Teacher for Justice Heather Goodall, Helen Randerson, Devleena Ghosh, 2019-08-26 Teacher for Justice is a major contribution to the history of the women's movement working class activism and Australian political internationalism But it is more than this By focusing on the life of Lucy Woodcock an unrecognised and under researched figure this book rewrites the history of twentieth century Australia from the perspective of an activist who challenged conventions to fight for gender race and class equality exploring the complex and multi layered intersections of these aspects It explores Woodcock's personal relationships and the circles she mixed in and the friendships she forged as well as the conventions she challenged as a single woman in possibly a same sex relationship The book makes a key contribution to the history of progressive education and the experience of women teachers Above all it charts the life of a transnational figure who made connections globally and in particular with refugees and with women in India and the Asian region It is a detailed thoroughly researched and richly textured history which places Woodcock within the context of the times in which she lived Joy Damousi Professor of History University of Melbourne Meet Lucy Woodcock a complex undaunted woman in a tough and changing world From her role as a public school principal in Depression and wartime to her union and feminist organising to her transnational engagements for peace this clear and thoughtful book brings to life forgotten forms of activism It's the gripping story of how Lucy navigated the minefields of gender class race and coloniality to change her world Raewyn Connell Professor Emerita University of Sydney Just over a century ago the last of the pupil teachers Lucy Woodcock co founded the NSW Teachers Federation So many of the principles and traditions that underpin our union today can be traced back to the lifelong work of Lucy Woodcock She fought for the industrial rights of teachers deep in the knowledge of the broader social and economic context in which she lived and worked Too often the role of working class women whose influence is profound is ignored This biography installs Lucy Woodcock into her rightful place as pivotal player in the history of twentieth century Australia Maurie Mulheron President NSW Teachers Federation A fascinating history of a fascinating woman Lucy's interests were so broad and so modern equal pay racism internationalism Indigenous rights and anti war struggles were all part of Lucy's world She had a vision beyond nationalism championed the cause of world peace when peace was being treated as a dirty word and saw women as global citizens Lucy was one of the heroes of our disgracefully unfinished Equal Pay struggle Hon Dr Meredith Burgmann anti racism and peace activist former President of the NSW Legislative Council

Departures Xavier Pons, 2002 A collection of essays by various Australian and European authors on a wide range of Australian cultural topics this is a story of struggle and achievement and occasional failure Departures deals with innovation and transgression in Australian literature and history and brings out the vitality of Australian culture as it meets new challenges

Radical Newcastle James Bennett, Nancy Cushing, Erik Eklund, 2015-04-01 The Star Hotel in Newcastle has become a site of defiance for the marginalized young and dispossessed working class To understand the whole story of the Star Hotel riot it should be seen in the context of other moments of resistance such as the 1890 Maritime Strike Rothbury miners lockout in 1929 and the recent battle for the Laman Street fig trees As Australia's first industrial city Newcastle is also a natural home of radicalism but until now the stories which reveal its breadth and impact have remained untold Radical Newcastle brings together short illustrated essays from leading scholars local historians and present day radicals to document both the iconic events of the region's radical past and less well known actions seeking social justice for workers women Aboriginal people and the environment Labour History ,1996 Womanspeak ,1986

Meanjin ,1987 Meanjin is a quarterly literary journal publishing the best new writing from established voices and emerging talents For over 70 years Meanjin has articulated questions of national importance questions of art culture policy and identity as well as introducing some of the greatest literary names Australia has ever produced Frontiers of Labour Australian Society for the Study of Labour History. Conference,1997 Rats and Revolutionaries' James Bennett,2004 Normally historians do not consider Australia and New Zealand as having a common experience but Bennett U of Auckland takes careful note of the labour movement that took hold of both countries for about 50 years beginning in the 1890s He explains how labour organising became a multinational entity as groups from both countries supported each other's strikes followed each other's efforts in arbitration and used each other's experiences in organisation to move toward progress in unionisation Bennett examines the large number of separate groups that appeared to keep a close eye on each other as the world moved toward the Depression and on to the Second World War events that substantially changed the labour movements in both countries Hecate ,2003 New Zealand Slavonic Journal ,2002 Australian Feminism Barbara Caine,Moirra Gatens,1998 The distinctive features of Australian feminism including diversity engagement with the state openness to new ideas and connections with ideas and developments overseas are fully explored in this major new encyclopedic reference book Wallflowers and Witches Maryanne Dever,1994 This lively collection of essays focuses on Australian women writers and artists during the inter war years It includes Katharine Susannah Prichard Dymphna Cusack and Thea Proctor and analyses women's relation to cultural production
