Taleworlds And Storyrealms:

Taleworlds and Storyrealms K. Young, 2012-12-06 Beginning is the hardest ITPment not because openers are all that scarce but because you're blowing into cracking a universe. I Maurice Natanson openings are already directed toward closings. The first question in presenting a body of work is where to cut in. This is an especially difficult question since the cut in provides a perspective on what follows. A cut is an angle of entry. Wherever I enter from there a realm unfolds itself. In that sense my angle of entry is my point of view. A realm cut into has an orientation. It evidences a hierarchy of importance, relevance, accessibility, value, or logic. Its content is no longer neutral and equivalent. From my perspective the realm is not only differentiated in substance but differential in significance. There is a relation between angles and attitudes. Where I look from is tied up with how I see. The first cut opens out into a frame of reference. What count as lines of evidence in that realm materialize along with its background, expectancies, its assumptions, concentrations, and confusions, its cost/ITPlogy quirks and enchantments. Hence once I am committed to a perspective I am implicated in a methodology, one possessed of puzzles of a certain shape, ITPping toward solutions within its orthodoxy. Openings are directed toward closings. Another cut would open onto another realm. The realm of events I cut into is a Taleworld inhabited by characters acting in their own space and time.

Men Talk Jennifer Coates, 2008-04-15 Men Talk draws on rich conversational material from a wide range of contexts to illuminate our understanding of men and masculinities at the turn of the millennium. Draws on rich conversational material to illuminate our understanding of men and masculinities at the turn of the millennium. Collects data from a wide range of conversations including garage mechanics on a break, carpenters at the pub after work, and university academics chatting after hours. Focuses on stories which occur within all male conversations. Makes a distinctive contribution to our understanding of the intersection of language and masculinity.

Discourse Analysis and Applications Ronald L.

Bloom, Loraine K. Obler, Susan De Santi, Jonathan S. Ehrlich, 2013-06-17 Application of analytic discourse techniques to clinical practice is relatively recent. This book's contributors begin with the notion that systematic examination of discourse provides a rich source of data for describing the complex relationships among language, social context, and the cognitive processes that underlie discourse comprehension and production. Evidence is provided that when discourse is studied across different clinical populations, analysis yields an optimal opportunity for developing dynamic models of brain and language that more thoroughly account for the complexity of language use in social contexts. Accordingly, studies presented in this volume have a dual focus: to examine the implications of discourse research on neurolinguistic theories and to evaluate the contribution of discourse analysis to understanding the clinical status of patients with brain damage. As such, this volume reports patterns of preserved and impaired discourse behavior in normal adults and in different adult clinical populations. It also describes numerous tasks designed to elicit a variety of discourse genres and a host of techniques created to describe how subjects order information and relate ideas across sentences In addition it includes numerous abstract units and linguistic devices targeted to examine those aspects of discourse that govern cohesion organization and topic manipulation This volume is unique because it presents both theoretical and clinical papers that examine a variety of communication pathologies Clinicians often report dissatisfaction with formal test batteries in that results are often at variance with clinical observation of performance in real life situations To address this concern this work proposes methods for examining discourse that move the examiner closer to naturalistic sampling The research presented demonstrates that discourse analysis provides clinically significant information that contributes to the understanding of the cognitive linguistic and social status of people with communication disorders These studies also offer a framework to support continuously evolving diagnostic and treatment paradigms for adults with neurological communication pathologies ReThinking Management Wendelin Küpers,Stephan Sonnenburg,Martin Zierold,2017-02-27 This book assembles multi disciplinary contributions to delve deeper into ReThinking Management The first part provides some foundational considerations and inspirations Further chapters offer more specific links to the arts and creativity sectors as well as empirical research and case reflections ReThinking Management pursues the main idea that management theory is not merely a sub discipline of economics but rather a cross disciplinary and critical field of research and practice with a decidedly cultural perspective While questioning the status and practices of conventional management the book opens up for new understandings turns and perspectives

Entangled Narratives Lars-Christer Hydén,2018 As people are living longer on average than ever before the number of those with dementia will increase Because many will live a considerable time at home with their diagnosis we need to know more about the ways people can adapt to and learn to live with dementia in their everyday lives Lars Christer Hydén argues in this book that to do so will involve re imagining what dementia really is and what it can mean to the afflicted and their loved ones One of the most important everyday opportunities for sharing experiences is the simple act of storytelling But when someone close to you gradually loses the ability to tell stories and cherish the shared history you have together this is seen as a threat to the relationship to the feeling of belonging together and to the identity of the person diagnosed Therefore learning about how people with dementia can participate in storytelling along with their families and friends helps to sustain those relationships and identities In Entangled Narratives Hydén not only emphasizes the possibilities that are inherent in collaborative storytelling but instructs professionals and otherwise healthy relatives to learn how to effectively listen and ultimately re imagine their patients and loved ones as collaborative meaning makers in their lives Creativity and the Philosophy of C.S. Peirce D.R. Anderson,2013-03-09 Charles Sanders Peirce is quickly becoming the dominant figure in the history of American philosophy The breadth and depth of his work has begun to obscure even the brightest of his contemporaries Concerning the interpretation of his work however there are two distinct schools The first holds that Peirce's work is an aggregate of important but disconnected insights The second school argues that his work is a systematic philosophy with many pieces of the overall picture still obscure or missing It is this second view which seems to me the most reasonable in part because it has been convincingly defended by other scholars but most importantly because Peirce himself described his philosophy as systematic What I would recommend is that every person who wishes to form an opinion concerning fundamental problems should first of all make a complete survey of human knowledge should take note of all the valuable ideas in each branch of science should observe in just what respect each has been successful and where it has failed in order that in the light of the thorough acquaintance so attained of the available materials for a philosophical theory and of the nature and strength of each he may proceed to the study of what the problem of philosophy consists in and of the proper way of solving it 6 9 1

