Bad Girls of the Arab World Nadia Yaqub, Rula Quawas, 2017-09-27 Women's transgressive behaviors and perspectives are challenging societal norms in the Arab world giving rise to anxiety and public debate. Simultaneously however other Arab women are unwillingly finding themselves labeled bad as authority figures attempt to redirect scrutiny from serious social ills such as patriarchy and economic exploitation or as they impose new restrictions on women's behavior in response to uncertainty and change in society. Bad Girls of the Arab World elucidates how both intentional and unintentional transgressions make manifest the social and cultural constructs that define proper and improper behavior as well as the social and political policing of gender racial and class divisions. The works collected here address the experiences of women from a range of ages classes and educational backgrounds who live in the Arab world and beyond. They include short pieces in which the women themselves reflect on their experiences with transgression academic articles about performance representation activism history and social conditions an artistic intervention and afterwords by the acclaimed novelists Laila al Atrash and Miral al Tahawy. The book demonstrates that women's transgression is both an agent and a symptom of change a site of both resistance and repression. Showing how transnational forces such as media discourses mobility and confinement globalization and neoliberalism as well as the legacy of colonialism shape women's badness Bad Girls of the Arab World offers a rich portrait of women's varied experiences at the boundaries of propriety in the twenty first century.

The roles of university based technology and business parks are examined with examples of successful business partnerships in the Arab region. Europe and North America. Arab Economies in the Twenty-First Century Paul Rivlin, 2009-02-09 This book examines the relationship between demographic growth and economic development in eight Arab countries. Despite a slowdown in demographic growth as a result of the change in the age structure of the population the labor force is increasing rapidly In other parts of the world similar developments have enhanced economic growth In the Arab world however many of the opportunities presented by demographic transition are being lost resulting in serious threats to the political stability of the region The main reason for this is that the region has missed out on industrialization The book goes beyond conventional analysis to ask two closely related questions The first is why were governments so slow in tackling stability The second is why has the response been similar in apparently different economies Answers are provided using new literature in economics and economic history

Dynamics of Arab Foreign Policy-Making in the Twenty-First Century Hassan Hamdan Al-Alkim,2012-04-16 The Arab world s strategic location and its considerable material and human potential should allow it to play a major role in world affairs. However, in addition to sharing language, culture, and history, Arab states also face common challenges: authoritarian regimes, ethnic and social cleavages, economic underdevelopment, and the need for security from the West. Hassan Hamdan al Alkim examines the dynamics of Arab foreign policy making in the twenty-first century, taking account of the current political developments in the Arab world since January 2011. Through an insightful analysis of pivotal issues such as the Middle East Peace Process, the food and water crisis, and Saudi Arabia's foreign policy, Alkim brings us closer to a nuanced understanding of contemporary Arab politics and its role in world affairs. This balanced and discerning study is essential reading for policy makers, academics, and students of Middle Eastern politics. Nazi

Propaganda for the Arab World Jeffrey Herf, 2009-11-30. Jeffrey Herf, a leading scholar in the field, offers the most extensive examination to date of Nazi propaganda activities targeting Arabs and Muslims in the Middle East during World War II and the Holocaust. He draws extensively on previously unused and little-known archival resources, including the shocking transcriptions of the Axis broadcasts in Arabic radio programs which convey a strongly anti-Semitic message. Herf explores the intellectual, political, and cultural context in which German and European radical anti-Semitism was found to resonate with similar views rooted in a selective appropriation of the traditions of Islam. Pro-Nazi Arab exiles in wartime Berlin, including Haj el Hussein and Rashid el Kilani, collaborated with the Nazis in constructing their Middle East propaganda campaign. By integrating the political and military history of the war in the Middle East with the intellectual and cultural dimensions of the propagandistic diffusion of Nazi ideology, Herf offers the most thorough examination to date of this important chapter in the history of World War II. Importantly, he also shows how the anti-Semitism promoted by the Nazi propaganda effort contributed to the anti-Semitism exhibited by adherents of radical forms of Islam in the Middle East today.

