Preface Chaucer and Pagan Antiquity Alastair J. Minnis, 1982 Professor Minnis argues that the paganism in Troilus and Criseyde and The Knight's Tale is not simply a backdrop but must be central to our understanding of the texts Chaucer's two great pagan poems Troilus and Criseyde and The Knight's Tale belong to the literary genre known as the romance of antiquity which first appeared in the mid 12th century in which the ancient pagan world is shown on its own terms without the blatant Christian bias against paganism characteristic of works like the Chanson de Roland where the writer is concerned with present day rather than classical forms of paganism Chaucer's attitudes to antiquity were influenced but not determined by those found in the compilations commentaries mythographies and history books which we know that he knew These sources illuminate the manner in which he transformed Boccaccio Much modern criticism has concentrated on the medieval veneer of manners and fashions which are ascribed to the heathen protagonists of Troilus and The Knight's Tale Dr Minnis examines the other side of the coin Chaucer's historical interest in cultures very different from his own The paganism in these poems is not mere background and setting but an essential part of their overall meaning The Life and Times of John Trevisa, Medieval Scholar David C. Fowler, 2016-06-01 John Trevisa ca 1342 1402 perhaps the greatest of Middle English prose translators of Latin texts into English was almost an exact contemporary of Geoffrey Chaucer Trevisa was born in Cornwall studied at Oxford and was instituted vicar of Berkeley a position he held until his death Over a period of thirty five years eminent medievalist David Fowler has pieced together an account of Trevisa's life and times by diligently seeking out documents bearing on his activities and translations This has resulted in a cultural history of fourteenth century England that ranges from the administrative geographical and linguistic status of Cornwall to the curriculum of medieval university education and from religious and secular conflicts to the administration of a substantial provincial household and the role of its aristocratic keepers in the Hundred Years War Fowler provides an analysis of Trevisa's known translations the Gospel of Nicodemus Dialogus inter Militem et Clericum FitzRalph's Defensio Curatorum the Polychronicon De Regimine Principum and De Proprietatibus Rerum He also advances the hypothesis that Trevisa was one of the scholars responsible for the first complete translation of the scriptures into English the Wycliffite Bible An appendix contains a collection of biographical and historical references designed to illustrate Fowler's contention that Trevisa may have been responsible for the revisions of Piers the Plowman now known as the B and C texts The new Solomon [electronic resource] Samantha Kelly, 2003-01-01 This study of kingship and the court in fourteenth century Italy connects the style of rule of Robert of

The volume focuses on the relation between Cusanus and Aristotle or the Aristotelian tradition In recent years the attention on this topic has partially increased but overall the scholarship results are still partial or provisional The book thus aims at verifying more systematically how Aristotle and Aristotelianism have been received by Cusanus in both their philosophical and theological implications and how he approached the Aristotelian thought In order to answer these questions the papers are structured according to the traditional Aristotelian sciences and their reflection on Cusanus thought This allows to achieve some aspects of interest and originality 1 the book provides a general but systematic analysis of Aristotle s reception in Cusanus thought with some coherent results 2 Also it explores how a philosopher and theologian traditionally regarded as Neoplatonist approached Aristotle and his tradition including Thomas Aquinas what he accepted of it what he rejected and what he tried to overcome 3 Finally the volume verifies the attitude of a relevant Christian philosopher and theologian of the Humanistic age towards Aristotle
