Sydney Biography Of A City:

Sydney Lucy Turnbull,1999-10 Sydney Lucy Hughes Turnbull,1999 Sydney's Century Peter Spearritt,2000 In this lively portrait of Sydney's development Peter Spearritt traces a century in the life of the city from the celebrations of the Federation of Australia in 1901 to the 2000 Olympic Games He describes the extra ordinary growth of the city and its sprawling suburbs and the transition from a port and a manufacturing center to an international financial hub Sydney's Food Landscapes Joshua Zeunert,Alys Daroy,2025-06-20 The story of Sydney's metropolitan food landscapes is one of dramatic transformations of First Nations land amidst jostles for power and wealth This book unearths Sydney's lost commercial agriculture since colonisation in 1788 to assess its fragile food futures Richly illustrated 270 images are encapsulated within 110 figures including an array of original metropolitan scale mappings Discussion traverses the city's diverse cultural influences from Indigenous land management to British pastoralism Chinese cultivation of Sydney's backyard vegetable garden and southern European farming spawning billion dollar empires The region has further been shaped by a vast array of cultural and ideological factors and material practices with relevance to planning policy ethics geography heritage art design and technology This book is the first to bring Sydney's disparate post colonial food histories together in one volume to explore the dynamics and tensions between urban growth and food production The relevance of Sydney's food landscapes therefore extends far wider than the city itself with implications for countless regions worldwide in a time of increasing climate and resource precarity The Natural History of Sydney Daniel Lunney,Pat Hutchings,Dieter Hochuli,2009-09-01 On 3 November 2007 the Royal Zoological Society of NSW held its annual forum with the topic being The natural history of Sydney It has remained as the title of this book The program contained the following introduction as the theme of the forum and it has remained as the theme for this book Sydney has a unique natural history providing a home for iconic animals and plants while remaining a global city It captured the imagination of prominent naturalists and inspired visits and collecting trips to the infant colony of New South Wales in the late 1790s and early to late 1800s From these collections flowed great descriptive works detailing the new and unusual animals and plants of the antipodes Gould Owen Huxley Peron Banks and many others recounted new and evocative flora and fauna Many collecting trips for the great museums and institutions in Europe began in Sydney Sydney still continues to engage naturalists and those grappling with the current drama of climate change and conservation The Royal Zoological Society of New South Wales founded in Sydney in 1879 is a product of the grand 19th century tradition of natural history with a particular emphasis on animal life Sydney is also home to some of Australia's oldest and finest institutions such as the Australian Museum the University of Sydney and the Royal Botanic Gardens Throughout Sydney there are places where the natural habitat has not been supplanted by urban growth and the interest in Sydney's endemic flora and fauna remains strong This forum draws on a magnificent interdisciplinary vision while continuing to employ all the modern tools in the investigation and communication of Sydney's natural history It reflects a resurgence in local history and pursues the natural history of our harbour side city in a modern framework The day of the forum was a captivating display of the diversity of the fauna of Sydney both native and introduced and its varied habitats and of the diverse ways of appreciating natural history including the history of natural history Also on display was the depth of scholarship lying behind each of the presentations The subject clearly has a profound hold on many professional biologists historians and those keen to conserve their local area but if the day is any guide there are vastly more people living in or visiting Sydney who have more than a passing interest in this topic The subject matter ranged from the history of institutions engaged in natural history through animal groups as diverse as reptiles and cicadas to ideas on how to see Sydney as a natural setting Other papers dealt with the use by Aboriginal people of the native biota in terms of fishing and being displayed in rock paintings before the arrival of the colonists There is little doubt that this theme could run to 10 volumes not just this one but the diversity of ideas skills and organisms displayed in this one book will serve as a guide to what lies beyond these pages A considerable effort was made by each author to present their material as both interesting and accurate The material is built on lifetimes of sustained effort to study record and communicate findings and ideas It is also built on the lifetime work of our predecessors who laboured to find and record the natural history of Sydney We are indebted to their efforts This book records not only the outcome of a successful day of presentations but more importantly the lifelong scholarship of those authors in each of the specialist fields Not only have the authors been absorbed by documenting the biodiversity they have included studies or intelligent speculation on the factors which have impacted on this diversity since Cook sailed along the NSW coast in 1770 The Macquarie Dictionary e g the revised third edition defines natural history as the science or study dealing with all objects in nature and the aggregate of knowledge connected with such knowledge This makes natural history of wide interest to the entire community of Sydney both residents and visitors However we have specialised to the extent that we have focused principally on fauna the RZS being a zoological society Nevertheless plant communities are recognised as part and parcel of the natural history of Sydney as is a sense of the geography of the city with its magnificent harbour sandstone backdrop and spectacular national parks surrounding the city Also of great importance is how others in the past have seen the natural history of what is now called Sydney All these ideas are captured in this book One of the strengths of being a naturalist i e one who is versed in or devoted to natural history especially a zoologist or botanist Macquarie Dictionary is the opportunity to look across the individual disciplines be it a specialist in birds mammals or polychaetes a taxonomist or an ecologist or writer Their advantage is the ability to see the richness of a place such as Sydney Consequently most botanists and zoologists have one or two highly specialised skills but a keen interest in the broader picture and can thus appreciate the importance of for example cave art or fish diversity in the harbour and recognise that the vertebrate fauna of Sydney has changed over the 222 years since European settlement and no doubt the invertebrate fauna has changed although it is less easily assessed Our aim in this book is to draw attention to the natural history of

