Renault Centre Swindon Renault UK Limited (Firm), 1983 Swindon Renault Centre Chris Abel, 1994-01-01 A documentation of the Renault Centre winner of four awards describing howt was designed and engineered using documentation from the Fosterssociates archives The author argues that it is the first of a new breedf buildings in which computer controlled technology is exploited to annprecedented degree in the construction of a low cost building The building esigned by architect Sir Norman Foster is seen as a technical milestone in0th century architecture and the augmentation of the text with a set ofetailed technical drawings and fact sheets enables the reader to see clearlyow the building was fitted together The book is intended for the use ofrchitects engineers and students The book is part of the Architecture inetail series The books do not carry a contents list The common layout ofthe books in the series is essay photographs specially commissioneddrawings reference details bibliography and chronology Each of theseonographs is designed to be a complete and accurate archival record andntended to be the standard reference on that building for students and Urban Design Futures Malcolm Moor, Jon Rowland, 2006-09-27 The last decade has seen the rise of urban design which has taken a central position in the new agendas for urban regeneration and renaissance Urban design has moved from marginality to mainstream The principles espoused by urban designers over the past thirty years are now accepted as key to a better urban environment and as we move towards greater sustainability different ideas are emerging that are challenging some of the accepted urban design norms urban design is at a watershed Urban Design Futures presents essays from an international cast of authors to review progress and explore emerging ideas should urban design reflect the future rather than recreate the past What are the new driving forces that will shape urban living and hence urban design in the future This book explores new concepts and points the way towards a series of urban design paradigms for the twenty first century Masted Structures in Architecture James Harris, Kevin Li, 2012-09-10 This is the first fully comprehensive survey and analysis of masted structures and covers examples that have evolved during the past three decades Masted Structures are one of the most interesting developments in post war architecture resulting from a combination of technology structural engineering theory and a collaboration between architects and engineers This is an essential guide for architects to the structural and constructional implications of masted forms in relation to space enclosure patterns of loading and use of differing materials and techniques This useful volume will enable architects and engineers to understand the origins development and nature of masted structures and will provide a stimulating basis for future design New Advanced Materials Patrick Cohendet, Marc J. Ledoux, Ehud Zuscovitch, 2012-12-06 This report on materials is not a sequel to the five or six high quality reports published in certain Community countries over the last few years nor does it attempt to summarize them Nor is it a technical summary of the state of the art in new materials It is rather to be seen as a survey of economic dynamics and strategy carried out for the purpose of prompting political and industrial leaders throughout the European Community to reflect in some depth on the subject of materials The report is arranged in five parts the first is concerned with a definition of materials the second with structural materials and their influence on the reconception of industrial processes and this part is complemented by the third which looks at the three main sectors using structural materials transport packaging building and public works The fourth part analyzes functional materials and the way in which they affect basic components in the technological system information energy biotechnology The fifth and last part makes a strategic analysis for Europe in the spheres of industrial strategies the role of the authorities and developments in employment and skills

Architecture and Construction in Steel

Alan Blanc, Michael McEvoy, Roger Plank, 2003-09-02 This book provides a comprehensive guide to the successful use of steel in building and will form a unique source of inspiration and reference for all those concerned with architecture in steel

How Structures Work David Yeomans, 2016-01-19 Structural engineering is central to the design of a building How the building behaves when subjected to various forces the weight of the materials used to build it the weight of the occupants or the traffic it carries the force of the wind etc is fundamental to its stability The alliance between architecture and structural engineering is therefore critical to the successful design and completion of the buildings and infrastructure that surrounds us Yet structure is often cloaked in mathematics which many architects and surveyors find difficult to understand How Structures Work has been written to explain the behaviour of structures in a clear way without resorting to complex mathematics This new edition includes a new chapter on construction materials and significant revisions to and reordering of the existing chapters It is aimed at all who require a good qualitative understanding of structures and their behaviour and as such will be of benefit to students of architecture architectural history building surveying and civil engineering The straightforward non mathematical approach ensures it will also be suitable for a wider audience including building administrators archaeologists and the interested layman
