history of the religion of technology In 1906 de Forest created the Audion the three electrode vacuum tube which became the foundation of the electronics industry for half a century He was a pioneer in radio and talking pictures and he worked on projects ranging from television to solar energy Holder of more than three hundred patents he was one of the most prolific inventors in American history But he was more than that Lee de Forest had an immense curiosity that extended beyond science and engineering to politics literature and religion His active and far ranging mind became a register for many social and intellectual events during his long life from Populism to McCarthyism and from Darwinism to agnosticism But while his interests were diverse his vision was not For him invention was not merely a vocation but a worldview He represented a technological progressivism that advocated reform but reform stemming less from social engineering than from real engineering Although he favored certain improvements in law and education he did not think that these would be the basis of social transformation Instead he believed that inventions ranging from radios to war planes would reform the human condition and that the future was more in the hands of inventors than statesmen The millenium would be a technical innovation with himself as one of its principal inventors As a young man de Forest came to spurn conventional notions of an immortal soul but he never ceased to seek ways to overcome death not merely the physical death of the body but also the spiritual death of living without purpose The fame of his inventions would he hoped keep him forever alive in the memory of posterity Moreover the good that his inventions did for humanity his contribution to progress would give meaning to his existence For Lee de Forest then invention was a substitute for religion By helping to build the future he sought to become an indelible part of it BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved A Clashing of the Soul Leroy Davis, 1998 John Hope 1868 1936 the first African American president of Morehouse College and Atlanta University was one of the most distinguished in the pantheon of early twentieth century black educators Born of a mixed race union in Augusta Georgia shortly after the Civil War Hope had a lifelong commitment to black public and private education adequate housing and health care job opportunities and civil rights that never wavered Hope became to black college education what Booker T Washington was to black industrial education Leroy Davis examines the conflict inherent in Hope's attempt to balance his joint roles as college president and national leader Along with his good friend W E B Du Bois Hope was at the forefront of the radical faction of black leaders in the early twentieth century but he found himself taking more moderate stances in order to obtain philanthropic funds for black higher education The story of Hope s life illuminates many complexities that vexed African American leaders in a free but segregated society Multicultural Student Services on Campus D-L Stewart, 2023-07-03 Co published with For new professionals in multicultural student services MSS this book constitutes a thorough introduction to the structure organization and scope of the services and educational mission of these units For senior practitioners it offers insights for re evaluating their strategies and inspiration to explore new possibilities The book discusses the history and philosophy of MSS units describes their operation asserts the need for integration and coherence across the multiple facets of their work and how their role is influenced by the character and type of their institutions and considers the challenges and opportunities ahead The theme Building Bridges Re Visioning Community reflects the dual role of MSS They build bridges between underrepresented student populations and the broader institutional environment between different groups of student populations and across differences in cultural values and traditions At a time of increasing diversity on campus their role is also to champion the re visioning or redefinition of what constitutes community in higher education in other words to reach beyond serving their traditional constituencies to educate for multicultural competence and advocate for social justice across the campus commons This book is organized in four sections moving the reader from the past to the present to the future and from a service mission to an educational one Part One reviews the purposes for which MSS were created and the evolution of their vision concluding an overview of how units perceive their needs and challenges today Part Two addresses a range of issues such as race ethnicity sexual orientation gender identity and religion faith diversity commonly addressed by MSS and in recognizing the tensions inherent in serving such disparate constituencies advances ideas for bringing greater integration and coherence to their work Part Three considers how institutional context influences the structure and organization of MSS and addresses such questions as Who are they serving What kind of support services and educational programming can they provide How broadly or narrowly should they define their role and can they extend their influence through alliances with other campus units The book concludes by looking at how MSS can re vision community to ensure their continued relevance to the college or university community An ACPA Publication
