

An aerial photograph of a city at sunset. The sun is low on the horizon, creating a warm, orange glow that filters through the sky and reflects off the city's surfaces. The city below is a dense grid of buildings and streets, with some taller skyscrapers visible in the distance. The overall mood is contemplative and serene.

Speaking the unspeakable. As a leader, you need to not just listen to what's being said, but more importantly, what's not being said.

Hillis Miller,2009-08-25 This book the culmination of forty years of friendship between J Hillis Miller and Jacques Derrida during which Miller also closely followed all Derrida s writings and seminars is for Derrida in two senses It is for him dedicated to his memory The chapters also speak in acts of reading as advocates for Derrida s work They focus especially on Derrida s late work including passages from the last as yet unpublished seminars The chapters are partial to Derrida on his side taking his part gratefully submitting themselves to the demand made by Derrida s writings to be read slowly carefully faithfully with close attention to semantic detail The chapters do not progress forward to tell a sequential story They are rather a series of perspectives on the heterogeneity of Derrida s work or forays into that heterogeneity The chief goal has been to borrow a phrase from Wallace Stevens plainly to propound what Derrida says The book aims above all to render Derrida s writings justice It should be remembered however that according to Derrida himself every rendering of justice is also a transformative interpretation A book like this one is not a substitute for reading Derrida for oneself It is to be hoped that it will encourage readers to do just that (Don't) Stop Me if You've Heard This Before Peter Turchi,2023-01-24 In Don t Stop Me If You ve Heard This Before Peter Turchi combines personal narrative and close reading of a wide range of stories and novels to reveal how writers create the fiction that matters to us Building on his much loved Maps of the Imagination The Writer as Cartographer Turchi leads readers and writers to an understanding of how the intricate mechanics of storytelling including shifts in characters authority the subtle manipulation of images careful attention to point of view the strategic release of information and even digressing from the apparent story can create powerful effects Using examples from Dickens Chekhov and Salinger and Twain to more contemporary writers including Toni Morrison Alice Munro E L Doctorow Jenny Erpenbeck Adam Johnson Mohsin Hamid Jai Chakrabarti Yoko Ogawa Richard Powers Deborah Eisenberg Olga Tokarczuk Rachel Cusk and Colson Whitehead Turchi offers illuminating insights into the inner workings of fiction as well as practical advice for writers looking to explore their craft from a fresh angle beyond the fundamentals of character and setting plot and scene While these essays draw from decades of teaching undergraduate and graduate students they also speak to writers working on their own In Out of the Workshop into the Laboratory Turchi discusses how anyone can make the most of discussions of stories or novels in progress and in Reading Like a Writer he provides guidelines for learning from writing you admire Perhaps best of all these essays by a writer the Houston Chronicle has called one of the country s foremost thinkers on the art of writing are as entertaining as they are edifying always reminding us of the power and pleasure of storytelling Universal Dictionary of the English
