Situating Globalization Views From Egypt:

Situating Globalization Cynthia Nelson, 2000 The range of perspectives and original materials dealt with here highlights the renewed urgency of the struggle for cultural autonomy and voice within the context of globalization Each author explores how the various processes at both the local and global levels intersect to create new discourses and debates around the indigenization of knowledge If a new wind of cultural decolonization is blowing through the Arab Middle East and is having profound impact on the lives of men and women then we should expect a new scholarship to emerge in order to grasp it This book is a contribution in that direction A key dimension concerns the issue of borders and boundaries These are both real and imaginary i e symbolic and metaphoric hegemonic and counter hegemonic Among these borders are spatial ones that determine individuals and communities everyday location and place in the world these include boundaries of class gender territory and language Each of these separations in turn has embedded in it and rests on constructions of imaginary borders and boundaries The real and imaginary do not exist as two disparate entities but are inextricably linked to each other in a dialectical move that simultaneously enables and disables movement and action Current re visioning of globalization challenges past suppositions Globalization is a new form of an ongoing process that took inception during the heyday of colonialism It might serve as a descriptive term to articulate the current historical period but it remains theoretically problematic and imprecise Situating Globalization picks up on the problematics of power and its dispersal and concentration The bearers of these cultural flows seek legitimacy from their potential constituency by positing their language cultural and religious as local and therefore inherently in opposition to the hegemonic cultural knowledge that has seeped in from outside and led to disempowerment of local peoples and knowledges Bearers make no mention to this Islamist knowledge of the foreignness of this idiom to many within the societies in question Any attempt to contest their positioning and bearers of the indigenous results in charges of either betrayal or brainwashing Cynthia Nelson is professor of anthropology and dean of the School of Humanities and Social Sciences at Sarah Lawrence College She is author of Doria Shafik Egyptian Feminist A Woman Apart Shahnaz Rouse is a member of its sociology faculty Her research interests and publications cover agrarian transformation social movements the state religion and gender identity

Money Makes Us Relatives Jenny Barbara White,2004 In the rural immigrant community of Istanbul poor women spend up to fifty hours a week producing goods for export yet deny that they actually work Money Makes Us Relatives asks why Turkish society devalues women s work concealing its existence while creating a vast pool of cheap labor for the world market Drawing on two years of ethnographic fieldwork among family producers and pieceworkers and using fascinating case studies throughout Jenny B White shows how women s paid work is viewed in terms of kinship relations of reciprocity and obligation an extension of domestic work for the family which is culturally valued but poorly compensated Whilst offering the benefits of social identity and long term security women s work also reflects global capitalism s ability to capture local cultural norms and to use these to lower production costs and create exploitative conditions This fully revised second edition includes a new introduction and conclusion updated references comparative material on women s labor elsewhere in the world and brand new material on Islam globalization gender and Turkish family life It is an important contribution to debates about women s participation in late global capitalism

The I.B.
