(Sub)Urban Sexscapes Paul J. Maginn, Christine Steinmetz, 2014-10-10 Sub Urban Sexscapes brings together a collection of theoretically informed and empirically rich case studies from internationally renowned and emerging scholars highlighting the contemporary and historical geographies and regulation of the commercial sex industry Contributions in this edited volume examine the spatial and regulatory contours of the sex industry from a range of disciplinary perspectives urban planning urban geography urban sociology and cultural and media studies and geographical contexts Australia the UK US and North Africa In overall terms Sub urban Sexscapes highlights the mainstreaming of commercial sex premises sex shops brothels strip clubs and queer spaces and products sex toys erotic literature and pornography now being commonplace in night time economy spaces the high street suburban shopping centres and the home In addition the aesthetics of commercial and alternative sexual practices BDSM and pornography permeate the sub urban landscape via billboards newspapers and magazines television music videos and the Internet The role of sex sexuality and commercialized sex in contributing to the general character of our cities cannot be ignored In short there is a need for policy makers to be realistic about the historical contemporary and future presence of the sex industry Ultimately the regulation of the sex industry should be informed by evidence as opposed to moral panics Winner of the Planning Institute of Australia WA 2015 Award for Excellence in Cutting Edge Research and Teaching

A Transnational History of Forced Migrants in Europe Bastiaan Willems, Michal Adam Palacz, 2022-08-11 This book is a vital exploration of the harrowing stories of mass displacement that took place in the first half of the 20th century from the perspective of forced migrants themselves The volume brings together 15 interrelated case studies which show how the deportation evacuation and flight of millions of people as a result of the First World War intensified rather than alleviated ethnic conflicts which culminated in population transfers on an even larger scale during and immediately after the Second World War While each chapter focuses on a different group of refugees and displaced persons the text as a whole looks at the experience of forced migration as a complex set of evolving relationships with the receiving society the homeland the broader diaspora and other migrant communities living within the same host country This innovative four dimensional model provides an overarching conceptual framework that binds the chapters together within the longer arc of European history By going beyond the conventional narratives of national victimhood and unsuccessful assimilation of refugees A Transnational History of Forced Migrants in Europe reveals that identities of forced migrants in the first half of the 20th century were individualised hybrid and constantly reconstructed in response to socioeconomic forces and political pressures The case studies collected in this volume further suggest that age gender social class educational level and the personal experiences of unwilling nomads are more important to the understanding of forced migration history than ethnoreligious identities of victims and perpetrators

Forests of the Night James W. Hall, 2010-04-01 In the tradition of James Dickey s Deliverance and Charles Frazier s Cold Mountain bestselling author and award winning poet James W Hall has written a literary novel that is also an intricate suspenseful mystery a story blending the macabre and the historic the genteel and the aberrant the violent and the heroic With his signature mix of brooding atmosphere and compelling action that readers have come to expect from his Thorn series Hall takes readers deep into America s own Heart of Darkness in Forests of the Night Policewoman Charlotte Monroe has cop instincts Scratch that There isn t a name for the gift she has something that borders on psychic an ability to read people s faces and body language like the morning headlines to size up their intentions and act before they do It s a real ability that the FBI is trying to teach to its agents The bureau is spending millions so they ll know the difference between a slightly raised eyebrow and a faint twitch of the lip But Charlotte s a natural with god given abilities and the Feds want her in the worst way maybe even to the point of blackmail Still Charlotte s gift fails to prepare her for the stranger who shows up on her doorstep with a chilling warning for her husband a mysterious note scrawled in Cherokee hieroglyphics and a promise of things to come You re Next The warning becomes more ominous as Charlotte and her husband Parker discover the complex truth about this man including his position on the FBI Most Wanted list and his connection to their family When Charlotte s deeply troubled teenage daughter runs away to join the charismatic outlaw she follows the two of them into the spectral mists of the Great Smoky Mountains and to the beating heart of a 150 year old blood feud that will endanger everything she loves and challenge everything she believes

