Race and Suicide in South Africa Fatima Meer, 2022-10-05 Originally published in 1976 Race and Suicide in South Africa synthesises the two dimensions of suicide the personal and the social phenomenon Its approach is Durkheimian in the use of court records and phenomenological in the examination of actual cases About 1500 cases of suicide in Durban from 1940-70 are analysed in terms of race sex occupation marital status economic status family type and size residential area time and method used What emerges is a revealing picture of suicide in South African ethnic groups The findings confute the idea of Durkheim and others that behaviour in suicide conforms to certain universal principles and suggest the crucial role of particular social conditions in determining suicide trends while at the same time challenging the proposition that a high suicide rate is associated with high status Instead the author found that there were common emotional syndromes among suicides but there were contributed to by different social factors comprehensive volumes Logic of the Future presents a full panorama of Charles S Peirce's most important late writings. Among the most influential American thinkers Peirce took his existential graphs to be a significant contribution to human thought. The manuscripts from 1895-1913, with many of them being published here for the first time, testify to the richness and open-endedness of his theory of logic and its applications. They also invite us to reconsider our ordinary conceptions of reasoning as well as the conventional stories concerning the evolution of modern logic. This first volume of Logic of the Future is on the historical development, theory, and application of Peirce's graphical method and diagrammatic reasoning. It also illustrates the abundant further developments and applications Peirce envisaged. Existential graphs have been used in the analysis of mathematics, language, meaning, and mind.

Victorian Suicide Barbara Gates, 2014-07-14. When Viscount Castlereagh, leader of the House of Commons and architect of the Grand Alliance, committed suicide in 1822, the coroner's inquest could consider only two legal verdicts: insanity or self-murder. Public outrage greeted his burial in Westminster Abbey; the tradition lingered that a suicide's burial place be at a crossroads with a stake through the heart to keep the lost soul from wandering. Probing a remarkable variety of sources and individual cases, Barbara Gates shows how attitudes toward suicide changed between Castlereagh's death and the end of the century. By 1900, the Victorians' moral censure of suicide and the accompanying denial that it was a widespread problem had been replaced by a more compassionate response and also by an unfounded belief in a suicide epidemic, which Thomas Hardy described as a coming universal wish not to live. Exposing a rich area of interaction between history and literature and utilizing the methodology of the new historicism, Gates discusses topics ranging from the plot for Wuthering Heights to Victorian shilling shockers. Among other findings, she includes evidence that Victorian middle-class men particularly tended to make suicide the province of other selves: of men belonging to other times or places, of monsters, or of women. Maris, 2019-01-02 Integrating research from multiple disciplines this text provides a comprehensive perspective on suicide and examines what works in prevention and intervention The author is a pioneering researcher and clinician who addresses the classification prevalence and assessment of suicide and self destructive behaviors and explores risk factors at multiple levels from demographic variables personality traits psychiatric diagnoses and neurobiological factors to the social and cultural context Student friendly features include text boxes that dive deeply into specific issues instructive figures and tables thought provoking clinical cases and engaging examples from literature and popular culture The text reviews medical and psychosocial treatment and prevention approaches discusses ways to help those bereaved by suicide and considers issues of professional liability A Study of Suicide in Rural China Yanwu Liu, 2023-03-03 This book identifies and analyzes the significant regional differences in suicide rates of various age groups and different sexes among Chinese rural residents It goes beyond the analytic dichotomy in traditional Western suicide studies and argues that the phenomena of suicide among Chinese farmers are the result of a combination of social structure and social action rather than being determined by either of these two factors alone This study analyses suicide rates among young married women in rural areas as well as those of elderly people in rural areas The responsive trend for the near future is also projected The underlying dynamics and causal mechanisms of these phenomena are carefully analyzed using an innovative structure action theory framework THEORIES OF SUICIDE John F. Gunn, David Lester, 2015-06-01 Some researchers in the field of suicidology think that the old theories of suicide are too constraining and impede advances in the understanding of suicide However the book's authors are not quite so critical of past theories In the book they review the classic theories of suicide both psychological and sociological because they are the foundation of our current theories and also propose the skeletons of possible future theories The goal of the text is to present researchers with theories to guide their research encourage them to modify these theories perhaps meld them together in some cases and think how they might propose new theories Presented in three sections the first reviews significant psychological theories including Suicide as Escape Interpersonal Psychological theory The Role of Defeat and Entrapment in Suicidal Behavior Suicide Ethology and Sociobiology Stress Diatheses Cognitive Theories Learning Perspective on Suicide Theories of Personality and Suicide Typological Theories and the Pathophysiology of Suicide The second section of the text addresses Sociological and Economic Theories including Suicide as Deviance Naroll's Thwarting Disorientation Theory three classic sociological theories as well as several minor theories A comprehensive chapter on economic theories is offered by Bijou Yang The final section concentrates on Critical Thoughts About Theories of Suicide a new and growing influence in academia and scholarship Mohave Ethnopsychiatry and Suicide George Devereux, 1961