Narrative Across Media Marie-Laure Ryan, James Ruppert, John W. Bernet, 2004-01-01 Narratology has been conceived from its earliest days as a project that transcends disciplines and media The essays gathered here address the question of how narrative migrates mutates and creates meaning as it is expressed across various media Dividing the inquiry into five areas face to face narrative still pictures moving pictures music and digital media Narrative across Media investigates how the intrinsic properties of the supporting medium shape the form of narrative and affect the narrative experience Unlike other interdisciplinary approaches to narrative studies all of which have tended to concentrate on narrative across language supported fields this unique collection provides a much needed analysis of how narrative operates when expressed through visual gestural electronic and musical means In doing so the collection redefines the act of storytelling Although the fields of media and narrative studies have been invigorated by a variety of theoretical approaches this volume seeks to avoid a dominant theoretical bias by providing instead a collection of concrete studies that inspire a direct look at texts rather than relying on a particular theory of interpretation A contribution to both narrative and media studies Narrative across Media is the first attempt to bridge the two disciplines

Basic Elements of Narrative David Herman, 2011-09-13 Basic Elements of Narrative outlines a way of thinking about what narrative is and how to identify its basic elements across various media introducing key concepts developed by previous theorists and contributing original ideas to the growing body of scholarship on stories Includes an overview of recent developments in narrative scholarship Provides an accessible introduction to key concepts in the field Views narrative as a cognitive structure type of text and resource for interpersonal communication Uses examples from literature face to face interaction graphic novels and film to explore the core features of narrative Includes a glossary of key terms full bibliography and comprehensive index Appropriate for multiple audiences including students non specialists and experts in the field

Women's Narratives of Health Disruption and Illness Jennifer M. Hawkins, Peter M. Kellett, 2019-06-28 Through vivid and engaging narrative accounts written and collected by women Women's Narratives of Health Disruption and Illness Within and Across Their Life Stories explores how women experience the health disruptions and illnesses that span their lives

The collection examines how women's broader and ongoing life stories impact and are impacted by health disruptions and illnesses. Organized into three parts, the chapters explore Beginnings in which health disruptions and illnesses impact early life, motherhood and where early choices create the origins of health issues that impact later life; Middles which explores health experiences in and around middle age or from the standpoint in middle age looking back and forth; and Endings which explores narratives of ageing and end of life communication. Personal, revealing and often beautiful, the women's narratives featured in this book will invite the reader into the stories and lives of others and toward the reflection, learning and personal transformation that comes from truly connecting with the experiences of others. This book will be helpful for scholars of communication, health, women's studies, family studies and sociology.

Emerging Perspectives in the Study of Folklore and Performance Solimar Otero, Anthony Bak Buccitelli, 2025-05-27 Just over half a century ago the rise in what became known as the performance turn in folklore studies led to the diffusion of performance as both a lens and a key concept across a wide range of humanistic disciplines. Now it's time to take stock of the myriad ways in which performance and folklore studies have developed along both parallel and intersecting paths. Emerging Perspectives in the Study of Folklore and Performance reveals the captivating world where folklore and performance studies meet up, revealing both the connections and disparities between the two fields. From the mid 20th century to the present day, luminaries like Richard Bauman, Erving Goffman, Roger Abrahams, Charles Briggs, Richard Schechner, Dell Hymes, Jos Esteban, Mu'oz, Peggy Phelan, Barbara Kirshenblatt-Gimblett, Deborah Kapchan and Diana Taylor have woven a rich tapestry of discourse seamlessly blending the realms of folklore and performance. Editors Solimar Otero and Anthony Bak Buccitelli present a magnificent collection of chapters that delve into the intricacies of this enduring relationship. These diverse essays explore how folklore and performance intersect in realms as varied as digital culture, social movements, ritual, narrative, race and technology, archival practices, ambient play, post-human intersectionalities, speculative world-making and embodied knowledge. Emerging Perspectives in the Study of Folklore and Performance is a must-read for scholars, students and enthusiasts alike, offering fresh insights into the evolving landscape of folklore and performance studies and transforming the ways that we connect to culture, place and community.

