require a husband's permission for a woman to work. Leniency in honor crimes and early marriage and motherhood for girls are other factors that extend the patriarchal power throughout a woman's life and ultimately deny her full legal competency. Significantly, Sonbol notes that society's accepting as Islamic the legal constraints that control women's work constitutes a major barrier to any effort to change them even though historically the Islamic sharia actually encourages women's work and despite the fact that Muslim women have contributed materially to their society's economy. The author covers new ground as she effectively illustrates how Jordanian laws governing gender, family and work combine with laws and legal philosophies derived from tribal, traditional Islamic and modern laws to form a strict patriarchal structure.

The Ceremonial of Audience
Eva Orthmann, Anna Kollatz, 2019-11-11
Audiences are among the dominant elements of courtly life and may be referred to as a central aspect of representation of power in many societies. Audiences also served as a stage for negotiation and political decision making. Beyond that, the ceremonial of audience acted as an integrative factor strengthening the connections between the ruler and his subjects, the elite and his dynastic background. It thus reflects the structure or at least the intended structure of rule and allows us to get insight into the perception of the ruler in the respective society. This volume offers an approach to forms and structures of audiences in different epochs and regions. Choosing a transcultural and diachronic perspective, it aims at delineating similarities and differences as well as possible lines of development of the ceremonial on a broad basis of case studies. Audiences gehen zu den wichtigsten Bestandteilen des öffentlichen Lebens und können als zentraler Aspekt der Herrschaftsrepräsentation bezeichnet werden. Sie dienten aber nicht nur der Repräsentation sondern waren auch Ort von Verhandlung und politischer Entscheidung. Hinzu trat die integrative Funktion der Audienz. Durch den Vollzug des Zeremoniells wurde auch die Verbindung des Herrschers zu seinen Untertanen, Vertrauten und zu seiner Dynastie dargestellt und gefestigt. Das Zeremoniell der Audienz spiegelt somit das intendierte Gefüge der Herrschaft und lässt Rückschlüsse auf das Herrscherbild der jeweiligen Gesellschaft zu. Der Sammelband behandelt Formen und Strukturen des Audienz Zeremoniells in transkultureller und diachroner Perspektive in den Gemeinsamkeiten und Unterschieden sowie Entwicklungslinien des Audienz Zeremoniells auf einer breiten Basis von Fallbeispielen. Dazu versammelt er Beiträge zu unterschiedlichen Teilaspekten des Audienz Zeremoniells in vormodernen Gesellschaften Europas, Asiens und des nördlichen Afrikas.

Plague and Empire in the Early Modern Mediterranean World
Nükhet Varlik, 2015-07-22
This is the first systematic scholarly study of the Ottoman experience of plague during the Black Death pandemic and the centuries that followed. Using a wealth of archival and narrative sources including medical treatises, hagiographies and travellers' accounts as well as recent scientific research, Nükhet Varlik demonstrates how plague interacted with the environmental, social and political structures of the Ottoman Empire from the late medieval through the early modern era. The book argues that the empire's growth transformed the epidemiological patterns of plague by bringing diverse ecological zones into interaction and by intensifying the mobilities of exchange among both human and non-human agents. Varlik maintains that persistent plagues elicited new forms of cultural imagination and expression as well as a new body of knowledge about the disease. In turn, this new consciousness sharpened the Ottoman administrative response to the plague while contributing to the makings of an early modern state.

Ottoman Women in Public Space, 2016-05-09 Using a wealth of primary sources and covering the entire Ottoman period, Ottoman Women in Public Space challenges the traditional view that sees Ottoman women as a largely silent element of society restricted to the home and not seen beyond the walls of the house or the public bath. Instead, taking women in a variety of roles as economic and political actors, prostitutes, flirts, and slaves, the book argues that women were active participants in the public space, visible, present, and an essential element in the everyday public life of the empire. Ottoman Women in Public Space thus offers a vibrant and dynamic understanding of Ottoman history. Contributors are Edith G. I. in Ambros, Ebru Boyar, Palmira Brummett, Kate Fleet, and Svetla Ianeva.

Representations of the Orient in Western Music, Nasser Al-Tae, 2017-07-05 This book focuses on the cultural, political, and religious representations of the Orient in Western music. Dr. Nasser Al-Tae traces several threads in a vast repertoire of musical representations, concentrating primarily on the images of violence and sensuality. Al-Tae argues that these prevailing traits are not only the residual manifestation of the Ottoman threat to Western Europe but also the continuation of a long and complex history of fear and fascination towards the Orient and its Islamic religion. In addition to analyses of musical works, Al-Tae draws on travel accounts, paintings, biographies, and political events to engage with important issues such as gender, race, and religious differences that may have contributed to the variously complex images of the Orient in Western music. The study extends the range of Orientalism to cover eighteenth-century Austria, nineteenth-century Russia, and twentieth-century America. The book challenges those scholars who do not see Orientalism as problematic and tend to ignore the role of musical representations in shaping the image of the Other within a wider interdisciplinary study of knowledge and power.

"The Turk and Islam in the Western Eye, 1450-1750", James G. Harper, 2017-07-05 Unprecedented in its range, extending from Venice to the New World and from the Holy Roman Empire to the Ottoman Empire, this collection probes the place that the Ottoman Turks occupied in the Western imagination and the ways in which this occupation expressed itself in the visual arts. Individual essays in this volume examine specific images or groups of images, problematizing the truths they present and analyzing the contexts that shape the presentation of Ottoman or Islamic subject matter in European art. The contributors trace the transmission of early modern images and representations across national boundaries and across centuries to show how, through processes of translation that often involved multiple stages, the figure of the Turk and by extension that of the Muslim underwent a multiplicity of interpretations that reflect and reveal Western needs, anxieties, and agendas. The essays reveal how anachronisms and inaccuracies mingled with careful detail to produce a Turk, a figure which became a presence to reckon with in painting, sculpture, tapestry, and printmaking.
