Mechanism of Neural Oscillations and Their Relationship with Multiple Cognitive Functions and Mental Disorders Min Pu, Yuan-Wei Yao, Xuebing Li , Chuanliang Han, 2025-01-21 Neural oscillations serve as a vital biological bridge connecting the micro and macro levels of brain activity These oscillations play significant roles in various cognitive behaviors including attention memory learning language ability and addiction as well as various internal states such as anesthesia sleep emotion and fatigue Additionally abnormal neural oscillations are recognized as potentially influential factors in the development of various mental disorders including attention deficit hyperactivity disorder emotional disorders schizophrenia autism bipolar disorder depression Parkinson s disease and Alzheimer s disease Numerous studies in recent years have focused on improving cognitive function and alleviating symptoms of mental diseases by regulating neural oscillations based on external physical fields like sound

light electricity magnetism or some non drug therapy methods like sports exercise However the understanding of the mechanism behind neural oscillations and their functional role in varying cognitive functions and mental diseases is still limited This Research Topic primarily focuses on scientific issues associated with the neural mechanisms of neural oscillations and their applications in cognitive functions and the transformation of psychiatric disorders Our scope is not limited to human subjects we also welcome animal experiments conducted on various species such as Drosophila zebrafish rodents felines and non human primates Additionally our Research Topic is also not limited to data collection solely via the neuroelectrophysiology method Multimodal research is encouraged integrating EEG with fMRI or TMS and combining electrical stimulation with EEG We also encourage a variety of experimental methods such as the combination of optogenetics electrophysiology in animal experiments Studies utilizing computational models like computational psychiatry are also welcome

Rethinking Pain in Person-Centred Health Care Stephen Buetow, 2020-12-30 This book explores how person centred health care could be refined to help persons alleviate pain related distress and construct pain as a potentially positive experience Rethinking Pain in Person Centred Health Care is a fascinating contribution to the multidisciplinary literature on person centred health care pain and ethics Traditionally Western intellectual culture has downplayed the intuitive and emotional promoting instead rational natural scientific perspectives Applied to pain an instrumental approach promotes the immediate and effective relief of pain due to the widespread suffering and expense it can cause However different persons experience pain in different ways and Buetow moves beyond a commitment to eliminate pain to exploring how benefits of pain could include creating and managing meaning from pain Rather than always looking to put pain behind them persons may flourish by moving around pain through pain into pain and above pain Buetow argues that this model depends on adopting a person centred approach to health care focusing less on the condition of pain and more on mobilizing the persons who present with and manage pain This book will be of interest to professionals and academics researchers in the fields of psychology and psychiatry who have a special interest in people with persistent pain conditions It will also be an invaluable resource for physiotherapists chronic pain consultants in secondary care and GPs
