McCue, Meera Balasubramaniam, 2016-10-27 This book provides a comprehensive view of rational suicide in the elderly a group that has nearly twice the rate of suicide when chronically ill than any other demographic Its frame of reference does not endorse a single point of view about the legitimacy of rational suicide which is evolving across societies with little guidance for geriatric mental health professionals Instead it serves as a resource for both those clinicians who agree that older people may rationally commit suicide and those who believe that this wish may require further assessment and treatment The first chapters of the book provides an overview of rational suicide in the elderly examining it through history and across cultures also addressing the special case of baby boomers This book takes an ethical and philosophical look at whether suicide can truly be rational and whether the nearness of death in late life adults means that suicide should be considered differently than in younger adults Clinical criteria for rational suicide in the elderly are proposed in this book for the first time as well as a guidelines for the psychosocial profile of an older adult who wants to commit rational suicide Unlike any other book this text examines the existential psychological and psychodynamic perspectives A chapter on terminal mental illness and a consideration of suicide in that context and proposed interventions even without a diagnosable mental illness also plays a vital role in this book as these are key issues in within the question of suicide among the elderly This book is the first to consider all preventative measures including the spiritual as well as the psychotherapeutic and pharmacologic A commentary on modern society aging and rational suicide that ties all of these elements together making this the ultimate guide for addressing suicide among the elderly Rational Suicide in the Elderly is an excellent resource for all medical professionals with potentially suicidal patients including geriatricians geriatric and general psychiatrists geriatric nurses social workers and public health officials Suicide

Ronald M. Holmes, Stephen T. Holmes, 2005-07-27 Suicide is an ageless concern that has been with us as long as man has existed. Forbidden by all religions, suicide has nonetheless become such a practical problem that it is now an everyday concern resulting in more annual deaths than homicide. Suicide must be seen as a societal and personal problem; it is a complex act with no simple explanation. The motivation is multifaceted, often not understood by the family or by other survivors. Suicide: Theory, Practice, and Investigation is the only text available in paperback form that offers an accessible overview of suicide in the United States. Written by Ronald M. Holmes and Stephen T. Holmes, two of the foremost authors of murder and violent crime books in the world, this book examines the social problem and criminal justice concerns of suicide from unique perspectives. The authors discuss the various forms of suicide and analyze the latest data on regional differences and how gender, marital status, occupation, health, drug use, and religion all influence the practice of suicide. Key Features: Analyzes suicide letters to provide students with unique perspectives not found in other books; Covers investigative techniques that will be of interest to professionals and students alike; Includes carefully selected photos to explicate the material covered; Categorizes suicide into different types, including anomic, egoistic, altruistic, and fatalistic, to distinguish the various reasons for which people have taken their own lives; Integrates notes within the chapters to show the state of mind for those who commit suicide; Explores learnings from suicidal behavior to help readers recognize how better to prevent the practice. Suicide is designed for undergraduate and graduate courses in departments of Criminology, Criminal Justice, Psychology, and Forensic Science. In addition, it can also be used for a variety of other courses, including Psychopathology, Sociology of Deviance, Abnormal Psychology, and Violent Crimes. This book will also be of interest to anyone looking for a clear understanding of the extent of suicide in the United States. Suicide and the Elderly Karen Grove Sherman, 1980

Seminars in General Adult Psychiatry George Stein, Greg Wilkinson, 2007-04 This second edition of Seminars in General Adult Psychiatry provides a highly readable and comprehensive account of modern adult psychiatry. Key features of the first edition that have been retained are the detailed clinical descriptions of psychiatric disorders and historical sections to give the reader access to the classic studies of psychiatry as well as the current evidence. Additional topics covered here for the first time include liaison psychiatry, psychosexual medicine, clinical epidemiology, and international and cultural psychiatry. Clinical management is given due prominence with extensive accounts of modern drug management, cognitive therapy, the main psychosocial approaches, and current guidelines such as those published by the National Institute for Health and Care Excellence. An essential text for trainees studying for their MRCPsych, this book is also a one-stop reference work for established practitioners providing comprehensive coverage of the whole of adult psychiatry. Suicide Among the Elderly in Long-Term Care Facilities Nancy Osgood, Barbara Brant, Aaron P. Lipman, 1991 This is the first large-scale study of suicide in a population of institutionalized older adults. From their findings, the authors identify the most at-risk groups and highlight the major factors contributing to suicide in older adults in institutions. The study described in this work employed a sample survey design More than 1000 administrators of long term care facilities in the United States were randomly selected and surveyed about their staff and facilities and the incidence and type of suicidal behaviors which occurred among residents in 1984 and 1985 Results of the study confirmed that suicidal behavior occurred in approximately 20 percent of the facilities who responded High risk groups of residents included white males and the old old 75 years and older The survey reveals that certain environmental factors such as the size of the facility staff turnover rate per diem cost and auspices public private and religious were related to the occurrence and outcome of suicidal behavior Suggestions for suicide prevention based on these findings are also presented The book is divided into three parts Part One examines various types of long term care facilities including skilled nursing facilities intermediate care facilities and adult homes Part Two highlights design methodology and findings from the national study of suicide in long term care facilities Case profiles of suicidal residents are included to provide a more personal account of suicide behavior and to illustrate important factors in the older individual s decision to end her his life Case profiles of four institutions are also included to highlight environmental factors related to suicidal behavior Part Three focuses on suicide prevention Suggestions on the treatment of depression in the elderly suicide prevention techniques and the ethics of suicide are discussed in detail This book makes valuable reading for professionals involved in the care of the elderly