Sydney for scholars as well as those who have the task of looking after a particular area such as within a local government area or a particular taxon such as reptiles or fish and those who have the opportunity to conserve areas taxa or institutions through their employment or legislative responsibilities It is also for teachers and lecturers colleagues in other cities and towns in Australia and those with a keen interest in managing our urban wildlife our cultural heritage or promoting the profound value of our natural heritage within a city landscape It also displays the importance of museum and herbarium collections in documenting the changes since 1770

Transformation of Sydney's Industrial Historic Waterfront Ece Kaya,2019-09-26 This book examines the impacts of tourism led transformations on the industrial historical waterfront at Darling Harbour and The Rocks in Sydney Australia in the context of urban restructuring and deindustrialisation The book also offers an extended reflection on the paradoxes between tourism and heritage This discussion is not a new concept However this book critically explores the significance of the industrial heritage assets of these areas and the implications of the transformation procedures Although Darling Harbour and The Rocks have generally been considered success stories of transformation with mixed touristic recreational residential and commercial activities this book examines and evaluates how industrial history and heritage values have been affected It demonstrates that tourism leisure led developments create urban landscapes in which cultural identity and historical assets are sacrificed and or reinvented

Global City Typologies Nigel C. Lewis,2025-07-31 Global City Typologies explores the historical cultural and socio economic transactional forces in the development of existing cities through to newly planned and emerging cities Individual chapters address different sets and typologies of global cities to analyse their comparative evolution and standing today The separate parts and individual chapters have been grouped around 125 different established planned and emerging cities and analysed according to different typologies and thematic categories that comprise historic cities early trading cities planned cities emerging global cities mega cities and megalopolitan agglomerations These span five continents including the industrial cities of Chicago and Manchester new capitals such as Bras lia and New Delhi innovative cities such as Singapore and Tel Aviv and mega cities such as Mexico City The book is fully illustrated throughout with modern and historical maps which enables visualisation of the forces that have shaped ongoing development of these major global cities This is an essential book for students and professionals in urban design and planning administrators economists designers and developers

Making Space Andrew MacLaran,2014-04-04 Making Space studies the built environment by examining the private sector forces responsible for its development and the urban planning systems put in place to influence guide and manipulate its outcomes The first part provides a theoretical context for understanding the functions of the property development sector and the state s interventions through the medium of urban planning It analyses the relationship between planning and development and focuses on the increasingly widespread adoption of more pro active entrepreneurial planning agendas as a response to a growing disenchantment with traditional regulatory approaches The second part comprises case studies drawn from Australia New Zealand the USA the United Kingdom and Ireland which investigate the ways in which urban planning in different socio political contexts has influenced the outcomes of the property development process as well as the manner in which such planning systems have changed in order to enhance their influence Global Metropolitan John

Rennie-Short,2013-01-11 The force of globalization is making cities change all around the world Short s study explores how the discourse of globalization has become a major narrative in the restructuring of cities in many parts of the world

Transit Life David Bissell,2018-03-23 An exploration of the ways that everyday life in the city is defined by commuting We spend much of our lives in transit to and from work Although we might dismiss our daily commute as a wearying slog we rarely stop to think about the significance of these daily journeys In Transit Life David Bissell explores how everyday life in cities is increasingly defined by commuting Examining the overlooked events and encounters of the commute Bissell shows that the material experiences of our daily journeys are transforming life in our cities The commute is a time where some of the most pressing tensions of contemporary life play out striking at the heart of such issues as our work life balance our relationships with others our sense of place and our understanding of who we are Drawing on in depth fieldwork with commuters journalists transit advocates policymakers and others in Sydney Australia Transit Life takes a holistic perspective to change how we think about commuting Rather than arguing that transport infrastructure investment alone can solve our commuting problems Bissell explores the more subtle but powerful forms of social change that commuting creates He examines the complex politics of urban mobility through multiple dimensions including the competencies that commuters develop over time commuting dispositions and the social life of the commute the multiple temporalities of commuting the experience of commuting spaces from footpath to on ramp both physical and digital the voices of commuting from private rants to drive time radio and the interplay of materialities ideas advocates and organizations in commuting infrastructures