Chasing Men on Fire Stephen G. Waxman,2018-03-09 A thirty year quest from genes to pain signaling neurons to people with a rare genetic disorder that makes them feel they are on fire Two soldiers both with wounds injuring the same nerve show very different responses one is disabled by neuropathic pain unable to touch the injured limb because even the lightest contact triggers excruciating discomfort the other notices numbness but no pain at all Could the difference lie in their genes In this book described in the foreword by Nobel Laureate James Rothman as so well written that it reads like a detective novel Stephen Waxman recounts the search for a gene that controls pain a search spanning more than thirty years and three continents The story moves from genes to pain signaling neurons that scream when they should be silent to people with a rare genetic disorder who feel they are on fire Waxman explains that if pain signaling neurons are injured by trauma or disease they can become hyperactive and send pain signals to the brain even without external stimulus Studying the hyperactive mutant pain gene in man on fire syndrome has pointed the way to molecules that produce pain more broadly within the general population in the rest of us Waxman s account of the many steps that led to discovery of the pain gene tells the story behind the science of how science happens

Ladies, Nonetheless Fran Hoyer, 2009-02-21 Ladies Nonetheless is a book written to fulfill a long standing promise When Deacon Fran Hoyer worked as Assistant Chaplain in federal prison the ladies would ask that she tell people that life for women in prison is not as traumatic as it is portrayed in the media Their concern is that some of their family members are frantic with worry Most of the women are mothers of young children who have nightmares picturing their mom in a dungeon So she promised Someday day Ill write a book about you and thats how this book came into existence The author begins by tracing the steps of how a suburban woman in her 60s became involved with women in prison After six years her ministry came to an abrupt halt as a result of 9 11 During this time though she met a wide variety of imprisoned women from all walks of life all of whom depended on her for spiritual counseling They ranged from homeless women who purposely committed minor crimes just enough to be housed in the prison for the winter months to a college professor who could never imagine her companion could be involved in illegal dealings Deacon Fran used notes from her journals articles written for church newsletters and memories to give the readers a glimpse of prison life We read of a woman giving birth in a cell women on suicide watch women frightened for their safety women taking control of their surroundings and most of all women interacting with women Some were high profile cases and others unknown to anyone other than their intimate families In advocating for the rights of these women the author points out the many abuses in the system It poses a social dilemma they have been placed there by our government for a perceived crime against society do they deserve to be treated with loving care or with disregard for personal comfort and safety Most of the women in this particular prison were not yet convicted they were waiting to be tried Its easy not to have compassion for the women as a group they probably broke the law and now have to pay the price or as the women put it you do the crime you serve the time But then one has the opportunity to pick out individuals just like the woman next door or in your church community and the compassion stirs within Maybe they should be treated with more respect given better living conditions allowed to keep their humanity This book then puts human faces on the women for those who will never have the opportunity to sit on a metal framed bunk bed in a cell and comfort a woman who has been abused by family society and life in general Many of these women come from troubled backgrounds neglected and abused by families and seeking affection from any source available Many have had minimal formal education at best and yet they survive Some have come from other cultures and have no idea of being responsible to the government for their behavior A Chinese woman was indignant that she was arrested for trying to earn money Its not the governments business what I sell or how much money I earn A Latino woman is confused I had to do what he said hes my husband An African American woman cries I need to care for my kids A business woman from Europe claims I was just trying to do a favor for a friend A Central American woman protests I never knew that I wasnt born in the United States no one ever told me These are the laments heard by Deacon Fran when she would ask a woman about her story stories that often changed several times in the ensuing weeks Quite often these women if given the chance and a good education could be leaders in their communities They are bright inventive resourceful but misguided This book gives glimpses into their lives Their wish is that society does not paint them all with the same brush That they can avail themselves of education learn to read good books and i
