Grandparents ,1992

Skipping a Step Marie Elizabeth Petersen,2016 This grounded theory research study focuses on the relationship between grandparents and grandchildren in the art museum As the older adult population continues to grow in number the relationship between grandparents and grandchildren has been increasingly studied in many academic fields Mueller Wilhelm Timonen Arber 2012 however it has yet to be extensively addressed within the scope of the art museum Sterry Beaumont 2005 Guiding questions that asked what grandparents and grandchildren said about how being in the art museum affects their relationship as well as what these responses mean for museum educators when implementing museum educational resources directed this study This research study had three phases The first phase occurred at the McNay Art Museum in San Antonio Texas Four grandparent grandchild participant groups interacted with the museum space without any intervention I gathered observational and interview data from the visit in the form of transcriptions and field notes The second phase centered on the creation of a self guided activity pack based on the stated and unstated goals of the grandparent and grandchildren participants that I uncovered during the first visit The third phase focused on the participant groups using the self guide activity pack again at the McNay Art Museum and culminated the study The three findings from the data are 1 grandparents want a way to connect with their grandchildren 2 grandparents and grandchildren want to have fun together and 3 art is a means to an end of relationship building in the art museum Following the grounded theory methodology I produce a substantive theory based in the four participant groups that reflects the findings From this theory I also propose a set of possible best practices for art museum educators to use in their institutions to serve grandparents and grandchildren

EXPLORING AND DEVELOPING THE USE OF ART-BASED GENOGRAMS IN FAMILY OF ORIGIN THERAPY

Deborah Schroder, 2015-06-30 Exploring and Developing the Use of Art Based Genograms in Family of Origin Therapy was written to share the almost magical understandings that literally become visible when we use symbols metaphors and imagery in the genogram process The traditional genogram process is invaluable in helping people understand family history and who was present in generations of family life An astonishing movement into depth of meaning happens when people are asked to create a visual image or symbol for their family members and ancestors Suddenly through metaphor we can see the emotional impact and the qualities of relationships that these images and therefore family members hold Unspoken or hidden family beliefs patterns and rules suddenly surface from the depths of the art freeing one from following along unconsciously and opening up the possibilities for choice as one moves into the future The foundation of the art based genogram provides abundant information about the family generational theme that is revealing and insightful for the art maker It allows support for a creative depiction of the art maker s ancestral pains sufferings joys celebrations and life s viewpoints This creative endeavor reveals therapeutic information that art makers can integrate into their current present day lives Major topics include 1 the historical use of the genogram 2 the family of origin and unspoken or hidden family beliefs 3 how to create art based genograms 4 therapeutic uses in individual therapy 5 therapeutic uses in couples and family work 6 how to welcome children to the process 7 the intergenerational flow of special issues and 8 a wide variety of uses for art based genograms Case examples are used to illustrate specific points throughout the book This unique text will be a valuable resource for art therapists counselors and other mental health professionals