Urban Design in the Arab World Robert Saliba, 2016-03-09. The Arab World is perceived to be a region rampant with constructed and ambiguous national identities, overwhelming wealth and poverty, religious diversity, and recently the Arab uprisings, a bottom-up revolution shaking the foundations of pre-established long-standing hierarchies. It is also a region that has witnessed a remarkable level of transformation and development due to the accelerated pace imposed by post-war reconstruction, environmental degradation, and the competition among cities for world visibility and tourism. Accordingly, the Arab World is a prime territory for questioning urban design, inviting as it does a multiplicity of opportunities for shaping, upgrading, and rebuilding urban form and civic space while subjecting global paradigms to regional and local realities. Providing a critical overview of the state of contemporary urban design in the Arab World, this book conceptualizes the field under four major perspectives: urban design as discourse, as discipline, as research, and as practice. It poses two questions: How can such a diversity of practice be positioned with regard to current international trends in urban design? Also, what constitutes the specificity of the Middle Eastern experience in light of the regional political and cultural settings? This book is about urban designers on the margins: how they narrate their cities, how they engage with their discipline, and how they negotiate their distance from and with respect to global disciplinary trends As such the term margins implies three complementary connotations on the global level it invites speculation on the way contemporary urban design is being impacted by the new conceptualizations of center periphery originating from the post colonial discourse on the regional level it is a speculation on the specificity of urban design thinking and practice within a particular geographical and cultural context here the Arab World and finally on the local level it is an a Political Regimes in the Arab World Ferran Izquierdo,2013 One of the implications of Orientalism is that the Arab world as a homogenous entity is often analysed as an anomaly within the international system This book argues that despite their differences societies across the globe ultimately construct their own history according to very similar dynamics and tensions The methodological approach of this book using different countries within the Arab world as models offers the reader an analysis of relations between the elites and their opposition in a variety of settings A definition of the political structure of each country is drawn from this analysis before potential future scenarios as according to country specific experts are proposed This model provides a useful contribution to students and scholars of political science and international relations Through providing a comparative study of the political regimes currently operating in the Arab world their elites civil society power resources and political resistance this book illustrates that despite the image of homogeneity sometimes portrayed by the Arab world it is the multiplicity of models and heterogeneity of regimes that constitute reality Shifting Perspectives of Postcolonialism in Twenty-First-Century Anglophone-Arab Fiction Majed Alenezi,2022-09-09 Shifting Perspectives of Postcolonialism in Twenty First Century Anglophone Arab Fiction explores the flourishing Anglophone Arab fiction after 9 11 Central to this expansion are the socio political changes in the aftermath of the 9 11attacks not only on the international scene but also at the local level within the Arab Muslim world Paralleling this expansion is a shift from traditional postcolonial discourse toward Arab nation s internal issues Rather than echoing the outmoded writing back paradigm the Anglophone Arab writers have taken up specific social and political concerns through their writings and offer a trenchant commentary on issues of indigenous and international significance Moving away from postcolonial political awareness Anglophone Arab writers provide a critical perspective on some important contemporary issues facing the Arab nations like misuse of religious discourse sectarianism terrorism feminism class struggle political rights and democracy and the fragmentation of the Arab society The Many Faces of National Security in the Arab World Rex Brynen,Bahgat Korany,Paul Noble,2016-07-27 Two Gulf wars and the continuing Arab Israeli conflict have highlighted the salience of military factors in the Middle East This book argues however that many of the most serious security challenges to Arab states and societies are rooted not in external military threats but in the imperatives of socio economic development Contributors examine the regional security environment the social and political impact of regional militarization and underdevelopment as a source of regional insecurity Major Companies of the Arab World 1988 G. Harrigan, H. El-Said, 2009-02-25 This book looks at the provision of finance in the Middle East and North Africa MENA by the IMF and World Bank in return for economic liberalization exploring the political motivations of funding and geo politics in recipients The effectiveness of funding is questioned with evidence from four MENA countries Science Journalism in the Arab World Abdullah Alhuntushi, Jairo Lugo-Ocando, 2023-01-01 This book examines the main issues and challenges that science journalism faces in the MENA region while analyzing how journalists in these countries cover science and engage with scientists Most countries in the Middle East and North Africa region have set an ambitious goal for 2030 to transform their societies and become knowledge economies This means modernizing institutions and encouraging people to embrace Science Technology Engineering and Mathematics as part of their daily lives This book's claims that the main vehicle to achieve this goal is science news reporting as it continues to be the main platform to disseminate scientific knowledge to the general public Simultaneously it is also poorly equipped to achieve this task Interviewing dozens of journalists the authors looked at specific areas such as the gender divide and its effects on science news reporting as well as the role of religion and culture in shaping journalism as a political institution The authors conclude that traditional normative assumptions as to why science reporting does not live up to expectations need to be reviewed in light of other more structural problems such as lack of skills and specialization in science communication in the region In so doing the book sets out to understand the past present and future of science news in one of the most challenging regions in the world for journalists History of the Arabic Written
