In its explorations of the intersections of sports, writing, analysis of literary contributions and examinations of craft, it offers rare consideration of a rich diversity of form in narratives that occur in and as creative practice. Included in the collection are dynamic academic investigations into football, writing and poetry focused on community sporting activities in Afghanistan to those addressing the intersections of writing and boxing in the reflexive reclamation of the post-trauma self, the absence of women in the rodeo and who and what is represented in our sports shelves. This book breaks new ground in approaches to sport's role in creative writing and what creative writing can provide in furthering our understanding of sport in society. The works in this edited book draw on a diverse range of methods to interrogate the processes, concepts and liminal spaces through an intersectional array of voices offering analysis and insight into the application of creative writing knowledge and practice in relation to sport and its impact on wider discipline discussion and research. It is relevant to students and scholars studying and researching creative writing, sports writing, sports studies, cultural studies and sports media studies.      Living Carelessly in Tokyo and Elsewhere John Nathan, 2008-03-18 John Nathan arrived in Tokyo in 1961, fresh out of Harvard College, bringing with him no practical experience, no more than two connections, no prospects and little else to recommend him but stoic, unflappable pluck.
