

SYMBOLISM

- ▶ Symbolists were a group of French poets who were active during the last thirty years of the 19th century.
- ▶ Symbolism in France began as a revolt against the cold impersonality of the realistic novel and its minute descriptions of an objective, external reality. The rebel poets turned inward, in order to explore and express the shifting, subtle states of the human psyche. They believed that poetry should evoke and suggest, raising itself above the level of objective description only; hence, they sought poetic techniques that would make possible the recreation of human consciousness. The symbol and the metaphor enabled them to suggest mysterious and inexpressible subjective emotion. Often the symbols were highly personal, and their use resulted in obscure, esoteric verse. At its finest, however, symbolist poetry achieved a richness of meaning and created an awareness of the mystery at the heart of human existence.
- ▶ As symbolism sought freedom from rigidity in the selection of subject matter, so it desired to free poetry from the restrictions of conventional versification. The art that seemed most to resemble poetry was not that of sculptured precision of plastic forms but music; fluid melody and delicate lyricism characterized symbolist poetry.
- ▶ During the 20th century the use of symbolism became a major force in British literature. T. S. Eliot adapted it in the development of his individual style and praised it in his criticism.
- ▶ The most outstanding development of symbolism was in the art of the novel.

The Symbolist Movement in Literature Arthur Symonds, 2021-09-23 It is in and through Symbols that man consciously or unconsciously lives works and has his being those ages moreover are accounted the noblest which can the best recognise symbolical worth and prize it highest Carlyle Without symbolism there can be no literature indeed not even language What are words themselves but symbols almost as arbitrary as the letters which compose them mere sounds of the voice to which we have agreed to give certain significations as we have agreed to translate these sounds by those combinations of letters Symbolism began with the first words uttered by the first man as he named every living thing or before them in heaven when God named the world into being And we see in these beginnings precisely what Symbolism in literature really is a form of expression at the best but approximate essentially but arbitrary until it has obtained the force of a convention for an unseen reality apprehended by the consciousness It is sometimes permitted to us to hope that our convention is indeed the reflection rather than merely the sign of that unseen reality We have done much if we have found a recognisable sign

Symbolism Nathalia Brodskaya, 2012-01-05 Symbolism appeared in France and Europe between the 1880s and the beginning of the 20th century The Symbolists fascinated with ancient mythology attempted to escape the reign of rational thought imposed by science They wished to transcend the world of the visible and the rational in order to attain the world of pure thought constantly flirting with the limits of the unconscious The French Gustave Moreau Odilon Redon the Belgians Fernand Khnopff and F.licien Rops the English Edward Burne Jones and Dante Gabriel Rossetti and the Dutch Jan Toorop are the most representative artists of the movement

Symbolism, Its Origins and Its Consequences Rosina Neginsky, 2010-08-11 The notion of the symbol is at the root of the Symbolist movement but this symbol is different from the way it was used and understood in the Middle Ages and Renaissance In the Symbolist movement a symbol is not an allegory The Belgian writer Maurice Maeterlinck defined its essence in an article that appeared on April 24 1887 in L'Art moderne He wrote that the notion of a symbol in the Symbolist movement is the opposite of the notion of the symbol in classical usage instead of going from the abstract to the concrete Venus incarnated in the statue represents love it goes from the concrete to the abstract from what is seen heard felt tasted and sensed to the evocation of the idea This volume attempts to give a glimpse into the power of the Symbolist movement and the nature of its fundamental and interdisciplinary role in the evolution of art and literature of the twentieth century It records the studies of a group of scholars who met and discussed these topics together for the first time in 2009 While illuminating the specificity of Symbolism in art architecture and literature in different European countries these articles also demonstrate the crucial role of French Symbolism in the development of the international Symbolist movement The authors hope that an expanding group a society of Art Literature and Music in Symbolism and Decadence ALMSD born out of the first meeting will continue to further this discussion at future conferences and in the printed conference proceedings
