The Hazards of Peace Juan Cassiers, 1976 The International Politics of Natural Resources Zuhayr Mikdashi, 2019-06-30 An impartial and shrewd observer here takes a close look at the major producers of today's most sought after commodities Mr Mikdashi deals with the ever shifting pattern of cooperation and antagonism between transnational enterprises companies owned by corporations in developed countries and active in more than one nation and their host governments especially those in the developing world Comparing operations in various countries and in various industries he describes how governments and transnationals work together and separately to exploit market opportunities Petroleum copper iron sulfur uranium bauxite and tin these are among the resources he examines He illuminates the policies strategies and relationships of the protagonists under different market and environmental conditions discussing the relations among the governments themselves and the alliances they have formed such as OPEC and CIPEC Finally he offers suggestions for cooperative action that could both serve the needs of the less developed areas and promote international harmony Practical in approach and original in concept the book clarifies complex contemporary problems and points the way toward solving them Perception and Misperception in International Politics Robert Jervis, 2017-05-02 Since its original publication in 1976 Perception and Misperception in International Politics has become a landmark book in its field hailed by the New York Times as the seminal statement of principles underlying political psychology This new edition includes an extensive preface by the author reflecting on the book's lasting impact and legacy particularly in the application of cognitive psychology to political decision making and brings that analysis up to date by discussing the relevant psychological research over the past forty years Jervis describes the process of perception for example how decision makers learn from history and then explores common forms of misperception such as overestimating one's influence He then tests his ideas through a number of important events in international relations from nineteenth and twentieth century European history Perception and Misperception in International Politics is essential for understanding international relations today World Directory of Peace Research Institutions Unesco.