Search Without Idols W. Horosz, 2012-12-06 Search Without Idols is a study of human transcendence in the context of human striving, projecting, surpassing, overcoming. This power is central to man's search for wholeness. Such transcendence makes reality tolerable. It provides us with an impressive array of human responses which enable us to cope. But it also provides the excesses that go beyond human striving. Nothing seems to be off-limits to this ubiquitous power. Such a state of surpassing limits is what we find in the relation between the human search for wholeness and the quest for external totalities which lies beyond the human context. Such soaring flights beyond the capacity of human striving are hard to control, impossible to show responsibility for and beyond the reach of criteria. The reach exceeds both our grasp and our control. Transcendence then is a greatly used and much abused human power. Its activities have never ceased to amaze me its excesses have always troubled me even from the beginning of my studies This book is not an exercise in self clarification I have some thoughts on the matter which I wish to share with the reader Perhaps we can mutually appreciate the great gift without compromising our sanity Part I will provide a new look at the meaning of transcendence

Constructing the Self Valerie Gray Hardcastle, 2008 Constructing the Self analyzes the narrative conception of self filling a serious gap in philosophy and grounding discussion in other disciplines It answers the questions What are the connections between our interpretations selfhood and conscious phenomenal experience Why do we believe that our interpretations of our life defining events are narrative in nature From the myriad of thoughts actions and emotions which constitute our experiences how do we choose what is interpretively important the tiny subset that composes the self By synthesizing the different approaches to understanding the self from philosophy of mind developmental psychology psychopathology and cognitive science this monograph gives us deeper insight into what being minded being a person and having a self are as well as clarifies the difference and relation between conscious and unconscious mental states and normal and abnormal minds The explication also affords new perspectives on human development and human emotion Series A

Narratives, Health, and Healing Lynn M. Harter, Phyllis M. Japp, Christina S. Beck, 2006-04-21 This distinctive collection explores the use of narratives in the social construction of wellness and illness Narratives Health and Healing emphasizes what the process of narrating accomplishes how it serves in the health communication process where people define themselves and present their social and relational identities Organized into four parts the chapters included here examine health narratives in interpersonal relationships organizations and public fora The editors provide an extensive introduction to weave together the various threads in the volume highlight the approach and contribution of each chapter and bring to the forefront the increasingly important role of narrative in health communication This volume offers important insights on the role of narrative in communicating about health and it will be of great interest to scholars and graduate students in health communication health psychology and public health It is also relevant to medical nursing and allied health readers

Negotiating Identity Susie Scott, 2015-10-12 Identity is never just an individual matter it is intricately shaped by our experiences of social life Taking a Symbolic Interactionist approach and drawing on Goffman's dramaturgical theory Susie Scott explores the micro social processes of interaction through which identities are created maintained challenged and reinvented With a focus on empirical studies as illustrations classic sociological theory is applied to contemporary examples Each chapter focuses on a key dimension of how identities are negotiated in the drama of everyday life from politeness and face saving rituals to secrecy lies and deception Goffman's ideas are explored in relation to self presentation role making group interaction and public behaviour while language and discourse are shown to help people to give credible identity performances and to frame social situations The book reveals how social selves change over the life course through stigma labelling and deviant careers and how life in a total institution can radically transform its members identities Through all of these processes self and society are shown to be intertwined This insightful approach will appeal to students taking a range of courses in the sociology of the self identity interaction and everyday life      The Many Facets of Storytelling: Global Reflections on Narrative Complexity Melanie Rohse, Jennifer Jean Infanti, Nina Sabnani, Mahesh Nivargi, 2019-01-04 This volume was first published by Inter Disciplinary Press in 2013 The Many Facets of Storytelling Global Reflections on Narrative Complexity explores a range of issues around narratives and their uses in various contexts and aspects of life The premise for this volume is that human beings are storytelling creatures and stories or narratives are part of our daily lives and have been for centuries From this starting point the authors in this volume offer their explorations reflections and findings from research and practice across disciplines and continents Certain functions of stories are uncovered education social change and identity formation for example Some specific uses of narratives are investigated such as in research methodology and representations in the media Finally other narratives are offered for themselves as performances and autobiographical reflections The chapters in this volume illustrate the many meanings of storytelling and thus account for the layers of complexity that are inevitable when we discuss narratives      The Arabian Nights in Transnational Perspective Ulrich Marzolph, 2007 The follow up to The Arabian Nights Reader this volume investigates the transnational features of the Arabian Nights      Listening to Old Voices Patrick B. Mullen, 1992 Patrick Mullen examines how elderly people use folk traditions to engage others and pass on their wisdom and knowledge to succeeding generations Based on interviews with nine people in their seventies and eighties who live in rural Virginia North Carolina and southern Ohio this book shows how folklore enriches people's lives Mullen places the folklore local legends jokes personal experience narratives family history folk medicine planting signs foodways wood carving belief systems customs folk architecture within the context of the individuals life stories and the culture of their local communities The analysis concentrates on recurring themes in each person's folklore and the rhetorical strategies the storytellers use to interest listeners and assure that their traditions will be passed on
