Historical Principles James Augustus Henry Murray, 1919      The Shepheardes Calender Lynn Staley Johnson, Lynn Staley, 2010-11 The Shepheardes Calender is the poem that launched Edmund Spenser's career and changed the direction of English poetry. In this reappraisal Lynn Staley Johnson demonstrates that Spenser himself made a self-conscious effort to create a new literature, a new esthetic for a new era. Drawing upon a wide range of primary sources, she places the poem in its literary, social, political, and cultural context, contributing to our understanding of the relationship between Spenser and his times. She pays particular attention to the emergence of the myth of Elizabeth and of England during the first half of Elizabeth's reign and the ways in which the young Spenser manipulated the concerns and issues of the time, transforming popular culture into literary expression. By its active engagement with both the present and the past, the Calender suggests Spenser's conception of poetry as informed dialogue designed for social work, offering a reinterpretation of the relationship between the poet and his community. Choosing not to be circumscribed by the voices of his significant historical and literary past, the Calender proclaims the poet not as transmitter or mediator but as an active and shaping force capable of remaking the present by offering his age a picture of a new and potentially more glorious reality. Johnson seeks to bridge the gap between the literature of the Middle Ages and the Renaissance by linking Spenser's strategies and themes to those of his medieval forebears, especially Chaucer. Both Edmund Spenser and his enigmatic Calender stand facing two ways back into the age dubbed as its study demonstrates, only by bringing these views into a single focus can we begin to appreciate the radical and innovative nature of a poem that for many heralds the renaissance of English poetry.      A New English

Dictionary on Historical Principles Sir James Augustus Henry Murray, 1919      City Missionaries and Pious Frauds or, John Ashworth under a cloud: a serious warning to town missionaries and religious tract writers ... With an appendix by an "Outsider." W. R. CROFT, 1864      Entranced by Story Hugh Crago, 2014-04-24 We live in a world of stories, yet few of us pause to ask what stories actually are, why we consume them so avidly, and what they do for story makers and their audiences. This book focuses on the experiences that good stories generate: feelings of purposeful involvement, elevation, temporary loss of self, vicarious emotion, and relief of tension. The author examines what drives writers to create stories and why readers fall under their spell, why some children grow up to be writers, and how the capacity for creating and comprehending stories develops from infancy right through into old age. Entranced by Story applies recent research on brain function to literary examples ranging from the Iliad and Wuthering Heights to Harold and the Purple Crayon, providing a groundbreaking exploration of the biological and neurological basis of the literary experience. Blending research, theory, and biographical anecdote, the author shows how it is the unique structure of the human brain, with its layering of sophisticated cognitive capacities upon archaic, emotion-driven functions, which best explains the mystery of story.      Language and Literacy 3-7 Jeni Riley, 2006-10-02 This practical guide considers the research evidence that is needed to inform enlightened practice and offers concrete suggestions and teaching approaches for early years settings and classrooms. This comprehensive book shows the what the how and the why of innovative creative practice for teaching language and literacy The author clearly examines how young children learn to use both spoken and written language and shows how to assess plan and teach for the effective learning of speaking listening reading and writing Each chapter includes case studies learning and teaching suggestions and further reading and topics covered include o Learning to communicate o Developing spoken language in early years settings and classrooms o The links between oracy and literacy o The inter relatedness of the literacy process o Teaching literacy holistically o The assessment of language and literacy o Supporting literacy in Keystage 1 teaching reading and teaching writing for different purposes o Children and books o Teaching children for whom English is an additional language o Language literacy learning and ICT The Dial Francis Fisher Browne,Waldo Ralph Browne,Scofield Thayer,Marianne Moore,1921
